KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1915

AND STOP AT KLAMATH FALLS

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES

MANY PEOPLE overlook the indirect effect of industrial depression upon every line of business. Just now, for instance, attention has been directed to the fact that although this country has received enormous orders for shoes for the warring nations of Europe, yet the shoe industry is experiencing exceptionally dull times.

The reason is not difficult to find. A pair of shoes may easily be made to wear a double length of time.

The man who, in good times, would discard a shabby pair of shoes and buy a new pair, will, in hard times, have a small patch put on the uppers and a new half sole nailed on, and then wear the repaired shoes until he gets thoroughly ashamed of them. Children whose parents would encourage them to wear shoes in good times, will encourage them to go bare-foot when money is scarce.

All this makes dull times for the dealer in shoes, who, by making his clothes wear twice as long, cuts down the trade of the clothing merchant.

The clothing dealer makes up his loss by letting his house go another year without painting, and the painter and paint dealer must economize in some other respect.

It is a simple process of elimination of business, but it could not be understood by the tariff thinkers who started all the trouble in 1913 by enacting a law which invited the cheap labor of Europe to come in and take the trade that belonged by right to the workmen of the United States.

Scattered Shots

IT'S CERTAINLY an ill wind that blows down the big tent.

ALREADY BRYAN sympathizers are talking hopefully of his candidacy in 1916. It doesn't make much difference who is the democratic nominee, the people seem set on a return to republicanism and prosperity.

IF IT IS POSSIBLE for Klamath Falls to have a term of the Federal District court held here without a single case of bootlegging, it will be one of the most material boosts ever given the dream of having a regular term here every year.

Rose Festival at Portland United Press Service

PORTLAND, June 11.—Ten thousand people, 200 floats, fifty marching organizations in brilliant uniforms, thirty bands participated in the fraternal, military and industrial parade held in connection with the annual Rose Festival.

Tonight the festa will be brought to a close with an electrical pageant, in which twenty floats, showing the agricultural greatness of Oregon, will pass in review over the city's business streets. It was estimated today that 125,000 visitors were in town during the celebration attending Rose Festival, which began Wednesday.

TODAY'S ODDDEST STORY

United Press Service DENVER, Colo., June 10.—They're going in training here today for the entry of the compulsory water wagon next year. Buttermilk is the favorite beverage at all bars. But it won't be buttermilk that will have cured the German element in Colorado when prohibition arrives January 1, 1915. "Twill be hate of the English. Most Colorado breweries, like a good many other industries in the West, are controlled by English capital. German barkeepers here stated today they were delighted to serve buttermilk.

AUTOS USED TO MAKE SCHEDULE

INABILITY TO MAKE PROPER CONNECTIONS WITH TRAINS SENDS CHAUTAUQUA TALENT OVERLAND TO PASS

Arranging for holding Chautauqua sessions elsewhere and trying to save the big tent from serious damage or total collapse from the attacks of the wind, at the same time checking up returns and attendances and attending to the needs of the Chautauqua talent while in Klamath Falls are not the only cares that are placed on the shoulders of Chapin D. Foster, superintendent for the Ellison-White system. The train service from here has placed still another responsibility upon him, that of seeing that the players get to Grants Pass on schedule time, trains or no trains.

From Klamath Falls the Chautauqua people jump to Grants Pass, where the assembly opens today. It opens this afternoon, too, and the trip by train, if taken by the talent that finished here last night, would land them in Grants Pass for the night session. The schedule says "Friday afternoon," so Foster has arranged for an automobile service to carry over what speakers and singers are due to make afternoon appearances. This morning Colonel Miller and the Adelpian Quartet left at 4 o'clock in a machine and they expect to make the 107 mile trip in time to open today. With the exception of Miss Bergh, Mrs. Fisk and Miss LeDell, all of the entertainers will make the trip to Grants Pass by auto.

Phantom Auto Is the Latest War Mystery

United Press Service LONDON, May 30.—(By mail to New York)—England's newest war mystery is the "will-o'-the-wisp of the British East Coast."

Cleverest sleuths of the nation are today searching for a mysterious gray motor car, "D-4832"—that nightly races along peaceful East Anglin highways, intermittently piercing the upper darkness with flashes of light that tell military secrets to enemy submarines hovering off the coast.

The mystery rivals the most thrilling of war time dramas with the climax yet to come.

Occupants of peaceful farm houses and villagers of the quaint old English sea coast towns are waiting for the government to solve the mystery that is the talk of the countryside. Nightly they have seen the powerful car dash madly past, a huddled figure bent low over the wheel. Some say he wears the uniform of a British military officer, while others are not so sure. All of them have seen the piercing rays of the motor's searchlight perform strange arcs on the sky. A dozen times they have spread the alarm by phone in the direction the mysterious visitor was traveling, but as many times he has eluded them.

It is only at night that the "phantom" thunders along the East Coast roads. At daybreak he disappears seemingly into air until another night comes.

On the night of the last Zeppelin raid over Suffolk and Essex the "phantom" was out. Carrying a blinding white light, the villagers say, he dashed over hill and dale, plainly piloting the Zeppelin over its course. A hundred persons swear to this. One caught the number of the gray mystery—"D-4832"—but no car with that number is registered.

Guards are now posted along all the principal East Coast roads. Here the "phantom" has ceased his nightly visits. But off in the distance, on other roads, these guards have seen the streaks of light that pierce the sky, and have heard the faint distant rumble of the racing motor.

The country folk say it is uncanny, and the government sleuths are beginning to think so, too.

Belief, however, that German spies are actually at work on the East Coast is strengthened by an incident near the sea coast at Sheeringham. This time it was not the mysterious auto, but two men intercepted by boy scouts in the act of signalling from a cliff with a lantern. Menaced with a revolver in the hand of one of the men all but one of the scouts withdrew. The one that remained firm was later found gagged with his own handkerchief and unconscious near the scene of the incident. Revived, the scout suffered with hysteria, but described the men, declaring they spoke in a foreign tongue.

Residents of the cliff coasts of Essex have reported that almost nightly signals have been observed at more isolated points. Reported attempts to surprise the signalers have failed.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

WE EAT TOO MUCH MEAT, WHICH CLOGS THE KIDNEYS. THEN THE BACK HURTS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged, and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jay Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive;

To the People of Klamath County and Tourist Spink's Camp on Spring Creek

Is now open to the public for fishing and camping for the season 1915, on Spring Creek and Williamson River. The recent agitation regarding fishing in the Indian country to the exclusion of whites does not affect my rights and the right to fish in Spring Creek. I own one-half mile creek frontage along this stream, which extends on both sides of the stream. To all I extend the invitation to come to Spring Creek and enjoy the finest trout fishing to be found in Klamath. RATES, $2.00 PER DAY. Automobile meets all trains at Chiloquin. Boats and saddle horses for hire.
