

CARRANZA ASKS RECOGNITION OF UNITED STATES

VILLA BLAMES CARRANZA, AND WARNS U. S.

Carranza States That He is in Control and Will Hold a Regular Election If He Receives Recognition From the United States, Turning His Authority Over to the Successful Candidate in the Election.

United Press Service

EL PASO, Tex., June 12.—A warning was issued from Mexico today advising the United States not to interfere in internal affairs in Mexico. The note denied that a state of anarchy and starvation exists, as has been stated by President Wilson.

Villa has made public his reply, placing the blame on General Carranza for the civil warfare that has been existing there.

Simultaneously with the above warning a proposal has been published, suggesting that peace be made, and a desire expressed that Carranza cooperate with them. It is predicted that the reactionaries will regain control of the country and government take up the fight or if America sees fit to intervene.

Villa has denied the report that outside relief is necessary for Mexico. In his statement he said he recited the history of the constitutional movement, and asserted that Carranza is responsible for all the recent troubles in Mexico. He quoted letters stating that Villa and his followers have been protecting foreigners.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Carranza's reply to President Wilson's proclamation has been received, and he asks recognition. The reply asserts that the constitutionalists are practically in control of Mexico, and gives assurance that Carranza is capable of straightening out the affairs and will call a regular election. He also gave further assurance that he would transfer his authority to the new president that should be chosen at the polls.

Special Agent Carothers has reported that the battle of Leon ended with neither side gaining anything. It was declared a draw.

The 138th anniversary of the adoption of the American flag will be appropriately observed by Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, B. P. O. Elks, on Monday evening, June 14th, at Houston's opera house.

Each year on the 14th of June the annual Flag Day exercises are held by every Elks' lodge in the United States. In addition to the regular work of the ritual an interesting program has been arranged for Monday evening. Judge Lionel R. Webster of Portland will deliver the principal address for the occasion.

Judge Webster is well known to the people of Klamath county as a brilliant orator, and the members of the lodge are very much elated over securing his assistance in the exercises.

AFTER DELAY, NOTE IS SENT TO GERMANY AND KAISER REQUESTS THAT IT BE SENT TO HIM ON BATTLE LINE

United Press Service

BERLIN, June 12.—The American rejoinder was telegraphed to Kaiser Wilhelm this morning while he is on the Galician battle line, at his own request. The friendly tone of the note brought out by the phrasing throughout has removed the apprehension of Americans within the war zone district.

It is expected that Gerard will wire tonight or Sunday as to how the note has been received in Germany. He reported that the note had been received and a courteous note of receipt received, but no intimation on probable outcome.

MUSIC LOVERS HEAR REAL TREAT AT CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

Tonight Evening—Grand Concert, Witpiskie's Royal Hungarian Orchestra; Dramatic Readings, Marietta La Dell, Child Impersonator; Operatic Selections, Charlotte Bergh, with Royal Hungarians accompanying.

Sunday Afternoon—Sacred prelude, by Buckner's Jubilee Company; Sacred Readings, Marietta La Dell. Evening—Jubilee Melodies by Buckner's Jubilee Singers; Sermon Lecture, "The New Woman and the Young Man," Senator Elmer J. Burkett of Nebraska.

Without doubt the best musical program ever given in Klamath Falls will be the feature of the Chautauqua this evening, and local music lovers will not be disappointed.

The prelude given yesterday by Witpiskie's Royal Hungarian orchestra gave evidence of what could be expected this evening. The genial leader was delighted with the reception accorded him last night and is preparing a program that is sure to give universal pleasure.

Miss Charlotte Bergh made a host of friends last night and could not be heard often enough. Her rich, clear voice and charming personality were a delight to the audience that taxed the capacity of Houston's opera house. She was obliged to respond to numerous encores and would be singing yet if the audience could have had its way.

The talented soloist will be heard in two groups of songs this evening, several of them being operatic selections. All of the promises made by Superintendent Foster of the Chautauqua as to the pleasure coming to Klamath Falls people from the orchestra and Miss Bergh, were easily fulfilled yesterday.

The change in the weather today tempted the management to return to the tent, but it has been decided to keep tonight's program at the opera house. It is very likely that the rest of the programs will be given at the tent, but this will depend on the weather. Announcement will be made this evening.

A substitute for the present system of state legislatures was suggested last night by Arthur A. Franks, who lectured on "The Spirit of the Rockies." He would abolish the legislature and replace it with a commission of trained men who would manage the state government as a business rather than a political institution. Mr. Franks is a finished orator and a deep thinker, presenting his subject in a clear, forceful manner. This afternoon he delivered his inspirational lecture, "The Matchless Book."

"She makes a baby seem almost like an imitation," is the remark frequently heard in Chautauqua audiences after Miss LaDell has completed her first program. She will be heard this evening in a program of readings and impersonations. In her child impersonations Miss LaDell has not a superior in this country and local people are sure of a rare treat in hearing her tonight. She will complete her work here tomorrow afternoon.

Senator Elmer J. Burkett of Nebraska comes tomorrow for the closing days of the Chautauqua. Tomorrow night he will deliver his sermon-lecture, "The New Woman and the Young Man." The senator is a forceful, entertaining speaker with a message for his audience.

Music for the closing days will be given by the Buckner Jubilees, who will be heard for the first time tomorrow afternoon. They give a varied program, consisting of plants-

ELKS PARADE AT MYSTIC HOUR

DRESSED IN WHITE FROM HEAD TO FOOT, THEY MARCH TO SITE OF BUILDING AND HOLD CEREMONY BY CANDLE LIGHT

Under a cool, but bright blue sky, the members of the local Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks held their cornerstone laying ceremonies on the site of the new building at the corner of Third avenue and Main street at 11 o'clock last night.

Shortly before the mystic hour arrived 100 members of the lodge filed forth from the hall on Fourth avenue clad in sheets, each carrying a candle, and led by the Klamath Falls Military band, marched to the site.

Frank I. Maiden of the Oakland Lodge opened the ceremonies with the "Alpine 11 o'clock Toast," as the clock struck the hour. Clarence L. Reames of the Portland lodge made the address of the ceremony.

Although the air was crisp, a large number of townspeople had gathered on the streets and at the site of the building to witness the formal laying of the corner stone for the new $50,000 Temple, which is under course of construction. The ceremonies were deeply impressive, and not a sound could be heard while the rites were being said, the officers of the local order taking the various parts.

Mr. Reames spoke of the importance in the history of the local lodge. "Although to the outsider who comes to your city this building will represent but little more than one more beautiful structure which has been added, to you, Brothers, it represents the ever warm ties of Brotherhood and Fidelity," said Reames.

C. F. Stone, Grand Master of the local lodge, spoke of the work that must be done and carried through until the structure is completed. He gave the closing ceremony, pronouncing the laying of the cornerstone according to law.

HORSES GO TO LOCAL MARKET

THREE HUNDRED AND TWENTY TAKEN TO RANCH TO BE READY FOR MARKET—INFORMATION LOOKED FOR

J. Frank Adams and Sons are receiving inquiries from stockmen all over Southeastern Oregon since their announcement of the formation of the big assembling ranch for horses and cattle near Fort Klamath.

Already large numbers of stock are being taken to the big ranch, where they will be pastured until ready for market. Regular sales days are to be established later, when buyers from California and Oregon markets will be brought in to inspect the stock offered for sale.

Yesterday a band of 320 horses passed through the city on their way to the ranch. Two hundred and sixty of these belonged to Adams, and sixty were purchased from W. C. Dalton. As the ranch contains over 31,000 acres it will accommodate a good many thousand head, and it is expected to develop into the greatest purchasing station for horses, mules and cattle in the state of Oregon.

Local melodies, camp meeting songs, solos, quartets and duets. The attendance at the Chautauqua has been increasing each day in spite of the weather. Yesterday afternoon the attendance was better than 550 and in the evening 700 heard the program. Still larger attendance is expected tonight. Satisfaction with the program so far is unanimous.

Here From Berkeley. M. H. Beana and C. A. Gaines of Berkeley are new arrivals in Klamath. They say they are much impressed with the country, and may locate on a stock ranch.

Court Stings the Stinger in Trade War of Adders

Another skeleton in the closet of industrial America came to light when the adding machine patent case came up before Judge Keneasaw M. Landis in the federal court at Chicago on motion for appeal from his decree of record brevity, three words, in a case involving many millions. Trade spies were skeleton No. 1. Disclosure that imitation machines designed as "knockers" to damage the reputation of a patented device had been used by defendants, caused the court to refuse appeal unless filed at once, saying: "My order was 'decree for complainant' on its charge of infringement and whatever else is involved in the litigation."

The complainants, Felt & Tarrant Manufacturing company, manufacturers of the comptometer, had shown that the Burroughs Adding Machine company had used the infringing machines as "knockers" mainly to spoil sales of comptometers. How general this practice has become in the competitions of patented specialties was not stated, but that it has become an accepted vice of the trade is conceded. In on Business. E. R. C. Williams, a farmer a few miles south of town, transacted business here yesterday. Off for 'Frisco. Dr. and Mrs. George I. Wright will leave tomorrow morning for San Francisco to visit the exposition and attend the annual convention of the American Medical Association. They expect to be gone about two weeks. REVENGE IS SOUGHT BY LOCAL AGGREGATION, AND COMEBACK IS PREDICTED FOR TINDALL'S BUNCH. Klamath Falls baseball fans are to be entertained at Modoc Park tomorrow afternoon with the third game between Tindall's Klamath Falls team and Willey's Ewauna Box company's aggregation. It will be a good game. This is assured by the fact that the teams played good ball on the two former occasions, and by the fact that new material has been added to each line. The hour of beginning is 2:30 o'clock sharp. When the umpire calls "play ball" tomorrow afternoon, Jimmy Foster, the local portsider, will be on the mound for Klamath Falls and Vernon Mosehenbacher will be behind the mask. With this battery Manager Tindall intends to take revenge for the two defeats his team has suffered at the hands of Willey's boys. Dale will be on first, and Hayden, Zumbum and Kelly will fill the other infield berths. Noel, Baum and Ambrose will start the game in the outer gardens. Manager Willey of the box factory boys will have a few new ones in his lineup, but most of the lineup will be as in the games heretofore.

Oregon Folders May Be Had. The Herald office is in receipt of a number of folders from the Southern Pacific Railroad company, which are for distribution amongst Klamath Falls people. The folders are full of pictures taken all over the state, advertising the scenic beauties and wonders to be found here. They will make good souvenirs for Eastern relatives and friends.

FRICITION IS SAID TO HAVE CAUSED BRYAN TO RESIGN

PEACE THOUGHT TO BE HIS ISSUE FOR FIVE YEARS

It is thought that should Germany accept America's demand for the safety of her citizens and ships from submarines, that the way will be opened for peace negotiations between belligerents.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—It is believed here that Bryan's resignation was not due to sudden trouble, but rather is the outcome of a series of incidents that have taken place during the past several months. It is believed that it was the culmination of a long friction which had been kept well hidden. The personal relationship between President Wilson and Bryan is of the most cordial at the present time.

It is reported that Bryan has been displeased at the efforts made from certain quarters to show that he has been a mere figurehead, and would not be subjected to it longer.

Persons who are close to him state that he believes peace is the greatest political issue for the next five years. He expects that the war party plans to make a big jam at the next session of congress. It is thought that he expects to rally the people on the Pacific Coast around him, paving the way for the 1916 campaign.

It is stated in official circles that should Germany accept the American demands for the guarantee of the safety of Americans from submarines that the way may be open for peace. President Wilson expects to go to New Hampshire for a vacation on July 4th.

Still in Retreat

PETROGRAD, June 12.—An official announcement from Lemberg today estimates the Austro-German casualties and prisoners taken in Thursday's battle at Sevrus to be 40,000 men. Von Linsing is retreating with his Austrians to the Dniester River, following heavy losses and a forced retreat of four miles yesterday. It was admitted today that the Russians had evacuated Stanislaw after a fierce struggle for its retention.

Horses' Tracks Occupy Attention of the Court

The taking of the Government's testimony in the murder trial of Jim George for the murder of Peter Brown on the Klamath Indian reservation proceeded this morning in the United States district court and at noon the movements of the horses up until they turned off on the trail where the deed was committed occupied the attention of the court.

This point in the trial is important because it was after the two men had left the main traveled Silver Lake road and went on the trail that their actions and whereabouts become obscure, as there are few people living in the immediate neighborhood, and consequently few witnesses who have actual knowledge of the two men that went up this trail.

Just before noon the center of interest was about the horse tracks on this trail, which could be distinguished on account of a light snow fall which took place on the morning of February 23, 1914. The two men who were on horseback are being traced, after the last person saw them together, by the horses' tracks. The defense will contend at this point that Brown had left George after they had left the dance hall, and had returned to the hall for his overcoat, which he went in and secured. The question which is presenting itself is whether George or some one of the other Indians from the party of four who were on the Silver Lake road together accompanied Brown to the scene of the killing. It was stated by the government Friday, in the opening statement, that the location of the wounds on Brown's body were such as to preclude a suicide theory.

The movements of the two horses and men was continued this afternoon. Monday the government expects to be able to take up the subsequent movements of the defendant, following the finding of the body, and to close their case Monday night. The defense will then place their witnesses on the stand, and several days is expected to be occupied in establishing the innocence of the accused.

The witnesses called to the stand this morning by the government were Jim Brown, Nellie Lynch, J. L. Beatty, missionary, Kay Davis, J. M. Holman, former sub-agent of the reservation, Albert Chilcoquin, Mrs. Chilcoquin, Ed Duffer and Jack Falstone and wife.

Two Bootleggers Taken by Secret Service Officer

Two men were committed to the county jail today at noon for bootlegging, the offenses occurring Thursday and Friday. The two men appeared before United States Commissioner J. O. Hamaker, and pled guilty to the charges, and were placed under $1,000 bonds.

The men were arrested by a secret service official who is in the city on the watch for the bootleggers, especially on account of the Indian murder case now on trial before Judge Wolverton in the United States district court. Wherever these trials are held, trouble is encountered with the whites furnishing the Indians with liquor.

The men arrested are H. D. Burns and H. J. Goodman. Goodman is charged with supplying Geo. Brown, an Indian, with whiskey. Burns was arrested for giving whiskey to Hiram Moore, another Klamath Indian. They will be taken to Portland until trial, owing to failure to furnish the bonds required.

The local saloon men have agreed with Clarence L. Reames, United States district attorney to suspend the sale of bottled goods in an effort to restrict the bootlegging among the whites and Indians. Local officials state that while the drinking among the Indians is not so pronounced as usual, yet there is plenty of it going on, and that further arrests will likely follow before the consummation of the trial.

Delsell Elected to Office. W. A. Delsell, local postmaster, was chosen Thursday as second vice president of the presidential postmasters' convention which has been holding forth in Portland during the past week. There are fifty postmasters from all over the state in attendance. The convention closed last night and Mr. Delsell is expected home tonight.
