

COUNCIL PASSES THIRD READING OF ELECTION LAW

CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION PRECEDES ACTION

Number of Permits Granted—Mathews States Council Ought to Be Supported in Fight With Light Company—Fire Bell and System Ordered Out—Furniture Bids Are Called, and Lots of Other Business

After considerable discussion as to the advisability of passing the ordinance providing for a special general election to fill the office of mayor without providing for the making of amendments to the city charter at the same time, the ordinance finally passed to its third reading last night by the council, and provided for the election on July 27th.

Councilman Struble and Miller maintained that the election should not be rushed through, and that provision should be made at the same election for amending the charter. A motion was made to lay the ordinance over for one meeting. On the vote Struble voted in favor, Sheets against, Miller not voting. Mathews declared it lost. After more discussion of the question, Sheets moved that the ordinance be passed, and Miller seconded the motion. On the vote Struble voted alone, and the ayes and nays were called, all voting in favor.

Permission was granted J. W. Fry to move his shooting gallery from its present location on block 28 to the vacant lot next the Klamath stables. A permit presented by W. H. Mason to repair a building on lot 4, block 14, Original Town, was referred to the fire committee.

A permit to the reclamation service to put in a telephone in a ditch rider's house near the tunnel, putting up the necessary poles, was granted by the council, the city ordinances to be complied with in regard to poles and height.

A request from the Business Men's Association that the streets be sprinkled twice during the afternoon was referred to the street commissioner.

President Mathews today appointed Robert Baldwin chief of police, John Coman and James McCarter patrolmen. The appointments last night were overlooked in the rush of business. Coman and McCarter are serving now, and Baldwin is expected to

Grand Jury Indictments Returned Against Indiana Politicians

Thomas Taggart

Thomas Taggart, democratic national committeeman from Indiana, Mayor Joseph E. Bell of Indianapolis, and more than a hundred others have been indicted in connection with election frauds. Taggart and Bell were among the first to appear at the sheriff's office in Indianapolis and give bonds of $5,000.

Among the charges in connection with the many indictments was that in the recent county primary registration and election, certain primary and election boards permitted the destruction of ballots for the purpose of substituting other ballots. Two counts set up a conspiracy to aid and abet primary poll clerks in marking ballots in a manner different from that requested by the voters, while other counts allege the use of money in influencing the electors, both at the primary and in the general election. Padding the tally sheets for certain candidates is alleged in another section of the indictment, while another count charges policemen were permitted to stand within fifty feet of the polls for "improper purposes," in violation of the state law.

Mayor Joseph E. Bell

Repeaters were imported from outside the county for use in the election, it is asserted in the indictment.

LAND DECISION IS INVESTIGATED

FACTS TO BE DETERMINED IN REGARD TO SETTLERS ON DISPUTED LAND BEFORE NEXT MEETING OF CONGRESS

(Herald Special Service) PORTLAND, June 29.—In view of the recent decision of the United States supreme court in the Oregon and California land grant case, the matter has become one for action by the citizens of this state. Some decision must be arrived at by congress within six months from the date of the supreme court decision, and five months of that time will elapse before the beginning of the next session of congress, leaving only one month in which to have the question acted upon by both houses.

In order to expedite matters and to secure all necessary data, Oregon's congressional delegation, consisting of two senators and three representatives, will co-operate with the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and a series of conferences will be held to determine the standing of settlers and other interested parties in each county in which the disputed land is located. It is believed that by taking vigorous action during the summer and fall all facts and figures can be collected and tabulated in such form that congress will be able to reach a decision without delay. As on this decision depends the winning or losing by Oregon of several million dollars, it is of the utmost importance that no time be lost in starting this investigation.

CAN A SALOON HAVE TWO DOORS

PROTEST AGAINST POLICE ORDER TO CLOSE ONE DOOR BY L. P. TABOR — TABOR BRINGS FORTH TECHNICAL QUESTIONS

A protest entered at the meeting of the city council June 21 and acted on at last night's meeting of the council to close one of the doors of his place of business, brings out a number of technical questions in granting saloon licenses as set forth by City Attorney Groesbeck.

Under Ordinance 207, according to the attorney, the license is let according to the description of the place. The Tabor license was granted under two street numbers and described as occupying space on the first floor of the Withrow-Melchase building. The attorney had looked up the definition of a "room" in the dictionary and law books, and finds that it is a place enclosed—and that is about as definite as it goes. Tabor has extended his bar into a horseshoe bar, and had opened doors from the adjoining room or the other side of the same room, whichever way it may be taken. He has been ordered by the old police force to close the second doors, as he was violating a city ordinance.

The definition as found by the city attorney and the lack of definition in the license placed the city helpless in the matter, according to Groesbeck. The place was at first described as one room, and the change made consisted of widening the entrance to the other side. A Portland case was cited where a saloon man was convicted of selling liquor to a minor in a separate room under the law that he was not to sell liquor to a minor in his saloon, the separate room being held as a part of his saloon.

A marriage license was issued today to Joe Garcia and Miss Mollie Brown of Yainax, Oregon.

MEXICAN REVOLT IS BECOMING MORE SERIOUS

GUNMEN ARE PROCEEDING AS AGREED TO RENDEZVOUS

Believed That Revolution Is Well Financed and That Wilson's Peace Hopes Are Shattered—Stillman Wires That Desperate Fighting at Mexico City Is Expected and That Carranza Is Concentrating Forces

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—A formidable revolt in Northern Mexico is seemingly certain, says dispatches received here. The Mexico City situation is becoming serious. Confidential advices state that gunmen and ex-federalists are crossing the border and proceeding to rendezvous previously agreed on.

MT. LASSEN HEATS SPRING WATER

HOT SPRINGS WATER SO HOT DURING RECENT ERUPTIONS THAT THE PUMP AT KLAMATH LAUNDRY BARELY WORKS

That Mt. Lassen and some portions of this country are not so distantly related as some might think is shown by the change of temperature during the past few days of the hot water coming from the Hot Springs, usually warm enough for all ordinary use. C. E. Motschenbacher, manager of the Klamath Falls steam laundry, states that during the eruptions last week the water which they use in the laundry, and which is piped direct from the pump in the laundry almost refused to work.

The water is piped to the laundry in a separate pipe by gravity, but on reaching the building is pumped into the boiler and about the building where it is used. The heat of the water evidently increased, causing the packing and washers in the pump to expand beyond their usual size, making it difficult for the pump to work. It was reported about the city yesterday afternoon that the steam and smoke from Lassen could be seen over the hills. Telegrams from Redding stated that the mountain had the second worst eruption Sunday so far, and that it was still steaming Monday.

A large bank of white clouds were rolling up over the hills southwest of town, and seemed to originate from one spot. The telegrams in regard to the steam would substantiate the theory.

She Didn't Have to Scrub Floors

Miss Nonna McAadoo, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury

Miss Nonna McAadoo, daughter of William G. McAadoo, secretary of the treasury, did not have to scrub hospital floors in France. She was a nurse. They had regular scrub ladies there to scrub the floors. Miss McAadoo was very indignant about the stories cabled from France when she stepped from the liner Rochambeau the other day. This photograph shows her leaving the ship.

"I'm no quitter," she told the reporters, "and don't think I left France because the work was too hard."

She was accompanied by her friend Miss Katherine Britton. She was met down the bay by her father. The secretary also was anxious to clear his daughter of the charge of having quit because of the hard work.

"Look at her," he said to a reporter. "She does not weigh 100 pounds."

"I came back because father ordered me to," said Miss McAadoo. "I never had to scrub floors. I was a nurse, and there were other people there to do the scrubbing. If I get back my health in time I shall return to the hospital."

MORE MEXICAN LEADERS TO BE ARRESTED

SEARCHING FOR ONE OF HUERTA'S GENERALS

Huerta Released on Bail of $15,000 Following a Frenzied Assault—Taken Through the Streets Accompanied by a Body of Cavalry—People of El Paso Are Stricken—Spends Time at Home of Daughter.

United Press Service EL PASO, Tex., June 29.—Further arrests in the Mexican trouble and in the attempt to prevent further trouble between the Mexican factions are expected. Secret service officers are searching for a certain general who served under Huerta. A number of others are being investigated, including several Americans.

Since Huerta was released on $15,000 bail he has been spending the time at the home of his daughter here. He is constantly receiving telegrams. It has been insisted that he attend a review of the troops at Fort Bliss tomorrow.

Huerta quietly submitted to arrest when he was taken into custody, and was accompanied through the streets by a troop of cavalry. Taken to the court house here, a large crowd gathered, and fearing violence, he was removed to Fort Bliss before his bail was fixed and secured. The people of this city were astonished when the party marched through the streets.

Preparations for Disposition of City's Looted Treasure

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—Reports here state that the government archives are packed in Memphis City and everything is in readiness for a quick move, and that the Republicans are evidently preparing to evacuate the city, according to the dispatches received from Carranza.

The government officials are attempting to prevent looting and violence. Gonzalez is withholding aid, fearing to precipitate street fighting in the city. General Angeles has arrived and denies reports that he has broken with Villa.

REDDING WILL PLAY BALL HERE

WEEB TEAM BACKS OUT ON CONTRACT AND REDDING BALL CLUB IS SCHEDULED TO MEET LOCALS JULY 2, 3 AND 4

A telegram was received by Manager Tindall of the Klamath Falls baseball club that the Redding team would be here to play ball July 2, 3 and 4 to fill the place made vacant by the Weed club when they refused to come after after signing the contract. It is understood that the management of the Weed club signed to play without first taking into their confidence the residents of the city, and the result was that when they found it out they entered a vigorous protest against the club leaving the city for the Fourth of July.

Tindall got busy, and has been keeping the wires hot ever since in an effort to get a suitable club to play here on these dates. A telegram was received this morning from the manager of the Redding team, stating that they would be here and would send up the best team they could muster together.
