Contestants are advised to read the following rules carefully, so there will be no misunderstanding. All contestants must abide by rules governing the various events. Prize money will be paid each evening at headquarters, Sixth and Main.

Tomorrow morning at 8:45 the big celebration which is to last through until Sunday night starts with a bicycle race on Main street from Third street to Sixth and return. From then on there will be something doing every fifteen minutes for three days, lasting until the ball games in the afternoons are concluded, and on Friday and Saturday nights with street dancing, for which the Klamath Falls Military band will furnish the music.

The game promises to be a pitcher's battle, and one of the best games seen here this season. The cooking of the meat for the big barbecue will take place on Spring street, just off of Sixth. Owing to the dampness of the ground in the rear of the court house yard it was necessary to move the furnaces. However, the meat will be served in the court house yard Saturday at noon. The Warm Springs Indians have already commenced to arrive, and will be on hand for their big stunt tomorrow night. At 8:30 the street dancing and carnival begins, and will continue as long as the crowds last.

CHAMBERLAIN HERE TONIGHT

UNITED STATES SENATOR IS EXPECTED AT 7 O'CLOCK FROM LAKEVIEW—WILL RECEIVE PUBLIC AT WHITE PELICAN
Senator George C. Chamberlain will arrive tonight at 7 o'clock by automobile from Lakeview, according to advices received by W. A. Dezell, local postmaster, last night. He will stop at the White Pelican, and while no special reception will be given, he will receive any persons who may want to see him at the hotel tonight and tomorrow. Senator Chamberlain left Portland early this week, and has been traveling through Central and Eastern Oregon in company with ex-Governor Oswald West, looking over conditions in the various sections and inspecting many of the projects in all lines along the route. It is understood that West was compelled to return, and will not be here at this time. An attempt will be made to have Chamberlain remain here tomorrow and go over the reclamation project with Project Manager J. G. Camp. A committee from the Chamber of Commerce is to be appointed also to wait on Senator Chamberlain and to present to him the needs of a federal building in this city. Chamberlain will go from here to Crater Lake.

JORDAN VALLEY LAND WITHDRAWN

31,000 ACRES IN EASTERN OREGON TO BE RECLAIMED BY IRRIGATION COMPANY IN THE NEAR FUTURE
SALEM, July 1.—Advices were received Monday by State Engineer Lewis from the Interior department that it has approved an application for the withdrawal of 31,000 acres of land in the Jordan valley. With a view to reclaiming this land the Jordan Valley Irrigation company has already constructed a dam, and few canals will be required. Contracts must now be entered into between the government and the company. It is the only company in the state that has expended its money on construction work without having as much as a scratch of a pen from either state or government in the way of contracts.

NEW STERILIZER AT BLACKBURN

NEW EQUIPMENT IS ADDED WHICH WILL DO FIVE TIMES THE WORK IN FORTY MINUTES OR ONE TENTH OF TIME
A new thirty-pound pressure sterilizer supplied by the Northwestern Steel and Iron Works of Wisconsin, has been installed at the Blackburn hospital, according to A. J. Lyle, the manager. "The new sterilizer," states Lyle, "will do five times the work that the old sterilizer did in forty minutes, where before it took nearly five hours. The secret of the new machine is that it is a dry sterilizer, while the former was a vapor. We have never had an infected case in the hospital due to poor sterilization," stated Lyle this morning, "but this machine will do so much more work in such less time that we could not afford to be without it. It now places us in a position where we can handle any number of operations without trouble. Another nurse has been added to the staff, and the hospital is rapidly becoming the most up-to-date hospital in Southern Oregon."

HUERTA HEARING IS POSTPONED UNTIL JULY 12

BIG VILLA VICTORY IS CLAIMED AT WASHINGTON
Conditions in Mexico Are Becoming Worse Daily—Zapatistas Encouraging Violence and Pillage—Situation Is Precarious, and No Hope Is Held Out for Improvement Unless Carranza Should Take City.
United Press Service
EL PASO, Tex., July 1.—The hearing for Huerta and Orozco, arrested here for alleged conspiracy to keep up the revolution in Mexico, has been postponed until July 12 at the request of the government prosecutors. There was no testimony taken today. Huerta was present, and the room was jammed to overflowing with a curious and interested crowd of spectators at the unique occasion of a foreign general being in custody of the United States government in time of peace.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—An announcement given out this morning from the Villa headquarters here claim a big Villa victory over Oregon south of Agua Calientes. The Brazilian minister at Mexico City has wired the state department that the situation in the city is grave. He states that a mob has left from the sea for the inland, led by General Padilla and his aides, and they have cut telegraph and telephone wires, and are looting and outraging men, women and children along the line of march. Consul Canada, stationed at Vera Cruz, has reported that cable connections with Mexico City are becoming worse daily, and that soon they will not be able to get into communication with the city at all. He also states that the Zapatistas are encouraging violence and pillage, though he believes that no foreigners have suffered so far. However, he holds that the situation is precarious, and that no hope of improvement can be held out unless Carranza should enter the city and take charge.

LOW AFTER MEAL GETS BOOTLEGGER

DEPUTY SHERIFF AND OFFICER McCARTER EFFECT CAPTURE AFTER TRANSACTION IN A RESTAURANT
When Lloyd Low went into the Rex cafe last night to get his supper the farthest thing from his mind was bootlegging, but he had hardly stepped inside before he saw something which caused several revolutions to take place in that gray matter reserved for bootleggers. As he stepped inside he spied a young man who later gave the name of Aaron Schueler sitting beside Cain Schonsin, and a bottle laid on the table in front of them. Low picked it up, asking them what it was, smelled of it, and pronounced it whiskey. The transaction had not taken place yet, so he went through the restaurant. Coming around to the front again he called Patrolman McCarter, and they watched the pair. Schueler soon left the restaurant, went into a saloon nearby, and purchased a bottle of beer and returned. Low entered also, and placed himself behind the partition between the counter and dining room and watched through the curtains, not over three feet from the pair. McCarter was outside, posing behind a large plant with branching leaves, also with his eyes on the pair. They both saw the beer transferred from Schueler's possession to Schonsin's, but decided to wait and see if the whiskey was passed, too, to make their case the stronger. However, Schueler left the restaurant shortly, and they decided that beer was as good as whiskey in that particular case, and so nabbed him. The Indian saw the arrest, threw down 50 cents on the counter, and started on a long journey, but he was also arrested. Schueler put up a brave front last night, but was considerably crest-fallen when taken before United States Commissioner Hamaker, who happened to be in the city. He was bound over under $500 bond, and will probably be taken to Portland by federal authorities. The Southern Pacific company has put on the Exposition special, leaving Portland daily at 12:30, noon.

Bride's Bath Murderer Sentenced
United Press Service
LONDON, July 1.—George Smith, convicted of murder in the famous bride's bath case, which has been attracting attention for several weeks, was immediately sentenced to death today, following the rendering of the verdict. The prisoner denounced Justice Scrutton as a "disgrace to humanity." Smith, it was discovered, had been married four times, and in the investigation which followed his last wife's death under peculiar circumstances, it was discovered that in each case the wives had died while in the bath. It is stated that he had a mania for getting rich, and had used this means of collecting insurance and getting control of large estates. Most of the marriages were for short periods only, death following soon after the weddings.

ELECTRIC LINE TALK OF EUREKA

SURVEYORS ARE OUT ON KLAMATH RIVER ROUTE FROM THIS CITY TO EUREKA—PEOPLE IN THAT SECTION OPTIMISTIC
The proposed electric line between this city and Eureka, Calif., situated on the coast, which is to follow the canyon of the Klamath River from this city to the coast and then down to Eureka, and which has been rumored to be under consideration by the Guggenheims and the Hill interests, is the talk of the people in the vicinity of Eureka, according to Charles Myers of this city, who recently returned from there. Mr. Myers is a resident of this city, and is heavily interested in property here. He states that surveyors are out on the line working this way, and the people in that section are becoming certain that active work is about to begin on the line. All they talk of is the electric to Klamath Falls, he states. There is a railroad up the coast now nearly to the mouth of the Klamath River, and it is supposed that the electric line will connect with that. The Guggenheims are heavily interested in copper mines in that section, and it is known that the road has been under consideration for some time. The route up the Klamath River is practically the only inland route that is afforded out that country, owing to the difficult grades and rock formations. The Klamath River flows for many miles through a canyon, and affords a comparatively easy grade out. Such a road would make Klamath Falls practically a seacoast town. Eureka is so located that it has the shortest time between the United States and the Orient and great hopes are expressed by the people of Eureka that active work will be started in the near future. Sinnott Will Arrive Saturday. Congressman N. J. Sinnott, who is to make the Fourth of July address in the court house park here Sunday afternoon at 2:30, will arrive in this city Saturday night, according to a letter received here today. Sinnott is well known in this part of the country, having made several trips here, and having proven a valuable representative for this section of Oregon in congress.

ITALIAN OFFICER REPORTED HERE BELIEVED AMONG ITALIANS THAT AN ITALIAN RECRUITING OFFICER RECENTLY VISITED THIS CITY
A number of Italians in this city believe that an Italian recruiting officer was here a short time ago, and secured a number of recruits for Italy's armies. He is described as a short, dark, light-weight, typical Italian. It is stated that he secured a number of Italians from the Pelican Bay Lumber company's crew to return to their native land and fight for their country. Some evidence has been found recently here in the city that would point to such a visit, when several Italians in the city exhibited unnecessary haste to secure naturalization papers. No reasons were given by them particularly, except that they did not want to return to their country and join the army. One of the applicants was informed by Judge Nolan that he could not be compelled to return, but this did not seem to allay his haste for his papers. It is also stated by Italians here that the officer is expected to return during the Fourth of July celebration in the hopes of securing more recruits.

ARMENIAN SUNK BY A MONSTER SUBMARINE, U-38

TIME GIVEN FOR THE LINER TO LAUNCH BOATS
Maid to Be the Largest Submarine Ever Seen, Being 300 Feet Long, With Large Guns Mounted on Deck. Armaments Attempted to Escape, and Was Fired on—Four Killed by a Shell—Liner on Admiralty Business
United Press Service
AVENMOUTH, England, July 1.—Survivors of the sinking of the Armenia, the largest ship submarined yet, with the exception of the Lusitania, who arrived here today say that the U-38, which sank the Armenia, is the largest ever seen, being 300 feet long. She was equipped with a large deck, on which were mounted guns. H. Benton, one of the rescued, said that "when the submarine was first seen coming toward the ship the captain ordered the vessel on a zigzag course, in an effort to elude the underwater boat. The submarine, however, overtook the liner and fired. The shell struck near the wheel house where a crowd was gathered, striking among them and killing four. "A storm was blowing up, and some of the bodies were carried overboard, it not being known whether all were recovered. The captain of the submarine gave them time to launch the boats," stated Benton.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—United States Ambassador Page at London has cabled the admiralty, and states that the Armenian was engaged in "admiralty business," which it is believed places the vessel in the transport class. This would eliminate any possible controversy between America and Germany over the sinking of the ship. It is understood at the admiralty that twenty-one members of the crew of the Armenia were lost, most of them being Americans. It is stated that it is doubtful whether indemnity can be claimed. LONDON, July 1.—Dispatches from the admiralty state that thirty perished in the sinking of the Armenia. Eleven American survivors have reached Cardiff, and are on their way to Liverpool.

There are several experienced oil men on the ground watching developments, and they are very enthusiastic over the prospect of a big oil strike in this section."
