HOW A GARIBALDI GOES OFF TO WAR

By WM. G. SHEPHERD
(United Press Correspondent)

ROME, June 22.—How does a Garibaldi go off to war? I started out with one of them today, and got out as far as the railroad station. He talked all the way to the station about Mexico. He had a big handbag he had bought in El Paso, Texas. I don't know whether he had a red Garibaldi shirt in the bag. I hardly think he had, for in this great world war, the Garibaldis have sunk their family individuality and have become ordinary Italian soldiers.

Their father, Ricciotti, had taken his four huge sons to the war office a few days before and said:

"I am Ricciotti Garibaldi, and I give my four sons to Italy."

Having already given two sons to France in this same war, the elder Garibaldi's action was really thrilling.

And so Giuseppe Garibaldi, the oldest son, started off today for the front with the El Paso handbag. We talked of old days in Mexico, when the ill-starred Madero was busy at his task of upsetting the dynasty of Diaz.

"Remember the day Villa came over to El Paso to kill you?" I asked.

"That story was wrong," said Garibaldi. "It wasn't I whom Villa wanted to kill, but he did draw a gun on me. Here's just the way the incident happened."

And as we steeled over the cobblestones of Rome, in a Roman coach, he, a Garibaldi, off for war, told me of that thrilling five minutes in the lobby of the Sheldon hotel in far-away El Paso.

"Villa found one of his soldiers had been insulted by an Irishman who was in my Madero brigade, and he came over to El Paso to kill this fellow. He carried two big guns in his belt. With him were two other bad Mexicans. As he bolted into the white marble lobby of the Sheldon hotel he asked the clerk for me. He expected that I would tell him where my Irish soldier was."

"Just at that moment I was crossing the park approaching the Sheldon. One of my friends saw me coming and ran out to meet me."

"Get your gun," he said, "Pancho Villa is in here, and he's come to kill you."

"I walked into the hotel carrying my camera. You know Villa will never let a human being get behind him is he can help it. I went in a side door, walked up behind Villa and tapped him on the shoulder. As quick as a flash he wheeled, with his gun out. There were at least fifteen Mexican and American secret service men around at the time—some of them expert gun men. Three of them were on him in a minute, and as soon as he saw me standing there with my camera instead of a revolver, he dropped his gun."

"The secret service men disarmed him and his two companions, and when Villa asked me where the Irishman was I said: 'Well, it won't do you any good to know, Ponchito, because you haven't got your gun.'"

"Muy bien," he said, struggling his shoulders, as if to say, 'well I'll get him some other time.'"

The coach stopped at the station, and our minds came back to old Rome. A crowd was there to cheer the Garibaldis on their way. I said good bye to him before the crowd saw him, and a few minutes later he and his three brothers were in the center of a wildly cheering throng. I saw the El Paso suit case thrown into a compartment. The brothers followed it, the train pulled out, and the Garibaldis were off to the front.

By means of this trip it is the desire of the officials to announce to the world that the Columbia River highway is open, and that machines can pass through the Cascade mountains over good roads, and that tourists can travel in their machines from Tia Juana, Mexico, to Old Faithful, in the Yellowstone. It is to mark a beginning of road history in Oregon, and so important is the event considered that state officials decided to participate.

Those who made the trip were Governor Withycomb, Secretary of State Elliott, State Treasurer Kay, County Commissioners W. L. Lightner, Philo Holbrook and Rufus C. Holman, District Attorney Walter H. Evans, Roadmaster John B. Yeon, Simon Benson, Amos S. Benson, John F. Carroll, E. L. Moriarty, H. L. Pit-

A big barn dance was held at Chas. Gray's place last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Burt Hawkins and Dorothy, Delphia, John and James Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Miller, Nora, Ed and Earl Miller, Miss Mary McComb and Clarence Harris composed a lively fishing party last Saturday afternoon.

Some of the young folks of Pine Grove attended a picnic at Swan Lake Valley recently. It was given by the people of that vicinity.

Ivan Icenbice has returned from a visit at Mr. Short's, near Fort Klamath.

COLUMBIA RIVER HIGHWAY OPENED

PIONEER AUTO TRIP OPENS THE ROAD FROM CALIFORNIA TO THE YELLOWSTONE PARK—IS GREAT SCENIC TRIP

PORTLAND, July 7.—When fifteen automobiles moved over the Columbia River highway yesterday, they opened a road from California to Yellowstone Park.

This was the official opening of the Columbia River highway between Portland and The Dalles, via Hood River, and was the first time automobiles ever traversed the distance by water grade. The trip was a loop up the Columbia on the south bank and back by way of the north bank, with side trips and receptions and speech-making in half a dozen towns. The link between Hood River and The Dalles is all that is necessary to make the highway complete, and it is passable.

By means of this trip it is the desire of the officials to announce to the world that the Columbia River highway is open, and that machines can pass through the Cascade mountains over good roads, and that tourists can travel in their machines from Tia Juana, Mexico, to Old Faithful, in the Yellowstone. It is to mark a beginning of road history in Oregon, and so important is the event considered that state officials decided to participate.

Those who made the trip were Governor Withycomb, Secretary of State Elliott, State Treasurer Kay, County Commissioners W. L. Lightner, Philo Holbrook and Rufus C. Holman, District Attorney Walter H. ter, A. L. Franconi, Mayor Albee, C. C. Colt, Sam Hill, S. C. Lancaster, H. L. Bowley, Hugh Hume and Frank Terrace.

There are places along the route where no auto had ever before traveled, such as the stretch between Bonneville and Eagle river and at Starvation point. This trip demonstrated that the road is open from end to end and that what this party can do other motorists can do. While the trip planned will consume practically three days, it can easily be made in a day and a half. The party is to travel in a leisurely manner and will make frequent stops, touching at Celilo canal, the orchards of Hood river, the grain fields of Goldendale and at all the best scenic spots on the highway.

Mr. Stewart, the horse buyer, has been in this neighborhood after mules and horses. He will make another trip in about two weeks.

Mrs. Berthoff and daughter Roxie and Mrs. Hawthurst will go to San Francisco to attend the fair next week.

Frank Morris has bought a new automobile.

Wm. Irwin's sister from Pennsylvania arrived a few days ago for a visit.

Rev. Hall has been confined at his home for a few days on account of illness, but is reported better. Mr. Daniels took charge of the services here Sunday.

Walter Broadword and Robt. Goss went fishing the other side of Bly last week. On the way home their machine broke down, and they came home on the stage. Mr. Broadword will go after his car in a few days.

Freuer's new car arrived last week.

Marie Hamaker, Cora Lyons and Frank White and his family were in Poe Valley to spend the Fourth at the Griffith ranch.

Warren Yahr is still confined to his bed.

Mrs. Kilgore is improving, and is able to be up now.

The picnic at Harpold's reservoir was a big success. About fifty people from the surrounding country came with lunches. After dinner a large part of the crowd climbed the mountain to Captain Jack's lake and stronghold.

A. A. Harpold has started cutting his hay.

The people of the Clover Leaf country are counting themselves fortunate in having a fine rain on Monday. It came in time to save the crops, which had begun to suffer for lack of moisture.

Mr. James is tearing down his house. He will put up a new, modern dwelling.

MAKE A STUDY OF RECREATION

ARE STUDYING THEORY AND PRACTICE OF PLAY THAT IS GOOD FOR MORAL AND PHYSI-CAL BODY AT EXPOSITION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Recreation experts from every section of the country, men who know in theory and practice what kind of play is good for the moral and physical welfare of the nation, will attend the national congress of recreation, which commenced yesterday, for six days, under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The program was completed after several months of hard work by a committee headed by Eustace M. Piezotto of San Francisco. The business sessions will be held in the Civic Auditorium, with special entertainment at the exposition, at various beach resorts in the vicinity, and at several of the principal playgrounds.

Yesterday was devoted to a civic celebration of Independence Day at the exposition as part of the general festivities. The orator of the day was William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state.

Walter Broadword and Robt. Goss went fishing the other side of Bly last week. On the way home their machine broke down, and they came home on the stage. Mr. Broadword will go after his car in a few days.

TAKE SALTS FOR THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

We Should Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat, Says
Noted Authority on Kidney Disorders

Recommends a Spoonful of Jad Salts In Glass of Water Before Breakfast to Stimulate Kidneys and Eliminate the Uric Acid

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
