they got every round, decision, punches, and the sympathy of the spectators and newspaper men at the ringside. There was just simply nothin' to it. When the final gong was rung the score stood 13 to 2, and the only thing that saved Hornbrook from a knockout was the liberal mindedness of the locals. Their first run was fair enough, as Messick in right field made the mistake of coming in on a grounder too fast in trying to get it on first bounce, and missed it, allowing the first score. The second was gleaned in the ninth frame after Nelson had taken the box, Bowden the mask, climbers, protector and the rest of the paraphernalia, which gave him about all he could handle. Palmer, right fielder ordinarily—but that was no ordinary game—playing third, made the fatal mistake of running in for a bunt on a high infield fly, allowing the other score. But, then, nobody cared. They were our guests, and we hope they come back—with a better team—some other time. In fact, the ninth inning was a regular shake-up—all the boys took new territory. Nelson managed to get away with Hornbrook's heavy end of the batting order, at that.

By the taking over of Nelson and Bigbee, the Box Factory team now has an aggregation that is the best Klamath Falls has ever seen, and we predict the best that Southern Oregon or Northern California has seen yet. The team is scheduled to go to Medford next Sunday, and to say the least possible about it the situation looks dangerous for the Rogue Riverers any way it goes. But having seen them play before, it ought to be a close game and a good one.

Cook pitched good ball yesterday, walking but one and fanning eight. Nelson proved the Guisot of the game, slugging as far almost as the eye could see. He is credited with a home run, to the road grader, a three bagger and a single. Messick, Hoag and Palmer scored two-base hits, and all the boys took regular slams at the ball.

Stevenson's offerings were accepted at all times, and were handled so viciously that should there have been any felders in the way of several of the dum-dums it is doubtful that they would have gone home sitting up. One of Bigbee's three hits passed between the first baseman and the base so rapidly that—well the right felder heard it hit the fence, he stated in an interview last night. One or two of Bigbee's also skimmed the ground and the air so near the pitcher's physog that some of them he ducked and some of them he didn't see. It was a good baitfest. Two or three of Yreka's best were present looking over the situation, and the expressions seemed to indicate that they were not enjoying the game whatsoever.

Tom Watters acted as the official "umps" and is the man for the game. There is no monkey business, and he doesn't take any of that stuff.

Layman struck out two and hit one. His support was very poor at times.

Tribal Council Ask $1,000,000

The loan is to be paid by the sale of timber on the reservation.

The Indians closed their "July time" on the 10th, having started the 1st. They had their usual sports of war dancing, and of "White Cindy," the dreaded squaw. One evening the above-named squaw at twenty burning torches. The Indians had a dancing pavilion, a merry-go-round, a race track, a hotel, booths and various sorts of amusements.

Superintendent Freer addressed an assemblage of Indians, stating he had been with them a year, and that he believes that with the work of previous agents, the year had shown an advance, morally and industrially. For one year there had been no murder on the reservation; there had been an increase in the herds; there had been more grain planted, and there had been less of gambling and of whiskey drinking as far as could be determined. Superintendent Freer spoke of Captain Emery's administration, which the Indians all remembered with satisfaction, and he asked the Reds the same moral and industrial support that they had given him.

Resolutions adopted by the Tribal Council of Klamaths, Modocs and Snake Indians on the Klamath reservation in Oregon were read by Sheldon Kirk. They related to having the boundary line trouble adjusted and to the allotment of Indian lands.

It seems that since 1910 there has been no allotments made.

A resolution to open the rivers to logging was placed on record. Another was asking the Indian commissioners and Secretary of the Interior to have congress give the Indians a million dollar loan, so they may buy machinery and increase their herds. The loan is to be paid by the sale of Indian timber. There was a resolution against gambling, against driving cattle across the reservation and one regulating fishing.

There were about 500 or 600 Indians celebrating. However, there was less fighting and trouble this year. One runaway occurred, and Mrs. Short Bob of Yainax was thrown from a wagon, breaking her arm.

SPINK BUILDS A NEW PAVILION

OPENING SATURDAY NIGHT WITH ORCHESTRA, DANCING AND LUNCH AT MIDNIGHT—FISHING IS GOOD, SAYS SPINK

R. C. Spink, proprietor of "Idle-rest," on Spring Creek, stated today that he expected to finish his new pavilion for dancing and a dining room this week, and that a grand opening will be held next Saturday night. An orchestra will be imported for the occasion, and at midnight a lunch will be served.

The pavilion is 16x30 feet, and Mr. Spink plans to use it both for a dining room and dancing pavilion. It is located near the water, and affords an excellent place to dance on moonlight nights. Spink states that the fishing is good, and that many tourists are passing through the country at this time.

FACTS FROM THE FORT

Fort Klamath closed a five-days' celebration of the Fourth of July on last Thursday. On the Fourth there were children exercises at the open air dancing pavillion. A float or so was prepared and a small parade formed.

The four days that followed were taken up with baseball and bucking contests. The ball team on the 7th beat Prineville by a score of 15 to 8. The bucking was exceptionally good. Twelve horses and a mule were ridden each day, besides Nero, the bucking bull, and half a dozen calves.

Steve Callahan received the most applause among the riders, but the work of Clarkson, Hoover, Kirk and others was very good.

Among the horse races were several entries, and some speedy horses from Yainax were competing. Gardner's Dixon and Sismore's racers did excellent work. However, Sismore's animals won over all competitors. Besides the above features, there was foot races, and various booths of amusement, such as shooting galleries and high dives.

Mrs. Wm. Page is spending the summer with her son Adrian of the Page barber shop. Mrs. Page spent the winter in Bandon, Ore.

"Jeff" Oden and wife and son are back from their winter's visit in Medford.

Miss Pearson of the Pearson and Gray dancing pavilion has been ill for a few days.

The Commercial Club is having a copy of a postcard prepared for the printer. Five thousand will be printed, telling of Wood River Valley, Oregon. Some cheese, butter and other exhibits are being prepared to be shipped to Sinnott at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

On October 1st and 2nd, according to the statement of Mr. Pelton, Fort Klamath will hold a $360 district fair. Preparations are now being completed.

"You can't get away from the law of averages, any more than you can escape the first of the month."
—Mister Squeegie

Now and then even a tail-end baseball team will play a wonderful game.

The pitcher will have everything on the ball, everybody will bat well and field faultlessly, and luck will break right all the way.

But the good games that come once or twice a month are not the ones on which the standing of the cellar champions is figured.

The team that stays up in the first division must play well day after day.

So it is with tires. Their excellence is not based on the extraordinary mileage that the occasional one gives.

It is the general average of service that must be considered in estimating tire values.

Diamond Squeegie Tread Tires are in favor, not because of the performance of an occasional one, but because of the superior merits of more than 99% of them.
