Fifteen Hundred Strikers and Police Clash in New Jersey

GERMANS WITHIN FIFTEEN MILES OF HEART OF THE CITY

KAISERIN AND KAISER TO ENTER; BERLIN REJOICES

United Press Service
BERLIN, July 21.—The Germans are now shelling the outer defenses of Warsaw according to an announcement made today at the war office here. The German forces are but 15 miles from the heart of the city and the fall of the city is predicted within the next fortnight. The Russians are expected to evacuate as soon as the outer defenses are penetrated.

Kaiser Wilhelm is at General Hindenburg's headquarters and accompanied by the Kaiserine they expect to enter Warsaw together. Berlin is wild with excitement and joy and it is popularly believed that the victory will hasten peace negotiations.

Officials here state that the capture of Warsaw will not only bring a separate peace treaty with Russia but will remove the possibility of the Balkans joining the Allies. They assert that the peace sentiment in Russia is growing. Vonische Zeitung estimates that 64,700 Russians have been captured in the present campaign.

FOUR MILE LAKE WILL BE CLOSED

REPORTS OF KLAMATH SPORTSMEN ASSOCIATION BRINGS CLOSING OF LAKE AUGUST 1, WHICH HAS BEEN STOCKED WITH FISH

A notice issued by Governor Withcombe and two members of the Fish and Game Commission was received today that Four Mile Lake will be closed to fishermen after August 1. These notices will be posted around the lake and published in local papers.

The closing of this lake is the result of the efforts of the Klamath Sportsmen's Association to stock the lake with mountain trout where they will be protected and allowed to grow unmolested. This lake is particularly adapted to the fingerlings after they are taken from the hatchery.

Two years ago the lake was stocked practically the first time. The lake is fed largely from the mountain sides of Mt. McLaughlin by snow water and consequently is isolated. The closing of the lake will provide an excellent fishing ground after it is deemed sufficiently stocked.

American Duchess Arrested as Spy

Friends of the Duchess Litta-Venestri Arese, who was Miss Jessie Perry of Charleston, S. C., were astounded by her arrest in Venice, Italy, on the charge of espionage. They knew she was devoted to Italy and that both she and the duke were bitterly anti-Austrian.

Influential Venetians vouched for the couple and they were released on bail. Their arrest was based solely on the fact they burned a small light in their hotel room the night Austrian aviators dropped nine bombs into Venice.

The duke, an author, is also well known in New York, where Putnam published some of his books.

STATE WARDEN TO LAKEVIEW

WAS TAKEN AROUND UPPER KLAMATH LAKE AND GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO VIEW THE HUNTING AND FISHING SPOTS

Yesterday he was taken on an auto trip around Upper Klamath lake and given an opportunity to see the large lake and the swamps which are the homes of thousands of ducks, geese and other migratory birds during the hunting seasons accompanied by Deputy Game Warden H. D. Stout and Frank Ankeny.

On the return he was taken to an advantageous point to view the wide expanse of tule land and bird reserve around Lower Klamath lake and the Klamath river. He expressed himself as surprised and pleased with this country on his first trip and commended the work that is being done here by the Sportsmen's association and Deputy Warden Stout.

IS MOST PERFECT OF COMMERCIAL BODY SYSTEMS

ORGANIZATION PLANS PRAISED BY FINANCIER

Resources of Klamath County Appeal Strongly to Portland Magnate—Gives Encouragement to Local People to Thoroughly Organize and Co-operate With the Strong Body of the Metropolis of the Northwest

A. L. Mills, of Portland, one of the foremost financiers of the Northwest, spent yesterday in Klamath Falls viewing this section in his touring car en route to the Exposition. He is an enthusiastic advocate of the plan of organization of commercial bodies which is being introduced in this city by the City Development Bureau. In speaking of the system used he said:

"When the chart illustrating the plan of organization was first presented to me I saw nothing in it. It might have been a sketch of the trenches in war-ridden Europe and conveyed just as much meaning, but after I looked into it the plan gradually unfolded, and after a thorough study of it I have arrived at the conclusion that is the most perfect plan of organization for a business of this character that has ever been devised."

Mr. Mills commented further upon the organization method provided in the plans being introduced here, emphasizing the points of superiority embraced in them. He states that the proper operation of the organization as provided in this method secures the co-operation of all the elements of the city which may be engaged in civic and development work unifying them and harmonizing them to the best advantage.

It brings efficiency through the proper distribution of the work among a large body of men who will give their services in working for the common good, and the co-ordination of the forces so as to eliminate overlapping and secure duplication. In the same way economy of administration is obtained. The organization is of all the citizens, in which each one has an equal voice. But the administration is centered, and responsibility is fixed upon the proper officials and committees.

Mr. Mills stated that he appreciated more than ever the opportunities offered in this section of the state for development and growth, and expressed the hope and expectation that Klamath Falls will build up here a strong commercial organization. He asserted that the Portland Chamber of Commerce will heartily co-operate with the Klamath Falls Commercial Club when organized along the lines outlined, as it will represent the community as a whole as no other body of men can, and wield a power greater than the men of the city now realize.

Mr. Mills also stated that he would take up in the Portland Chamber of Commerce some of the things which are awaiting the action of the commercial bodies to secure proper adjustment, as soon as he returns from his trip, and that he has been making

Thaw Acclaimed in N. Y. Court House

John H. Stanchfield, Thaw Counsel. Foreman of Thaw Jury.

When the jury which had listened to the case against Harry Thaw, the man who killed Stanford White on the Madison Square roof garden, announced it believed he was sane, there was a demonstration in front of the New York County court house. Thousands swarmed him outside, and when he appeared on the outer stairway with Sheriff Griffenhagen, who is shown at the right wearing a Panama hat, there were cheers and cheers. The crowd which had assembled at the courthouse was with him. Thaw of course, wore one of his best smiles. He had been in custody for many years, and the decision of the jury, despite the fact that he had not been adjudged sane by the justice of the court as the New York law requires to make him free, he showed plainly he felt he was free.

ing notes of the matters of first importance for immediate consideration by the Portland people.

As Mr. Mills is one of the active and influential workers in the Portland Chamber of Commerce, which is the strongest organization of its kind in the United States, he declared, some very important developments may be expected, especially when the local organization begins an active campaign along the same lines and unites with the larger body in furthering these particular matters.
