

Germans Occupying Warsaw, Announced Secret Conference Held Today Over Mexican Situation

U. S. OFFICIALS, PAN-AMERICANS DISCUSS MEXICO

FACTIONS MAY BE GIVEN ONE MORE CHANCE

How to End Condition of Anarchy in Mexico is Discussion of Secret Conference Being Held in Washington, United States and Seven South American Countries in Session, Carranza is Favorite

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—A secret conference is being held here this afternoon at the state department for the purpose of discussing ways and means of ending the condition of anarchy now existing in Mexico.

Secretary Lansing, Paul Fuller, the president's adviser to Mexico; the ambassadors of Argone, Brazille and Chile, and the ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala are participating.

It is possible that the Mexican factions will be given one more opportunity to settle their differences, and then if they fail, the Pan-American conference, made up of the above representatives, will support a candidate for the presidency of the country.

If the factions agree, it is understood that Carranza will be supported for president. If they do not, other steps will be taken to stop the present warfare.

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—Mexico's destiny is hanging in the balance at the session of the Pan-American conference, which is meeting here this afternoon.

In Federal Probe of Eastland Wreck

A. L. Thurman
W. C. Redfield
George Uhler

Under the direction of William C. Redfield, secretary of the Department of Commerce, A. L. Thurman, solicitor of the department, has taken up the federal investigation of the wreck of the Eastland in the Chicago River. Mr. Thurman was taken into the department by Mr. Redfield. He is from Ohio, and is a graduate of the law department of the University of Virginia.

George Uhler, supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service of the Department of Commerce, was in California when the accident occurred. He left at once for Chicago. General Uhler has been head of the steamboat inspection service since 1902, leaving the presidency of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Society to take the place, and since his occupancy of the position has varied through several hard fights with various interests. In his earlier years he was a marine engineer himself, serving, however, on the salt water, and not on the lakes.

"There is no commission, body, or department in the service that has any power to sit in judgment on the stability of a vessel," said Secretary Redfield in Washington the other day. "In my reports I have called attention to the need of additional powers. A year ago, before the Marine Association in New York, I spoke on the necessity of giving the service greater powers of inspection over steamboats."

Mr. Thurman said: "A man can build any sort of a boat he sees fit. He can take any model he desires and get it into commission without any inquiry at all from the government as to whether it is a stable craft. There is no board with authority to pass on its design."

BELIEVED PART OF GARRISON TAKEN; 5,000 PRISONERS

BATTLE BEYOND WARSAW IS DOUBTFUL, SAYS BERLIN
The Russians Have Retired Over the Three Bridges Over the Vistula. Resistance Was Brief on Final Assault—First Germans Entered Last Night—Fierce Battle Raging Beyond Warsaw, But Outcome Doubtful, as Russians Are Strongly Entrenched—Bells Told and Berlin Rejoices.

United Press Service
BERLIN, Aug. 5.—It has been officially announced here that the Germans have occupied Warsaw. The Russians retired over the three Vistula bridges leading from the city to Praga, an eastern suburb, after a brief resistance. Prince Leopold's Bavarians stormed the last line as they retreated, and entered the city via Radom on the Hollis roads.

The Russian center is retiring toward Novo Minsh, keeping in touch with the right wing near Novo Georgiewsk. It is believed that part of the garrison has been captured. The first Germans entered the city last night.

Simultaneously with the entrance to the city, general assaults were begun along the front beyond Warsaw from Narew to Ostralenka against the Bug positions of the enemy, where they have been entrenching since the evacuation began. A fierce battle is raging, and the results are doubtful. The Russians are desperately trying to save the Petrograd railway.

It is announced that in East Prussia 5,000 Germans were taken as prisoners with numerous field guns. General von Buelow is pressing Courland, and has taken about 3,000 prisoners. The condition about Lvagorod remains unchanged.

Bells in the city here are being tolled, and the residents of Berlin are holding a general rejoicing over the announcement of the occupation by the Germans of the largest city yet to be stormed in the European war. A communication states that the final battle will be waged at the gates or along the wings of the main forces. The struggle is expected to be short and fierce.
