LARGE STOCK SHIPMENTS MADE

By J. A. RICKART
(Written for the United Press)

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 12.—While it is not unusual for livestock from California and other far western states to find outlet at Kansas City, the large numbers of shipments of cattle and sheep that have been sent from the Pacific Coast states to the Kansas City market this year is causing considerable comment. Since the first day of May ten train loads of beef cattle have been sent from Arizona to the Kansas City market, four trains from California, four trains from Montana, two from Idaho and one each from Washington, Oregon and Nevada. Besides, there has been more than 60,000 sheep and lambs sent from Arizona, heavy shipments of sheep and lambs from California and Wyoming, and large shipments of cattle and sheep from every intermediate state, especially from Texas. More than 100 carloads of Texas cattle have been offered in a single day at Kansas City this summer on several occasions.

The last week in July one train of 34 cars of cattle was received from Nevada and another load from Imperial, California.

The great capacity of the packing plants at Kansas City makes it the second largest slaughtering point in the world.

The packers needed large amounts of beef this summer to fill contracts, and took the big Western cattle rapidly. Practically all the cattle sent from the far away points were big beef steers, weighing around 1,200 pounds each, or more, and they sold at $8 to $8.50 per hundred pounds. Irrigation in the west is producing large crops of barley, alfalfa and other feeds, which are being disposed of by feeding to cattle and sheep, hence the increased offer of live stock from these sections.

Railroads are alive to the importance of giving good service on these long shipments, in order that the shrinkage in weight may be as light as possible. Early in July a shipment of 25 carloads of cattle from Imperial, California, made the run of 1,595 miles to Kansas City with only two stops for feed, the actual running time being 81 hours. On July 19th a train load of 18 cars of steers from Phoenix, Arizona, arrived in this city having made the run of more than 1,400 miles with only two stops for feed.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—relief comes so quickly.

Patterson's Policewoman

Mrs. Grace Headlin

Mrs. Grace Headlin has been sworn in as the first policewoman of Patterson, N. J. She has charge of the dance halls of the city, and sees the patrons keep to the conventional waiters and two-steps, and do not wander into the "kitchen sink" and others of the new dances. Mrs. Headlin is 40 years old. She was formerly matron at the Passaic county jail. She wears no uniform, but a small gold detective's badge is her mark of authority. In the summer she has only one dance hall to look after, but she expects that when the cool weather begins and Patterson's thirty public ball rooms are running at full blast, she will need help.

She says, Folks Are Honest
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—You just bet folks are honest.

If you don't believe it, ask Mrs. I. W. Marlow, who came here from 800 East 43d street, Seattle, Washington.

When she left Seattle, she forgot to bring an old slipper in which she had hidden $160 in twenty dollar gold pieces. But about as soon as she left, Mrs. Ray Thorne, who lived in the same house with Mrs. Marlow in Seattle, found the slipper and the gold and took the money to Chief of Police Long of that city. Chief Long sent it to Chief of Police Salvendy here, and today the chief found Mrs. Marlow and gave it to her. Was she glad? Say.

COLLEGES OF U. S. INCREASE IN SIZE

There were 216,493 students in colleges, universities and technological schools in 1914, according to the annual report of the commissioner of education, just issued. This is an increase of 14,262 over 1913. The bureau's list for 1914 includes 567 institutions, a decrease of 29 over the preceding year. States or municipalities control 93 of the colleges; private corporations control 474. Men still outnumber women in higher education; there were 139,373 men in 1914 and 77,120 women, as compared with 128,644 men and 73,687 women in 1913. Despite rising standards of administration and graduation, college enrollment has more than tripled since 1890.

Receipts during the year totaled $120,579,257, of which $18,422,856 was for endowment. Benefactions to colleges and universities totaled $26,670,017, something over $2,000,000 more than in the year previous. Six institutions received benefactions in excess of a million dollars apiece, and 45 universities, colleges and technological schools reported gifts amounting to more than $100,000. In the past seven years the largest increase in income has come through state and municipal appropriations, and the smallest from tuition and other fees. State and municipal appropriations grew from $9,649,549 in 1908 to $23,400,540 in 1914, while fees for tuition and other educational services increased from $15,390,847 to $22,504,529.

The dominant note of the year in higher education, according to the report, was concentration, both in internal organization and in relation to state authority. The movement in the direction of authoritative classification gained momentum during the year, chiefly through the activities of several voluntary associations. The junior college movement has reached the point where several states have gone on record as definitely recognizing junior colleges in the educational system. The municipal university of Akron, Ohio, was added to the list of city universities, and the new Association of Urban Universities, established in the fall of 1914, lends emphasis to this municipal university development.

Degrees conferred by colleges and universities included 26,523 baccalaureate, 5,248 graduate and 749 honorary. The degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred as the result of examination by 46 institutions on 446 men and 73 women.

What the War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. MASON
(Staff Correspondent United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Just what Bulgaria demands to send her armies against Constantinople as learned by Henry Woods, United Press staff correspondent, now at Sofia, is the most important development in the Balkan situation since the war began.

Not only is the fate of Turkey being closely bargained for at Sofia, but the future development of southeastern Europe hangs in the balance. Only the firm diplomacy of the allies is needed to entice Bulgaria into the war. There can be no question that Bulgaria is prepared to fight for the territory lost during the second Balkan war. If the allies fail to meet Bulgaria's demands, the blame will be entirely their own. The allies can meet the terms as presented by Premier V. Radoeloff. The return of Siberian Macedonia to Bulgaria is what is demanded.

The consent of Serbia to cede Serbian Macedonia is the sole major requirement that the allies must meet to start the Bulgarian armies toward Constantinople. Serbia must bring on the conflict. It is not for England and France to say that Serbia shall be conquered and become a vassal of Austria.

In return for Macedonia the Serbians demand northern Albania. It would be a fair trade, because it would give Serbia an outlet to the sea, and would no longer be an inland country. Italy has entered the war to make the Adriatic a great Italian lake, and to secure the dominant position over the Slavs on the eastern shore. If Serbia becomes an Adriatic power, Italy must limit her ambitions. However, Italy has not been sufficiently successful to dictate to the allies. Furthermore, Italy can be compensated in Asia Minor.
