

GERMAN DANGER OVER---ENGLISH TROUBLE NOW

GOOD FAITH ATTRIBUTED TO GERMANY

Administration Believes Germany Sincere in Submarine Policy, as Have Declared—Nothing in Writing Yet. Farther Get From Trouble With Germany, Nearer Friction With England

CHARLES P. STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The administration credits Germany with good faith in her representations regarding her submarine policy, and particularly the Arabic incident, it has been declared from an authoritative source.

It is confidentially stated that all danger is practically over, though nothing in writing has been received as yet.

Diplomats state that the farther America gets from trouble with Germany, the nearer to friction with England she approaches. It is not believed any friction will develop over the Anglo-American controversy as a result of the severance of relations, but it will undoubtedly be difficult to settle.

It is stated that America is under implied obligations to Germany to adopt a firm tone to England. Many think that the administration will yet be compelled to place an embargo on arms.

SUPT. GIVES UP BREAKING RECORD

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT SCATTERS MAGNETO OVER SCENERY AND DECIDES NOT TO MAKE FIRST TRIP OVER OLD ROAD

While Fred Peterson, county superintendent of schools, was returning from Eugene after putting Mrs. Peterson on the train there for Newport for a vacation, he thought he would take the old military road south of Eugene, following a branch of the Willamette River eastward to Crescent, to look up some school matters.

Fred had heard of one machine that had made the trip down this road, but never could learn of one ever going up over the road. It has some dangerous and heart-breaking hills. So desiring to run over to Crescent, he decided to try it and incidentally be the first man ever to go over the road.

Everything was all right until, as he was spinning along at a lively clip, fast approaching the dreaded climb, he suddenly landed on a rock, high and dry. He states that it did not appear to be so high, but just before the machine got to it the front wheels dropped into a chuck hole, and on the rebound the rock came up through the bottom and scattered his magneto over the surrounding country.

He spent two days fixing things, and started out again, more anxious than ever to make that trip. The next obstacle he encountered was a log in the road that nothing but a German Zeppelin could have surmounted. He secured a crosscut saw and sawed his way through. He was on his way again, but when the hilly district was reached he found that due to the infernal intricacies of magnetoes and the necessity of having to adjust them to the thirty-second of an inch, and with nothing but a monkey wrench and a hammer to do it with, he was unable to pull the hills.

He returned to Eugene, and came back by the Pacific highway, stating that any more such trips and he would have to go to the beach himself.

GREECE WILL BREAK WITH TURKS, BELIEVED

CONSIDERED INEVITABLE BY THE LEADERS

Big Possibility That She Will Declare War—Government Preparing Protest Amounting Practically to Ultimatum as Result of Fresh Persecutions—Many Compelled to Flee From Homes—Turks Show Arrogance.

ATHENS, Aug. 28.—Political leaders here consider that it is inevitable that Greece will break relations with Turkey, and consider it possible that war will be declared.

Venizelo's government is preparing a vigorous protest to Turkey that is practically an ultimatum as a result of fresh persecutions of Greeks in Asia Minor. It is reliably reported that 300,000 Greeks have been compelled to leave their homes and flee to the interior for protection.

The Turks are showing more arrogance, as they believe the Germans will soon be able to march to their aid. Athens is inflamed over the situation and the people are aroused to a fever heat.

YONNA VALLEY CROPS ARE GOOD

HILDEBRAND MERCHANT STATES CROPS WILL BE BETTER THAN EXPECTED, AND THAT COUNTRY IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Yonna Valley crops will be better than the farmers expected, is the belief expressed by R. C. Cowley, a Hildebrand merchant, who was in the city yesterday. The farmers have the hay up now, and are starting on their grain.

"Water is the great need of that country," stated Mr. Cowley, "and will be the salvation of it to a great extent. This year has been a hard one, due to lack of sufficient moisture in the dry land farming, but the crops are turning out better than expected."

Mr. Cowley came here a number of years ago for his health, and though he returned east once, he found it necessary to come back here, where he has been roughing it, more or less, and with but a small business to attend to, has been able to regain his health.

Much advertising is being given the circus, and it is expected a large percentage of the Klamath Indian reservation will make the trip here to attend, as is usual at such times. Incidentally a band of 1,000 head of cattle will be shipped out between September 1 and 4, and the buccaroos that will accompany them will be here with all their red handkerchiefs and splendor to help make things lively. FOREST FIRES KEPT AT A MINIMUM

BUT 50,000 FEET, WORTH $40, DESTROYED IN SOUTHERN OREGON UNDER LOCAL MAN'S CONTROL—SMALL FIRE WEST

But 50,000 feet of standing timber has been destroyed so far this season in this section of the country, according to Jack Kimball, which is worth at the present prices about $40, which is a rough estimate of the damage.

A small fire is now being controlled west of this city, and is believed will do but little more damage, according to Kimball, though it has been a hard fire to fight. A few extra men were taken out, and with the regular force they now seem to have it controlled.

A report in the Oregonian states that a $5,000 loss has been sustained in Southern Oregon in the Klamath National Forest in the Northern California in the Klamath River. That loss has occurred on a small fire.
