

ENGLISH ARE UNCHANGED IN THEIR ATTITUDE

FIGHTING TO RESTORE BELGIUM AND REMOVE MILITARISM

Highest Official in Authority Informs United Press of English Attitude in View of Peace Reports in America. Attitude Unchanged Since Asquith's Speech Last Year—No Separate Act Toward Peace Considered

United Press Service

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The highest official in authority has informed the United Press of England's attitude on peace, and stated that it was unchanged since Asquith's speech at Guild Hall last year, when he said: "We are fighting to restore Belgium and to remove the menace of militarism."

His statement was made in view of the peace reports circulated in America. The official said: "We took up arms with the definite object in view so admirably stated by Asquith. We are bound not to take any separate step toward peace. We shall act only in concert with the rest of the allies. There is absolute confidence and a fixed determination on the part of all that none will seek a separate peace settlement. The German Washington embassy statement does not mention the freedom of Belgium or France. By promising the freedom of the Jews Germany is evidently trying to enlist the aid of America to help her out of her difficulties."

MEDFORD COMING HERE STRONG

WITH IMPORTED PLAYERS AND A GRIM DETERMINATION TO MAKE AMENDS, ROGUE RIVERITES WILL BE HERE TWO DAYS

After suffering two defeats, the last being a total rout, the Medford team, strengthened up in all departments, especially the batteries, will arrive in the city Saturday night for a series of two ball games at Modoc Park, on Sunday and Monday.

Efforts were made by the visitors to secure the services of Lyle Bigbee, who has been twirling here for the past three months, for one of their games, but Bigbee states that he is going to pitch for the Ewaunas. Medford promised to secure batteries that would make a good showing against the locals, and are said to have secured several players from Portland for these games.

Thinks Klamath Has a Future

Dr. H. P. Bone, a retired minister of Sherman, Texas, who has been here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Phillips in the country for the past three weeks, left this morning on the Ashland auto stage. Dr. Bone thinks the Klamath country is good, and has a great future before it. He will visit the principal cities of the Northwest on his homeward trip.

Moves in for School

Mrs. H. C. Chitwood, who has been spending the summer with her husband, who is located on Bald mountain as forest fire lookout, has moved to the city with her two daughters, in preparation for the opening of school Monday.

Leave for Their Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Adams returned to the Adams ranch last night, after being in the city for several days.

Thaw Now Suing for Divorce

Harry Thaw

Mrs. Thaw, His Mother

(c) American Press Association.

This photograph was taken the night Harry Thaw reached his home in Pittsburg, whose case has been in the New York state and other courts for nine weeks. It shows Harry Thaw and his mother a few moments after he reached home from Atlantic City, where he had gone after his acquittal in New York city. Thaw promised that he would hide away from the crowd hereafter. He insisted he wanted quiet, and so did his mother.

He has filed a suit for divorce from Evelyn Nesbit Thaw in Pittsburg. An attempt to serve a subpoena on her yesterday failed. She could not be found.

ESPEE ROAD IS BEING BALLASTED

WORK BEING DONE NOW USUALLY DONE IN SPRING—ENGINES IN BETTER SHAPE—KEEPS RAILROAD CIRCLES ON "QUI VI"

The fact that the Southern Pacific is running a ballast train on the line between here and Weed at a great expense, and but one trip can be made a day from the cinder pit, on work that is usually done in the spring of the year, is keeping railroad circles on the "qui vi."

The fact, also, that state railroad employees and others close in touch with conditions, that all engines running on this road are in far better shape now than they have been in months, might have bearing on some future movement that might be taken by the railroad company.

Those watching things believe that either some contemplated action is being considered by the railroad company in the building line, or that everything is being kept in the best of condition, ready for immediate action should certain things take place. It is a fact that the road out of this city is kept in exceptionally good shape for a "jerk-water," and that the Southern Pacific has no intention of abandoning the road or letting it go to seed. Railroad employees who have been given an opportunity to see the Klamath Valley and some of the surrounding country are surprised that the railroad company does not open up and finish the line, as they say it will amply support a railroad in a year or two, connecting lines across and straight down the valley.

Teachers Arrive for Monday

Miss Lulu Wattenburg and Miss Augusta Parker, who will teach in the schools of the city this coming year, have arrived. Many of the teachers are coming in, most of them being here now.

BODIES BEING TAKEN FROM F-4

SEVERAL BODIES FOUND, HANDS AND FEET PROTRUDING FROM DEBRIS—BELIEVED ALL WILL BE RECOVERED

HONOLULU, Sept. 3.—Several bodies have been found in the hull of the F-4, their hands and feet protruding from the debris. Naval construction Engineer Furer is in charge, and thinks that all will be recovered, as they are held by the debris.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3.—Admiral Beach at Honolulu cabled this afternoon that two more unidentified bodies had been recovered from the submarine.

That the storage battery covering permitted the water to enter and generate chlorine gas, which probably caused the death of the officers and crew of the F-4 is a part of a report to the navy department made by a board of investigation of the F type of submarines.

Young Folks Enjoy Themselves

A large crowd of the younger set of the city were present last night at the pavilion at a private dance given by a number of young ladies of the city. The dance was pronounced the best of the season, a good time being had by those present.

Will Speak on the Street

Mrs. Lulu Wightman speaks tonight at Fifth and Main streets at 7:45, on "Personal Liberty" and the Blue Laws. Accompanied by her family, she is touring the coast and holding street meetings.

Returns to Fort Klamath

Mrs. T. C. Norris of Fort Klamath, who has been here visiting with Dr. and Mrs. F. M. White, returns home today.

KLAMATH NOW COMING TO THE FRONT AT FAIR

MORE PRODUCTS CAN BE USED, SAYS REPRESENTATIVE

Importance of Creating Market for Vegetables in San Francisco and California Emphasized—Booth is Now Making Better Showing and Attracting More Attention From Visitors. Folks at Fair.

(Special to The Herald)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—While Klamath county was not much in evidence during the earlier part of the exposition, it begins to look as though the good old county is to make a grand stand finish, and get somewhere near its share of the benefits derived from participation in the world's fair. The past two weeks has seen a great awakening in the Klamath people, so far as seeing that the booth in the Oregon building is supplied with Klamath products is concerned, and if this good work can only be kept up there is reason to hope that Klamath county's display will be the very best in the Oregon building, the most talked of state building on the grounds.

But to attain this it is necessary that Klamath county people send to the exposition everything that tends to show the productiveness of Klamath. Fruits, vegetables, grains, etc., must be kept fresh at the booth, for once they become stale, they are by no means attractive, and cause slighting remarks to be made by visitors. The supply must be replenished often, and this is a matter that is up to the growers in Klamath.

There is another reason why Klamath county should do its best to make a splendid showing of its products, especially its vegetables, at this time. This is because of the opportunity the exposition offers for the building of a market for Klamath county produce in San Francisco. Klamath county vegetables are unquestionably of a superior quality. They excel anything to be found in the fruit and vegetable markets in San Francisco.

Good vegetables are desired by all. Many who can afford it, like thousands of residents of San Francisco are, are willing to pay extra, if necessary, to get the best of vegetables. It is this desirable trade that Klamath has a chance to corner, providing Klamath county people are sufficiently interested to keep the Klamath county booth stocked with the best of garden truck, and also ship this produce to the exposition in sufficient quantities to allow the Klamath county representative to enter the different varieties in competition, to be judged by the international jury. Should Klamath county win some honor awards for vegetables this fact alone would be of great advertising value to all parts of the county, and would be a great help in establishing an outside market.

Summed up, the situation is something like this: Klamath county produces the finest vegetables on earth. Klamath county people well know this, but the rest of the world does not. NOW is the time for Klamath to get busy, if her people wish to let the world know what splendid vegetables they can secure in Klamath.

The Commercial Club will be glad to take care of any vegetables anybody may bring in for shipment to the exposition.

Klamath Folks at the Fair—Among the Klamath county people who have visited the Klamath booth since the last writing are County Judge Marion Hanks and family, Dr. G. C. Mitchell, Graham Kiehl, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Faught, Miss Nova Faught, William M. Black, William M. Black Jr., Miss Clara Eimer, Mrs. Don J. Sumwalt, Mrs. Rose Harpell, Marie Harpell, Stanley Smith, County Clerk C. R. DeLap, wife and daughter, Mrs. Will Houston and son, A. S. Mack, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maschl, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dunbar and Misses Margaret and Edna Dunbar, Leon Decker, E. E. Smith, Dr. W. A. Leonard and wife.

ANOTHER DRAIN FOR WEED RANCH

WORK STARTED ON DRAIN THROUGH MIDDLE OF 21,000 ACRE RANCH TO COST $6,000—WILL DRAIN NORTH HALF

Work has started on the digging of another large drain on the 21,000 acre Weed ranch in Wood River Valley, which will cost $6,000 to complete. The dike and drains constructed and dug heretofore have aided wonderfully in keeping the water off the land, but owing to a slue emptying on about the middle of the ranch from the north the northern portion of the ranch is still flooded.

The contemplated drain will take care of this water, and means the reclaiming of the north half of the ranch, according to J. Frank Adams, who visited the place yesterday in company with Abner Weed, owner.

"We rode our saddle horses over places on that ranch yesterday that two or three years ago you could not have traveled with high boots on," stated Mr. Adams.

"Some complaint is heard about such large tracts of land being held by one party or company," stated Mr. Adams. "But that land, the way it now stands, is worth nothing to the small investor. He would be unable to raise the money to reclaim it, while under the control of Mr. Weed the land will be reclaimed and then sold. Of course for a higher price, but then he will have invested large sums of money, and made the land worth having. There is room on that land now for thousands of cattle to graze, and when the reclamation work is completed there will be room for thousands more. Mr. Weed has spent about $50,000 on the ranch now, that I know of and in work that I have been interested in. I do not know how much more. We are running about 2,500 head of cattle now, and they do not eat up the feed.

"Such men as Mr. Weed are a god-send to this country. They have the money and the power to put the land in shape for cultivation. When I first attempted to start work on the old Adams ditch I was pook-pooed and laughed at. I could not raise $5,000 in this valley to do the work. When I hired a man I asked him if he would take part or all of his wages out in supplies, for though I could not get the money to put the ditch through, I could get credit at the store. And it was by that means that I managed to get the ditch built. I was unable to do it myself. The government came in later, then, and wanted the ditch, and it was sold to them.

"The people here then did not realize what water will do on this land of ours. They are just beginning to find out. I have some corn on my place that County Agriculturist Glaisyer sent down, saying that it was sweet corn. It now stands fully fourteen feet high, and has some time to grow yet. I have been looking for him, as I want to find out whether it is sweet corn, Klamath county soil, or what it is.

"There is so much soil on the Weed ranch, and it is so deep, that we are taking the chance of injuring it to burn off a heavy mossy growth that is found after the water goes off. It is necessary to get this off, and so we are burning it."

Geethals Been Rummored

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—It is rumored here that a boom will be sprung in San Francisco on the occasion of the visit of Colonel Geethals, the builder of the Panama canal, for vice president on the democratic ticket in 1914.

Miss Willa Leonard, Mrs. Henry Bolvin, Harry Bolvin, Mr. and Mrs. F. U. Patrick, Miss Margaret Barclay, J. W. Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Maspe, C. E. Widdeco, Lottie Milan, Hazel North, all of Klamath Falls; George C. Fradnock, Merrill and Dorris; Geneva Wilkerson Burroughs, Los Angeles; Mrs. J. Scott Taylor, Santa Barbara; A. W. Slover, Orono; Mrs. A. W. Brown, San Francisco; Mrs. Will E. Worden, Oakland; Florence Dealey Oley, Fort Klamath; E. C. Faber, Merrill; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Skillington, Lynn Skillington.

May Be Councillor of State Department

Frank L. Polk

Frank L. Polk, Washington gossip have it, will be appointed councillor of the state department, a position which has been vacant since Robert Lansing was promoted to be secretary of state. Mr. Polk is now corporation counsel of New York city. Several months ago he was shot by a crank who was making an attack on Mayor Mitchell of New York as the two rode together in an automobile. He is the son of Dr. William Mecklenburg Polk, dean of the Cornell medical school, the grandson of the Confederate Bishop-General Leonidas Polk, and the grandnephew of President James K. Polk.

Mr. Polk was born in New York in 1871 and was graduated from Yale in 1894. He studied law at Columbia law school, from which he was graduated in 1897. Mr. Polk went to the Spanish war with Troop A, and became assistant quartermaster under General Ernest with the rank of captain. In 1908 Mr. Polk married Miss Elizabeth S. Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Potter of Philadelphia. They have three children.

TOMORROW IS THE KIDS' DAY

BIG SHOW ARRIVES TONIGHT, PARADE TOMORROW WITH PERFORMANCES IN THE AFTERNOON AND NIGHT

Tomorrow is the one day of the year that the kids look forward to without any misgivings, unless they happen not to know where the whereabouts for that ticket is coming from. Tomorrow morning at 3 o'clock the long train of cars bearing the cages, wagons, tents and men and women of the show will arrive in the city.

Already people from all over the county are arriving in the city to attend the show and do some shopping on the side. A number of Indians are already here; the Yainax Indians are expected tonight, with many more tomorrow by wagon and on the special train from Kirk to this city, arriving in time to see the parade. Many of the factories, mills, ranches and other industries will give their men a holiday, enabling them to have a short vacation and see all the attending features of the big show.

On a (Poor) Business Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Horton were in the city today. Jack says they came in on business, but it was poor business, as he had approximately 165 teeth pulled out of his head, and as soon as the dentist recuperates he will have some more removed. Their son, Ryan accompanied them, and took the morning train for Ashland, where he will attend high school this year.

Here From the Fort

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Patton and party are in the city from Fort Klamath, having come down yesterday in their machine.

BORDER WAR SITUATION IS MORE SERIOUS

GENERAL WAR FEARED AS A RESULT OF KILLING

Aviators Locate Mexicans Advancing in Skirmish, But Soldiers Too Slow to Drop Bombs—Several Killed, and Preparations Being Made on Both Sides for Fight—Mexican Raiders Captured Near Nogales.

United Press Service

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 3.—Soldiers today surrounded the Mexicon murderers of Earl Donaldson and J. H. Smith in the brush near Fresno. This afternoon the Mexicans are fighting, three already having been killed, including one woman. The band numbers from fifty to sixty.

Aviators located the Mexicon, but due to the close proximity of soldiers, who were closing in on them in the thick brush, they did not dare to drop any bombs. The Mexicans were forewarned, and fled.

Stanley Dodd, survivor of the trio the Mexicans captured yesterday, says that the others were tortured before they were slain. The bottoms of their feet were beaten, boiling water was poured on their heads, and their bodies were riddled with bullets. Fosses are being dug, and a general border war is feared.

United Press Service

NOGOGLES, Ariz., Sept. 3.—Mexican rangers attempting to steal cattle were captured on a ranch west of here, being surrounded by soldiers of the Twelfth infantry. Two were captured, one was wounded, while four escaped. The prisoners stated they were ordered to procure food from the American side by General Maytown.

COATS EXCHANGED, POLICE SEARCH

SOMEBODY PLAYS MEAN TRICK ON HENLINE, SUBSTITUTING AN OLD COAT FOR GOOD ONE—POLICE AND SHERIFF HUNT

While Archie Henline, proprietor of the studio on Fifth street, was out of his office a few minutes yesterday afternoon, an unknown man stopped in, exchanged an old coat for a fine blue serge coat, part of a $40 suit, and departed.

Henline was upstairs, and heard the fellow going out as he came down. A few minutes later he noticed the old ragged coat hanging where his best should have been. Sheriff Low was given a piece of similar cloth, and started on a still hunt for that blue coat.

He found a similar one on a man in a restaurant in the city, and nearby got licked for comparing the sample he had to the coat. Several members of the force were escorted about by Henline in his machine during the afternoon and evening, still looking for that coat, but without success.

Baby Girl Arrives

Miss Margaret May, a new 7-pound baby girl, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Hay of this city early this week. Arthur D. says she is going to be a lawyer.

Large Crowd Near Show

A large crowd of Klamath Falls people were out last night to hunt the regular weekly band concert by the Klamath Falls Military band. A great many were in the park, the sidewalks were lined and many automobiles were on the streets.
