CHOPIN CURES A DUMB ITALIAN

ITALIAN TEMPERAMENT, DAILY PROVEN IN WARFARE—VIOLENT EMOTION CURES WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

By ALICE ROBEY (Staff Correspondent United Press)

ROME, Sept. 8.—(By mail)—Crescenzio Michele, who recovered his speech and hearing through the joy of seeing his lieutenant again, and Saturnino Squillacioti, Neapolitan, who regained his speech through hearing a nocturne of Chopin, offer two incidents among the many strange emotional happenings recorded in Italy's warfare.

The Italian temperament seems to be giving daily proof of its actuality. Crescenzio, infantryman, was not actually wounded, but was thrown to the ground and shocked by a shell bursting near him. He lost his hearing and speech, and was taken to the hospital at Toronto. All known means proved fruitless to restore him to his normal condition. One day it was learned that his lieutenant had been brought to the hospital. Thinking to give him pleasure, the infantryman was taken to the officer with whom he had shared the joys and sorrows of warfare. The two threw themselves into each others arms, overcome by emotion. Releasing himself, his face beaming, but covered with tears, the unfortunate soldier began to move his lips. With a supreme effort he forced strange, unnatural sound from his lips. But the next day he regained his speech and hearing.

The case, one of the strangest recorded at the Toronto hospital, is registered as having been a cure due to deep emotion.

The case of Corporal Squillacioti, a Neapolitan, and a lover of music, is another strange one. In violent combat he became suddenly mute. Taken to the hospital of Modena he failed to respond to treatment. One evening a doctor, knowing of the corporal's passionate love for music, began playing a Chopin nocturne on the hospital piano.

The soldier, after the doctor had played the music for several minutes, suddenly began to tremble. Then he sprang to his feet crying "Brava-ancora."

His cure had been effected.

Women Swimming Champions Are to Compete for Prizes

Clare Galligan Josephine Bartlett Lucy Freeman

The big open water carnival for women, to be held by the Philadelphia Turngemeinde, under A. A. U. sanction, at Lafayette, Pa., will be attended by three women champions. Besides Miss Clare Galligan, the 100 and 220-yard title holder, there will start in the one mile swim Miss Lucy Freeman, the middle distance leader, and in the fancy diving contest Miss Josephine Bartlett, invincible in the district, at this graceful sport. Miss Freeman swam 440 yards in 7 minutes 47 seconds, in an 84-yard pool a few days ago, and this time makes her a dangerous rival to the best, for she is comparatively faster at the mile than at the quarter. Miss Bartlett has swept everything before her this season in fancy diving, irrespective of height of board, and should make a winning bid for honors.

A Little Sporting Gossip

By GEORGE E. HOLMES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—In the excitement appertaining to two of the most hectic pennant dashes the United States have witnessed for years, one subject which is always good for a lot of speculation and columns and columns of space, has been overlooked.

What two ball players in the American and National leagues are going to ride around in automobiles next season at the expense of the manufacturer? (Chalmers).

It's a question of sufficient importance to horn into the spotlight, even in these turbulent times.

From this early September angle it appears that the judges are going to be confronted with a mighty large question this season. There wasn't a whole lot of argument to it last year—not with Johnny Evers standing out amid the pennant winning Braves like a headlight in the darkness, and Eddie Collins looming up amongst the winning Athletics, like a "diamond" Jim Brady in a coalbin. But it's a different question in this inflated season.

A lot of things can happen between now and the first of October, including the killing of several contestants' chances, or making several persons contenders. On the theory, however, that everything is going to run along on an even keel from now until the batteries for the October classic are announced, there are several contenders in the National league from which a winner is going to be hard to select.

Grover Cleveland Alexander contains has a bid, and a mighty high one, too, judging from the looks of the National league standing. Young Al Mammaux, Fred Clarke's wiring sensation, also has earned consideration, unless something happens to dim his lustre before the season has closed.

In the American league there are not quite so many complications. Ty Cobb is leading the league in everything except errors, strike outs, and bonehead plays, and unless the famous Georgian jumps in front of an express train or dives and forgets to come up, it's hard to see how he can escape having another car forced on him.

the opinion of most of the critics they do not measure up to the standard of the Peach. Cobb not only is leading the league in hitting, and will be when October comes up—but he is leading in stealing bases and run-getting and stands first among those who hit for more than one base.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

SAYS WE MUST KEEP FEET DRY, AVOID EXPOSURE AND EAT LESS MEAT

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. How you have it pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well. (Paid Advertisement)
