RULERS LIKE TO SEE THEMSELVES

Kaiser, Czar and England's King Just Like Common Folk in Eagerness to Be "Mugged in the Movies"

United Press Service
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—The Kaiser, the czar and King George are "movie" fans. So are other royal princes of Europe. They all like to be "mugged in the movies," and then see themselves in the film.

P. Eifelt of Copenhagen says so. And he ought to know, for he has been taking pictures of kings and queens all his life; first with the camera and then by film.

Prior to his departure for Los Angeles Eifelt told how the Kaiser, czar and King George and all the other big ones abroad pose.

"I have been 'taking' the czar all his life," said Eifelt. "He is a charming fellow. Once when he liked a picture he slapped me on the back and said 'great stuff,' or words to that effect. King George is a good subject, too. He sits quite still. The Kaiser likes to be 'mugged.' But they all want company in the pictures. They don't like to be photographed or filmed alone.

"Altogether, I would rather pose a monarch than a commoner. They 'sit' better. And they like it better."

MILES OF KHAKI WOVEN WEEKLY

CLOTH FOR CLOTHING 300,000 MEN IS WEEKLY PRODUCT—A SMALL ARMY IS ENGAGED IN THE WORK

United Press Service
LONDON, Sept. 23.—Some idea of the number of soldiers England has equipped or now is equipping may be gained by a survey of the work of the great British textile districts, which shows that khaki to equip 300,000 men weekly is now being produced.

Two hundred miles of this yellow material, 56 inches wide, are woven and dyed every seven days throughout the network of industries centered in Leeds and other Yorkshire cities. Government contract tailors on the various scenes are not far behind the mills in putting the cloth into uniforms.

For the past three months the difficult government problems of producing enough khaki to garb the latest recruits has been solved. The textile mills are still turning out their weekly quota and have not yet received a "slow down" order from the war office.

The number of persons engaged in this work is a small army in itself.

Klamath Day Idea Gains Headway at Exposition

(Special to The Herald)
OREGON BUILDING, Exposition, San Francisco, Sept. 23.—Now that the hay crops are in, the grain is being threshed or hauled to market, and the soil tilling period of 1915 is coming to a prosperous close for the farmer, the chief topic of conversation around many a farm house dinner or supper table is the exposition, and the formulating of plans for visiting the Jewel City by the Golden Gate.

The stream of visitors from the farming sections of the West is just beginning to flow into the exposition gates, and from now on through October and November, a considerable portion of exposition guests will be stock men, grain men, fruit growers, dairy men, etc., and their families.

In view of this, the exposition management and the many farming machinery companies who have displays in the exhibit palaces, are making special efforts to attract the attention of the farmer and his family this fall, and to keep them entertained and interested during the whole of their visits. During the month of October, especially, will there be special events of interest to the farmer and ranchman, so much attention being given to this that next month is to be known as "Farmers' Month."

The big feature will of course be the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Livestock Show, which are to be carried out on a scale so stupendous that it will outclass any-

CLUB APPEALS TO RAIL COMMISSION

COMMERCIAL CLUB SENDS LETTER TO RAILWAY COMMISSION TO SECURE EXTENSION OF THE S. P. LINES

The Commercial Club today sent a letter to the State Railway Commission to appeal to them to hasten the construction of a railway that would connect Klamath Falls through to northern points. Just what good the letter will do is unknown, but the Commercial Club knows of one instance where this method of getting railway accommodation was a success.

Yesterday, in an editorial in the Herald, a dispatch from San Francisco was copied and commented upon. It announced that the California commission had instructed the Santa Fe railway to build a line connecting Temecula and Oceanside. And according to members of the Commercial Club, what can be done with the Santa Fe can be done with the Southern Pacific.

"DOPE" CAUSES MEMORY LAPSE

HESPERIAN AND FRYE DISPUTES STRAIGHTENED

GERMANS CLAIM HESPERIAN STRUCK A MINE

Will Pay for Frye—Expert Appointed to Determine Loss—Consensus Are Secured Regarding Attack on American Ships Carrying Contraband—Claim No Treaties Have Been Broken—Woods' Body Found

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23.—The state department received a note from Berlin regarding the ship Frye. Germany makes concessions regarding attacks on American ships carrying contraband, and consents to arbitrate the Frye case. It named an expert, Dr. Kalpaic, to determine the pecuniary loss. Germany wouldn't acknowledge, however, that the sinking of the ship violated any treaty. The note suggested a settlement of the dispute later by arbitration.

United Press Service
BERLIN, Sept. 23.—The admiralty has submitted to the foreign office a memorial declaring a submarine did not attack the Hesperian. It suggests that possibly it struck a mine instead of the submarine.

The submarine commanders reported scores of mines floating on the Irish sea.

TITANIC PLANTS ON WAY TO FAIRS

TWELVE-POUND TURNIPS IN VEG-ETABLE DISPLAY AT COMMERCIAL CLUB ROOMS—CAME FROM MERRILL

Although twenty-five automobiles went to Merrill for the district fair, only a small per cent of the population could get there at best. So part of the fair has been brought to Klamath Falls.

Down in the Commercial Club rooms are vegetables of unheard size. There are turnips of such magnitude that a family could live on one of them for a week—12 pounds, if an ounce. There are beets that look like octopuses. Potatoes, grains, Sudan grass, pumpkins, eggplant and strange hybrids of monstrous size and unusual quality are on display.

But they won't be here very long. Tomorrow they are to be sent to various fairs to amuse people more unused to mammoth vegetables.

Will Prevent Humiliation
United Press Service
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 23.—Boards of county supervisors will not be permitted hereafter to give out for publication names of children who receive state aid upon the county indigent list, the state board of control has ordered. "By such publication," writes the board, "children are subjected to humiliation which can only affect their future. It results in being taunted by school mates."
