

LONDON IS WHITE HOT OVER WORST AERIAL RAID

"RAID FOR RAID" IS NOW THE SLOGAN

Will Fight Enemy by Holding German Towns, According to Resolution of Mass Meeting—"Only Way to Hit Enemy is to Strike as He Struck," Says London Globe. Many Believe Big Raid Yet to Come

United Press Service
LONDON, Oct. 14.—Forty-one were killed and 101 wounded in last night's Zeppelin raid, according to the official announcement. This brings the total up to 167 slain and 426 wounded in Zeppelin raids on this city.

Of last night's raid, twenty-seven of the slain were men. Nine women and five children constituted the remainder. Of the wounded, sixty-four were men, thirty were women and seven were children.

A mass meeting of the citizens was held, and resolutions adopted demanding that the government announce a policy of reprisal on German towns.

"Raid for raid" the London Globe advised. "The only way is to hit the enemy as he struck."

A resolution of the government's delay in providing better defense against aerial attacks filled the newspapers.

Last night's raid, according to all reports, was the worst since the beginning of the war. Still the government has not devised adequate defense. But it is not such raids as last night that the people of London fear.

Military experts say that the Germans are making a complex study of air currents, and some night—not so far away—will Germany's whole Zeppelin fleet make a raid on London. Just what this would mean is beyond the power of the imagination, because each of these huge air ships can carry tons of explosives.

Many believe that these raids are only scouting expeditions, and that most of the Zeppelin fleet has never been sent out.

Consul General Skinner has notified Washington that there were no Americans killed in last night's Zeppelin raid.

FAIR EXCURSION DEALT DEATHBLOW

TELEGRAM FROM CHAS. S. FEE SEALS FATE OF PLANNED TRIP TO THE EXPOSITION AND THE KLAMATH DAY PROGRAM

Chamber of Commerce: Impossible to change tariff governing party move so as to permit Chamber of Commerce to return individually.
CHAS. S. FEE

This is the telegram received this morning by the Commercial Club that sealed the fate of an excursion to the fair, and, consequently, Klamath Day. Neither will take place.

What interfered with the first excursion planned, the one-way-fare, was that everyone had to return on the same train. In a party of a hundred, not over half could come on the same day, as some wanted to stay a week and some two weeks. So the Commercial Club forsook this plan and tried to secure a fare-and-a-third rate and the privilege of each ticket buyer to come home when he chose. The answer to this request is the telegram above.

FARMERS' JINKS START TONIGHT

BANQUET AND DANCE AT WHITE PELICAN MARKS BEGINNING OF FESTIVITIES—REST ROOM HAS MANY GUESTS

This is the first big day of Buyers' Week. Farmers from all parts of the county, particularly to the east, are coming in to Klamath Falls to buy their winter supplies. The rest room has many visitors hourly.

"I think this Buyers' Week is a great thing," said one of the merchants this morning. "It shows that the farming people—whose co-operation is necessary to the success of a city—and the business men can get together for mutual advantage."

Oregon Building Wins World-Wide Approval

(Herald Special Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Five or six different features contribute most to the popularity of the Oregon building at the exposition. One of these is the Art Room on the second floor, that room showing pottery made in Oregon, of Oregon clay, and by Oregon artists—a room showing rugs, willow furniture, light fixtures, wall and window hangings, art glass, toys, all made of Oregon materials, made in Oregon and by Oregon craftsmen. And there are pictures, of course, painted by Oregon artists, and photographs and sculpturings by Oregon people of culture, taste and skill. This is the wonderfully beautiful room, 25x100, developed by Allen Eaton of Eugene. Just how much this room has added to the popularity of the building scarcely admits of measurement, but it is the one special feature that keeps record of what enthusiastic people have to say after they have inspected it. While making the rounds of the building the other day the writer of this happened upon the register kept in the Art Room. By the way, that register itself is a work of art, made of Oregon paper and by Oregon craftsmen. Beside the space for the name and address of the person registering is a space labeled "Remarks," and this column proved of tremendous interest. The book contains hundreds of names, and few who register fail to make "remarks." These are, invariably so complimentary, so spontaneous and enthusiastic that Oregonians will surely find some of them as much interest as did the writer, and it also seems that Mr. Eaton and the exhibitors in the Art Room who are distributed over the whole of Oregon, are entitled to the recognition that publication of these "remarks" would be. For instance:

A group of San Francisco people at the building at different times expressed themselves as follows: "It appeals to me." "Very fine exhibit

JACOBS FINDS NEW OPTIMISM

ON RETURN FROM EXPOSITION BOOSTER FINDS NEW SPIRIT AS RESULT OF RAILROAD NEWS.

Louis Jacobs, who with his family has just returned from the exposition, has found in Klamath Falls a new optimism on account of the railroad news. As all business men know, Mr. Jacobs was one of the foremost in securing co-operation with the Portland Chamber of Commerce that resulted in the railway movement.

"It means the development of Klamath county," said Mr. Jacobs. "I learned at the exposition, after comparing Klamath products with those of other sections, that we have one of the greatest farming sections in the West. While there I learned, also, through the San Francisco papers, definite knowledge of Strahorn's plan, which means that this great farming section of ours at last can be developed."

"This good news shows that when Klamath county people get together on an issue, they can bring results. It is my plan to get them together again—to secure other needed projects to this county. One of the greatest things we need is a meat packing plant to handle Klamath county's enormous stock output."

KLAMATH FLOUR REACHES BELGIUM

REPLY IS RECEIVED BY CAREY RAMSBY TO NOTE SENT IN A SACK OF FLOUR LAST JANUARY TO UNFORTUNATE COUNTRY

Last January a carload of flour contributed by the citizens was sent from Klamath Falls for the relief of the suffering Belgians. While it was presumed that these supplies had reached their proper destination, no word had been heard from the shipment until last evening.

C. M. Ramsby, who assisted in packing the flour at the Klamath Falls roller mills, inserted a note and a small coin in one of the sacks, and last evening he received a postal card from Belgium with the following message:

"In a sack of flour received on the 8th of May and not opened until today, we have found your writing dated January 2th, asking for a postal card. Though we are not able to correspond directly with the United States, I hasten to gratify your desire by transmitting to the noble citizens of the free and great republic the grateful acknowledgment of the little Belgians for the generous assistance granted in those very difficult moments. Friendly yours,
"ALPH AERRION."

The card was dated August 14th, 1915, and mailed at Verviers, Belgium. A photograph of the city appears on the reverse side of the postal card. The card was written in English, although the writing had a foreign appearance.

LEE LEADS THE BOWLING BUNCH

HANGS UP A HIGH SCORE FOR THE REST TO SHOOT AT, AND IT WILL TAKE A GOOD ONE TO PASS HIM

Will Lee knows the art of demonstrating automobiles. Bill also knows how to bowl, and he clearly demonstrated this fact by hanging up a score of 228 for the boys to shoot at. Up to this time the best of the local rollers have failed to take it down. However, the bowlers are rounding into form, and some good scores are being made daily, below is a list of some of the bowlers and scores over the 300 mark:

- Will Lee 228
- Glen Jester 219
- Al Romele 216
- Joe Kent 215
- Claude Maxwell 213
- Willard Miller 212
- Don Dale 209
- Fred Myers 209
- J. H. Carnahan 205
- F. M. Upp 205
- Will Hura 202

Mrs. Lee Habies holds high score among the lady bowlers, with 213.

In the duck pin events Jimmy Foster has broken last season's record with a score of 135. The result of this week's doubles are in doubt, as some of the best teams entered have not rolled up to date.

Farmers Can Secure Tickets.

In case any of the visitors from the county have been overlooked and have not secured tickets for the banquet at the White Pelican hotel this evening, they are requested to call on any of the merchants with whom they have been doing business and secure tickets. The banquet and dance following is free, and is given by the Merchants Association for the entertainment of the farmers, who should not fail to secure tickets from some of the stores belonging to the association.

CHOOSE MELHASE STUDENT PREXY

JUNIORS GET MOST OFFICES AWAY FROM SENIORS IN HIGH SCHOOL ELECTION—GIRLS RESIGN TO AID CLASS

The junior candidate for the presidency of the student body, Melhase, was elected over the senior candidate, Dorr, by six votes. Melhase got 77, and Dorr 71.

The election was one of the most hotly contested in the history of the high school. The two upper classes, seniors and juniors, were both resolved to put their members into office. The juniors had the largest numbers, and won out for both the presidency and vice presidency. One hundred and fifty votes were cast.

One interesting phase of the election was the resignation from the candidacy for secretary and treasurer of four girls. They were nominated, in the report, by seniors, who were trying to split the junior vote so that seniors might be elected. Margaret Worden, Marjorie Dolsell and Clara Calkins resigned their candidacy for secretary and Claudia Spink for treasurer.

Houston, a junior, received eighty-five votes for vice president in the senior representative. One, sixty-three. Ball, a junior, was elected secretary over a senior, Griffith. The vote stood 68 to 62.

Avery was chosen manager of football over Motoschbacher. Avery received eighty-one votes to his opponent's sixty-two. Both men are seniors. Fry, a senior, defeated a junior for treasurer. Fry got eighty-two votes.
