SOUND DOCTRINE

A COMMUNITY buy-at-home campaign is to the catalog houses "like a red rag to a bull"; they attack it from every angle. For years their chief argument has been that they undersell the local retailer. That fallacy, however, has been exploded, and retailers in hundreds of communities have demonstrated their ability to get and hold the business in open competition with mail order concerns.

Catalog houses claim that their great buying power and low cost of doing business enables them to undersell local retailers. The fact is that competition among manufacturers themselves keep their prices on general staple merchandise so low that the difference between their lowest price to the largest buyer and their highest price to the smallest buyer is so slight as not to affect the price to the ultimate consumer.

The fallacy that great size always means economic operation also has been exploded, and business engineers now recognize that personal efficiency is best promoted by personal interest, such as a proprietor feels in his own business; while the less there is of individual personal interest of those conducting a business—that is to say, the larger the business becomes and the more paid employees it has—the less the efficiency and the greater the waste.

The waste in loss, breakage and other damage that occurs in the millions of small mail order shipments is in itself a heavy burden on that business, while the loss from returned goods is another enormous tax that the retail merchant does not have to pay. Dissatisfaction with mail order purchases occurs, of course, in thousands of cases though the goods are not returned. That is a tax the consumer has to pay that would not be imposed upon him if he bought of his home merchant after having examined the goods.

Scattered Shots

A GRANTS PASS COURIER headline informs readers that "W. B. Sherman is awarded water right at Hell Gate." If he can get the gate, though, he ought to make a fortune.

A CANYASS FAILS to find any cry of "poor business" here—at least among the business houses who use the Herald's advertising columns.

KLAMATH IS NOT a fruit exporting section, but the trains moving out of here are all loaded heavily with lumber, livestock and grain, three commodities that will always be in demand, are not of a perishable nature, and will bring a price sufficient to place on Klamath tables the best fruit that can be grown anywhere.

FROM THE announcement of the sinking of the E-20, we are reminded that in submarining, those that go down do not always come up.

THOSE PEOPLE who shout about the need of co-operation in Klamath have a chance to show the sincerity of their talk, for we have a good, live Commercial Club, and a membership campaign is now being carried on. No man who is in any way interested in seeing this section progress can afford to stay out.

ABSTEMIOUS RESOLUTIONS will be more popular than ever on the coming New Year's Eve, as there are several wise ones who figure that if they climb on the water wagon then, there will be no occasion for them to drop the whip and get off to pick it up.

Yew is given the preference over all other American wood in the manufacture of archery bows. This tree occurs in the coast region from Southern Alaska to Northern California. It is also found to some extent in the Cascade Range of Oregon and Washington, and in the mountains of Montana and Northern Idaho.

French "Caudron" Greatest 'Plane

Jules Vedrines

The French, who have excelled in aeroplanes since the Wright brothers invented them, have produced another wonder in the "Caudron," an aeroplane with two engines and two propellers. It is the fastest heavier than air machine made. Jules Vedrines, one of the famous aviators of France,

A nice time was enjoyed at Mr. and Mrs. H. Hill's new residence on the lake front at Shippington last Saturday night, when the young folks of Shippington and Pelican City met and danced until the small hours of the morning. Supper was served by the hostess to about fifty guests.

The Shippington Sewing Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. O. Eighberger. Those present were Mrs. B. K. Yancy, Mrs. H. Putman, Mrs. H. Hill, Mrs. H. Lockwood, Mrs. E. V. Fennell, Miss Francis Waldron, Miss Grace Brown and Mrs. H. Clevenger. The afternoon was spent in needlework and a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

The eighth grade domestic science classes from the Pelican City and the Riverside schools served a duck luncheon to the board of education Wednesday afternoon in the domestic science room of the Central school. The table was prettily decorated in autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, and the occasion was a remarkable success in every way, demonstrating the value of the domestic science work. The entire class helped to prepare the luncheon, but five girls were chosen to help serve. The hostess was Mariam Martin, the cooks were Carmel Miller and Nellie Lewis, and the waitresses were Margaret Upp and Bertha Owens. The menu follows: Soup Cream of Tomato and Croutons Roast Duck Creamed Potatoes Hot Biscuits Spiced Grapes Green Tomato Pickles Fruit Salad and Cheese Wafers Peaches Chocolate Cake Coffee

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church met Thursday and elected officers for the coming year. Those elected are Mrs. O. C. Applegate, president; Mrs. Geo. A. Wirtz, vice president; Mrs. E. Telford, secretary; Mrs. J. L. Beckley, treasurer. The retiring officers are Mrs. D. F. Arnold, president; Mrs. Rose Hilton, vice president; Mrs. Perry Kanatser, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Seehorn, treasurer.

A highly enjoyable meeting of the Monday Club, a local musical organization, was held this week at the home of Mrs. Fred Cofer, on Eighth

What the War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. MASON (Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Lord Davenport's warning to the house of lords that Britain will come to bankruptcy if the present financial pace is maintained should not be taken too seriously. Finance of all the belligerents, as a matter of fact, are disquieting, chiefly from the enormous taxes which accumulating debts will impose.

England's bankruptcy is still very distant. In fact, the lord himself pointed out that the next loan, and the next, might be met, though he expressed fear for some of the latter ones. It is probable that Davenport's fear is not that Great Britain will repudiate her indebtedness, but that the wealthy must pay taxes to prevent bankruptcy. Laborites regard Davenport as one of the leading reactionaries.

Lord Northcliffe recently said that after the war, the poor of England will be richer and the rich poorer. As a matter of fact, a certain class of millionaires are beginning to revolt at the costliness of the war. They realize the permanent consequences to their bank accounts. This may compel governmental economy, and at the same time, their discomfiture may prove to be a great factor toward forcing peace.

It is now believed that Egypt is the birthplace of the original ball game. How it was played history does not record. Recent excavations made near Cairo have brought to light a number of small balls, some of leather and others of wood, dating back to at least 2,000 B. C. These are the oldest balls of this sort known.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY MARGARET MASON (Written for the United Press)

Hip, hip, hurrah! No more the stay will bind your hips unduly; They're free once more With curves galore, And most becoming, truly.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—You can't put an 1880 bodice on a 1915 figure with any great success. Hence, since femininity just must wear these adorable little boned and pointed bodices, it is up to femininity to reconstruct the feminine form divine. Special corsets to make the firm foundation for this work of reconstruction are now on the market and the spot.

They differ in three vital points, or perhaps we should say curves, from "little old last year's" stays. They are two and three inches higher in the bust, smaller and more curved at the waist, and most amazing of all, they are shorter and less boned over the hip, with what is called a "free hip" finish.

Doesn't it just take your breath away to think that you are going to have fashion on your hip again? What will probably take your breath a trifle more, however, is when you pull on your 1915 corset strings to get the new curved-in waist effect. Don't let anybody else string you, for it's going to be a mighty hard task. Let there be no waste of energy in the pull, either, or there will be no waist of modish dimensions in the corsets.

Front lace corsets are gaining ever increasing popularity because of their greater comfort, as well as their good lines. They are most successful with medium heavy figures. For the truly sweet the back lace effects are the most approved models. Simplicity of line and adornment is the keynote of the new corsets, and they are staid stays indeed.

Frills of lace and ornate trimmings are lacking, but in many exquisite pale tints of silk broche are the corsets evolved in their entirety. Where once all save white or flesh-tinted corsets were frowned upon by the fashionably elect, now maize, azure, Nile green, mauve, gray, apricot and even black ones are clasped to most fastidious bosoms.

Verily, with the new high lace corsets either front or back; and the new high lace boots, back or side, the sartorial success of this season's dame hangs on a string. She starts it with a corset lace and ends up with a shoestring.

Persian carpets were formerly dyed with indigo, madder or vine leaves, and from these materials shades were evolved that were impervious to the action of sunlight. Aniline dyes, which have been much used in recent years, give colors which fade much more rapidly.

Closely related to yeast, fungi discovered in breweries by a Japanese scientist have been found to dye silk a beautiful rose color, but to be harmless when used in the manufacture of beer.

ARANT CASE TO SUPREME COURT

HIGHEST TRIBUNAL WILL DECIDE MERITS OF LONG CONTESTED CRATER LAKE PARK SUPERINTENDENCY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The supreme court of the United States will determine whether W. Frank Arant was illegally removed as superintendent of Crater Lake Park, the district court of appeals having certified this case to the highest tribunal for decision.

On behalf of the government the supreme court is also asked to determine whether, having right to be restored to office, Mr. Arant did not forfeit that right by waiting nearly two years before bringing suit for reinstatement. He asserts he has the protection of the civil service law. The secretary of the interior asserted Mr. Arant was not a civil service appointee, and could therefore be removed at will of the secretary of the interior. The lower court decided against Mr. Arant.

Who Put the Clam in Klamath

Dearest Public: If you have put it by for a rainy day you'd better get it out again, as the rain is here. If its frame is good you'd better have it framed. I have a nice line of covers at very reasonable prices. Good umbrellas lend class to your appearance.

A fifty dollar dress and a two dollar umbrella don't go together and if they do you look like—well, pretty rotten.

Bob-o-links in silver and gold. The latest from New York in ladies' handbags. Diamonds of class in most any size. New stock of slavery rings—I mean wedding rings. Why was Klamath spelled with a K?

Because it was too far for the Indians to go to get the clam. If you can't come send me your photograph and I'll wear it over my heart and if it gives me the heart burn I'll wear it on the other side for a liver pad.

You should have your watches and clocks cleaned and oiled now as winter's cold will make them stop. Remember the place between the earth and the heavens on the wrong side of Main street, number 511.
