TEUTONIC PLOT CHARGES TALKED OF BY CABINET

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES STILL PROBING

Instead of Asking for Recall of Diplomats Who Are Involved, Government Wishes to Bring Criminal Action Against Them, Should the Charges Be Found True—Evidence to Be Submitted to a Grand Jury.

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—A discussion of recent pro-German plot stories, dynamite plots and other anti-American actions was the chief feature of a two-hour session of the cabinet today.

It is understood that Attorney General Gregory stated the state department has not as yet presented him with its full findings in the stories involving Alexander von Nuber, Austrian consul general at New York city.

This afternoon it was learned authoritatively that the state department is delaying diplomatic action against von Nuber and other foreign diplomats, preferring to bring criminal prosecution if it is proven that they are guilty of anti-American acts.

The government, it is stated, has long had sufficient evidence regarding Nuber's activities to warrant his recall, and also the recall of other Austro-German officials in this country.

The evidence secured by the secret service in some of the actions is soon to be submitted to a federal grand jury by the department of justice.

Wealthy Couple Dead in Hotel

Harry C. Rupert shot his beautiful young wife to death in a New York hotel the other day after they had a quarrel for several hours. The Ruperts were a very well known family of Richmond, and the husband had made considerable money in the real estate business. Mrs. Rupert had long been jealous of her husband, and that had caused him to sell out with the purpose of moving to California. They were in New York on their way there, and had another quarrel. After shooting his wife, Rupert turned the weapon against himself and ended his own life.

Effect of Low Tariff Is Now Plainly Seen

(Herald Special Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—That the depleted condition of the treasury is due to reduced tariff rates rather than diminished importations, is clearly shown by statistics which disprove the following statement recently made by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo:

"Because of the decrease of imports on account of the war, we have had an enormous deficit. This deficit would have been vastly larger, however, if the old tariff bill had been depended upon. At least $150,000,000 would have been added to the deficit had the country depended on the old bill."

That Mr. McAdoo, ignorantly or intentionally, misstated the facts will be apparent when the records of his own department are considered.

For the nine months of the present year ended September, 1915, there were imported into the United States goods to the value of $1,302,000,000, in spite of the war. Of these imports the government realized revenue in the sum of $148,324,957, or an average rate of duty on all goods imported for this period of but 11.3 per cent—about as close to free trade as could be desired by the most ardent free trader.

Tickets for Banquet Are Being Sold Rapidly Around Klamath

Robert E. Strahorn will be in Klamath Falls tomorrow night. The Commercial Club today received a telephone message to this effect from Circuit Judge Bernard Daly of Lakeview, so the time for Klamath county's big banquet and reception is set for Monday night.

Tickets were placed on sale today, and the way they are selling shows that Klamath people will make the affair the biggest and most successful in the history of Southern Oregon—the liveliest part of the state. Tickets can be secured from Fred Fleet or L. Jacobs, or by calling at the club rooms.

The number of tickets on sale is limited, owing to the service capacity of the White Pelican hotel dining room. Therefore, it behooves those desiring to attend to lose no time in getting the necessary card, for the banquet is to be "right" from soup to nuts, with a class of service and a menu that will long be remembered.

According to Judge Daly, people are coming in from all parts of Lake county for tonight's banquet at Lakeview. He intimates that his home town will wear a crimson coat of paint before the night is over. Daly also tells of a great meet at Paisley last night, attended by the whole countryside, and effervescent with a remarkable spirit of optimism.

Klamath county's delegation reached Lakeview late this afternoon, and is joining in the fun. A delegation from Lakeview plans to come to Klamath Falls for Monday night's big blowout, and show Klamath that Lake is with her.

Now that it is definitely known that Strahorn and the Portland business men and financiers accompanying him are to be in Klamath Falls tomorrow night, plans for their entertainment are proceeding rapidly toward tangibility. Their stay here is to be made a period of their lives they will always remember.

Sunday morning the visitors are to be given a little bit of the answer to "why is Klamath?" and an opportunity to learn what there is here to make it highly profitable to run the Oregon, California and Eastern Railway here just as soon as possible.

This will be by means of an automobile trip down through the richly productive Merrill section. The fields may not be green with alfalfa at this season, or filled with grain ready for harvest, but at a time when other sections look desolate, the visitors will see the big alfalfa stacks, the fat cattle, the sleek dairy herds, and the other staple resources that put money in circulation in Klamath county and are always sought by outsiders at a good price.

Stops will be made at the Merrill ranch and the Adams ranch among others, and it is believed that at some point the visitors will be treated to one of those far-famed Klamath county ranch dinners, gathering around a big table with the ranch-owner and the hired hands, and enjoying the best meat and vegetables ever produced.

Monday night will be the climax of the celebration. That is the date for the big banquet, to which every man and woman in the county is bidden to come, dressed in their ordinary clothes. This is to be strictly an informal gathering. Instead of social chatter, the talks, etc., are to be along the line of serious development, and at this time, Klamath people and the visitors are to take each other's measure, and each will learn of the sincerity of the other in its support of the railway enterprise. Conscription Next!

Lord Derby, with the consent of Premier Asquith of Great Britain, has issued a statement in which conscription is threatened for November 30th. He was given authority some time ago to try out a plan for volunteer enlistment, but it has not proved as successful as he hoped. He now says unless the men physically fit come forward in sufficient numbers by November 30th conscription will be resorted to by England.

FARM UNITS ARE BEING SURVEYED

RECLAMATION SERVICE ENGINEER PARTIES DETERMINING IRRIGABLE AREA OF SECOND UNIT FARMS

The surveying crew of the reclamation service are busily engaged at present in surveying the farm units of the second unit of the project. The sub-divisions are being surveyed to determine the number of irrigable acres in each tract.

Besides the work in the second unit government surveyors are also operating in the Sand Hollow country, which is one of the future irrigation districts under the project. The crews are gathering preliminary data as to canal lines, etc., on which the government can base its estimates.

Where Enlarged Land Entries Are Possible

The following has been received from Fred F. Crossmiller, receiver of the land office at Lakeview, in response to a telephonic inquiry from the Herald as to the location of the 90,000 acres of Klamath county land just designated by the interior department as open to settlement in 250 acre tracts: In reply to your inquiry by phone today you are advised that parts of the following townships have been designated as being subject to entry under the enlarged homestead act:

ROME, Nov. 19.—Rumania's part in the war hangs largely upon the decision reached at today's session of the cabinet. This meeting was called unexpectedly this morning by King Ferdinand, and its outcome is anxiously awaited all over Europe.

Politicians, diplomats and military authorities of Rumania, it is reported, agree that neutrality is no longer possible.

Which side Rumania will join is an uncertain issue. The king's advisers are pro-German in their attitude, while the people favor not so much the allies, but Russia.

Fearing the decision may be unfavorable, the Austrians and Rumanians are both reported massing troops on their respective borders.

The Italian government will issue passports to the Austrian and German cardinals to enable them to attend the consistory at the Vatican in December. This decision is regarded as another peace move.
