MAKE THE FARM HOME MORE ATTRACTIVE

WHY DO the young men and the young women on the average farm insist on leaving the rural home to go to the larger towns or cities at the first opportunity, rather than to contend to follow the footsteps of their parents, and continue to make their home on the farm?

This is a question the solution of which is of vital interest to the lumber trade, for as rural communities decrease in population the business of the retail lumber dealer suffers.

What more important subject could engage the attention of the Retail Lumbermen's Association this winter than that of how to bring about better living conditions in the farm homes and interest the young people and the farm mothers in the work of community building?

The American Lumberman will soon begin a series of articles on this subject, written from the standpoint of the woman on the farm and her place in community development.

The Retail Lumbermen's Associations that make this a prominent subject on their convention programs will be doing a real service to their members in pointing the way toward better rural conditions, a better citizenship and a more prosperous country.

ERUPTION OF MT. LASSEN PREDICTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Mt. Lassen is due for a real big eruption, according to the calculations of Professor T. Jagger, volcano expert of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who has been in Hawaii for the last four years observing the actions of the Hawaiian volcanoes. He said:

Mt. Lassen is the youngest of volcanoes. I am certain from the reports I have received that it will experience a real lava flow in the near future. Evidence of such former flows have already been presented at a date not later than 200 years ago.

DOWN ON THE FARM

Says old man Haskins, with a frown. That there ain't much use movin' to town, An' crowdin' into a four-room flat Where there ain't nuff room to hang your hat.

Where eggs cost about a nicker a-piece An' butter is about like axel grease. We gotta admit there's a lot of charm In livin' right out on the good old farm.

When the wife and children want to go An' see a good movin' picture show; When they're showin' a particular fancy reel I kin git 'em there quick in the oast-mobille.

The town folks ain't got nothin' on us, In spite of all their show and fuss. We got plumbin' all through out place An' fine washstands for your hands An' an' face.

A bathtub, too, we can fill right quick, An' we don't have to go jump in the creek.

So fur as the day's news is concerned There's dermed few things we haven't learned About as sudden as one-two-three, For we've got a party phone, you see, An' we're never late gettin' out mail, For the rural delivery never fails.

We do all the things the city folks do, Our children go to the colleges, too, An' there isn't a darned new-fangled idee

That we don't grab as quick as quick can be.

We've got all the latest in machines, We git all the high-toned magazines. We've got new thoughts in our old think tank

An' quite a lot of dough in the city bank.

When it comes to eat, why, we have to laff; We have got them all skinned by a mile and a half. For "rubes" you can no longer put us down— "Rubes" nowadays are all livin' in town. —Exchange.

All Tired Out

Hundreds More in Klamath Falls in the Same Plight

Tired all the time; weary and worn out day and night; back aches; head aches; your kidneys are probably weakened. You should help them do their work. Let one who knows tell you how.

Frank Longwill, 103 S. Mistletoe street, Medford, Ore., says: "I had severe, sharp pains in my back, felt tired, languid and run down all the time. The kidney secretions were unnatural and too frequent in passage. My rest was badly broken at night. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of all symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. I have had no complaint since."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Longwill had. Foster-Milburn Co., props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Paid Advertisement)

Women Workers Allege War Lords Drive Them

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Oct. 9.—(By Ma)—

Women munition workers of England say they are being sweated and that their patriotism is being exploited to satisfy employers' greed. The formal charge of the women, just filed with the labor board, add to the labor middle in the United Kingdom. The women usually are not affiliated with regular trade unions, whose domain they have invaded, but in this case their charges coincide with the allegations of the laboring men. The English working women, like the men, persist in their efforts to get a hearing when the life of the nation is at stake, they say, because although they declare themselves patriotic, they cannot permit their patriotism to be exploited.

While the manufacturers grow rich out of government war contracts, the working women insist their wages remain unincreased while the cost of living is constantly ascending. The men charge this, too; and the women add that their employers are taking advantage of their inexperience to "sweat" them.

One advantage the women have is that government boards were appointed to investigate conditions under which they might be called upon to work. These boards have responded to the cry for help, and are, after investigation, lending the weight of their authority to the protests.

The complaints center largely in the Manchester district, where thousands of women are employed and hundreds are being added weekly. It was found that many factories are installing lighter machinery for the women, but are not paying them men's wages, nor nearly so much.

The wages were found to vary from a maximum of about $5 for a 48-hour week down to $2.50 for a 51-hour week. Despite the minimum wage of 7 cents an hour fixed, many concerns paid less.

The women demand factory canteens, so the women night workers may have a hot meal. A demand is also made for a shift schedule that will not permit a woman to work more than eight hours at a time.

Another protest was against heavy work being given to the women. One young girl handled an 18-pound shell every minute throughout the day, other girls were found working on rough cast shells weighing 25 pounds. The report of the government's committee was that women could not be employed on heavy physical work of the period of hours now required unless they were paid sufficiently to permit of proper food and nourishment.

WESTWOOD RATE MAY BE RAISED

RAILROAD COMMISSION LOOKING INTO FACTS IN CONNECTION WITH LOW TARIFF FROM BIG LUMBER PLANT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Commissioners Devlin and Loveland at the lumber rate hearing granted the application of George D. Squires on behalf of the railroads that the hearing should go over until December 8th to afford an opportunity to W. F.

Taylor to reach some arrangement with President Walker of the Westwood Lumber company.

This corporation enjoys a very low interstate rate, fixed by the interstate commerce commission, and Squires contended that it was a prerequisite to a revision of the California rates that this rate should be increased.
