One of the most successful church affairs held this winter was the annual bazaar of the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church. This was held yesterday afternoon in the White building, and from the sale of fancy work, etc., a total of $153 was cleared. The demand for needlework for Christmas presents and for the hand-painted china and other articles suitable for gifts was very keen, so the ladies in charge of the booths were busy all day. The sale of cooked foods also proved remunerative, as there was a wide assortment of splendid delicacies offered at this time.
