Town Topics

In on Business.
Tia Griffith was in from down the valley today, attending to business matters.

Around With a Cane.

Will S. Worden is around, but still with a cane, as a result of an attack of sciatic rheumatism.

Free Admissions for Workers.

The Philanthropic Department of the Library Club announces that in addition to giving a $5 prize to the boy or girl selling the most tickets to "The Follies," a free admission will be given each child selling ten tickets.

Musicals Tonight.

There is much local interest in the Edison concert to be given this evening at the Klamath Falls Music House. A well arranged program of Edison numbers has been prepared by Professor Wirtz, and the public is invited.

Shopping in San Francisco

For Grafonolas would give you practically no more to choose from than we have on our floor. We are probably one of only two or three stores on the Coast that can give immediate delivery of the Satin Walnut Leader Grafonola. No other machine on the market is made in this wood within $50 of the price.

Do not delay examining this Grafonola before Christmas.

Shepherd Piano Depot

Moving Pictures

"Neal of the Navy," the new Pathe serial beginning at the Orpheus Friday night, sets a pace that will be hard to beat. To the story of William Hamilton Osborn is added a bit of realism such as happens only at rare intervals in the picture world. Some startling views of the eruption of Mt. Pelee are shown in the first installment. The theme is based on the separation of a family through the confusion attendant on the eruption of the volcano. The father of a little girl baby is cast up by the sea on a barren shore with some associates, while the child and mother are taken on board a vessel putting out to sea to escape the dangers of the shores of the Island of Martinique. Fourteen chapters of two reels each will complete this serial, and promises to surpass many of the serials now being shown. A "J. Rufus Wallingford" series will also be shown with this picture, which will make the bill doubly interesting. Every Friday and Saturday. 16-2t

"The Spoilers" showed at the Star last night to a "S. R. O." house. This is proof enough as to what a remarkable production this one is, as last night was the fourth exhibition here. It will be shown tonight for the last time, and will be shown on Saturday afternoon for a matinee, enabling the school children to witness it.
