"WHERE THE LADIES SHOP"

The Old Year's Advice to the New

A copy of Polonius Old Year's advice to his son, Laertes Nyneteen Sixteen was presented to the Herald by Father Time late today. It reads:

"My son, I stand upon the threshold of oblivion, wherein I shall vanish never to return. My legacy to you is a sadly disorganized world; and I trust that you will faithfully and better administer it than have I. You will have many things to contend with, but take them easy.

A menagerie, led by a donkey, an elephant and a bull moose will chase the "winged rooster of victory" up and down your days to the jaws of November. Heed them not.

Men with peace missions, they don't know what to do with will—try to settle a war being fought for reasons no one has discovered. Let them go.

The Panama Canal may slide all over South America and Colonel Goethal's conversation will sound like a frequent reference to the Gatun dam. Let them alone.

Cupid may pretend to scorn romance and be engrossed in eugenics. Tell him that Europe needs babies.

Let the War Dogs chase their own tails until the Peace Dove sheds some of its courtplaster. Then cautiously look about and see what you can do to fix things up.

Remember that styles, suffrage, the tariff and sample mustaches you have always with you. Do the best you can with all these things and remember that however powerful and able you feel in this your youth, on the 38th day of your reign you will be weary and old and worn.

Your robes, once white, will be dragged and torn and stained, as flapping rags about your withered legs. Your hand palsied, your step halt, your eyes dim, you will die; and the world will go on.

So take it easy and don't get excited. If you sigh for a place in the sun, let it be on a park bench on a summer afternoon.

Do these things in calm judgment and you may accomplish more than you expect.

The guests came attired in costumes of the kind found only in the Nursery Rhymes books, and they were greeted with a belated Christmas tree. It was a well laden tree, and Faye Hogue as Miss Santa distributed presents to each guest. Mrs. Hogue was "Mother Goose," and the hours passed quickly as the young people enjoyed games, music, etc., refreshments being served late in the evening.

Junior Class No. 5 of the Presbyter-an Sunday school was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Miss Harriet Fink at her home on Klamath avenue. Miss Fink was assisted by Miss Mary Ball, teacher of the class. Those present were Donald Loomis, Johnnie Verlinger, Buford Hargus, Leonard Bishop, Roger Montgomery, Jack Sutton, Howard Bamber and John Kuykendall. The youngsters enjoyed various games during the afternoon, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. John Y. Johnson was hostess to a few friends Thursday, the guests spending the afternoon in needlework, following which refreshments were served. Present were Mrs. Louis Van Bellen, Mrs. Phillip J. Sinnott, Mrs. Albrecht Oehler, Mrs. Joseph P. Brett and Miss Gertrude Sealey.

versary of J. V. Houston's annual mask ball, and John is slated because it was a bigger success than ever before. The attendance of maskers was big, the costumes were fine, the spectators many or more than ever before, and last, but not least, the music was splendid.

J. V. Coshery, who impersonated a Teutonic personage, received the prize for the most comical costume. The most original costume was Mrs. "Shooter" Bill Robbins' Indian maid attire, and she was awarded this prize. To Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Blachly went the prize for the best sustained character. Their work as "The ballet girl and the boob dude" was excellent. An added feature was a rope spinning exhibition by "Shooter" Bill.

The Pavilion masquerade was also well attended and enjoyed. Hank Free deserves credit for his artistic decorative work. The Peerless orchestra rendered excellent music, and there was always a throng on the floor, enjoying the dancing.

Karlo Montgomery and Lucille Kish, in Highland costumes, were awarded the prize for the best costumes; Mrs. John Hamilton and Mrs. Oscar Bensonman, in ludicrous old maid attire, won the prize for the most comical pair, and Kenneth Bronsonman, not yet in his teens, easily won the prize for best sustained character by his laughable portrayal of the antics of a certain favorite, a Mr. Chas. Chaplin. Misses Agnes and Antonette Matt were awarded a special prize by the Klamath Athletic Club for their work as "athletic girls." They carried on their parts well.

Watch parties were also held at several homes.

Stilts. These numbers showed careful training and real talent, and all were heartily applauded. Captain O. C. Applegate, the "baby" of the school, helped the musical program immensely. His number was a jew's harp solo, rendered with ecst, finesse, sympathetic feeling and whatever other nice things are said about the performances of Paderewski or Kubelik. Harry Telford contributed a "bones" solo, which brought down the house, Miss Faye Hogue's comedy and footwork were immensely pleasing, and recitations were also perpetrated by W. A. Delsell, Professor Hogg and Fred Fleet. After the turbulent session ended, motion pictures were taken of the assemblage and refreshments were served. Miss Waive Jacobs had charge of the refreshment end of the program and she was assisted by Mrs. L. Jacobs, Miss Margaret Worden and Miss Marjorie Delsell. A tasty pull was also enjoyed, and a few of those present were Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Plath, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. C. Hogue, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Delsell, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Peyton, Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Evans, Mrs. Syd Evans, W. C. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. L. R.

Robertson, Miss Clara Elmer, Miss Mand Baldwin, Hon. George T. Baldwin, Miss Helen Paxson, W. J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clendenning, Mr. and Mrs. L. Jacobs, J. E. Swanson, Professor Mayer, Harry Telford, Mrs. S. Edward Martin, Miss Agnes Swoboda, Miss Waive Jacobs, Miss Marjorie Delsell, Miss Laura Bice, Miss Hazel Hardenbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Carey Ramsby, Miss Rachel Applegate, E. E. Getz, Miss Lillian Stilts, Miss Margaret Worden, M. L. Poland, Captain O. C. Applegate, E. J. Eskelson, Mr. Hogg, Miss Faye Hogue, C. R. Miller, Miss Edna Dunbar, Fred Fleet.

A delightful meeting of the Shippington sewing club was held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Barton Thursday. The afternoon was spent in needlework and social chat, and Mrs. Barton also served a dainty luncheon to her guests who were Mrs. Wickstrom, Mrs. Daniel Dunamore, Mrs. E. Hill, Mrs. H. J. Lockwood, Mrs. W. D. Harlan, Mrs. E. Putman, Mrs. E. H. Yancey, Mrs. E. E. Cantrell, Mrs. B. E. Yancey, Mrs. Geo. Nehrbass, Mrs. J. Fennell, Mrs. W. Colwell and Mrs. W. B. Fennell.

Members of Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, B. P. O. Elks and their ladies paid their last respects to the old club quarters and welcomed the new year with a dancing party last night, the final social event to be given by the lodge before it moves into its fine new $40,000 home next week. Dancing and games were enjoyed by a large crowd until long after 1915 had died. Refreshments were served.

An event that has caused much rejoicing in Klamath Falls social circles was a Christmas day reunion, a ceremony in which Frederick Hiram Mills and Emma Lee Mills were reunited in the bonds of matrimony. Legal separation for a few months proved to each of these well known people that the other was essential to perfect happiness, so a second courtship ensued, culminating in a second marriage on Christmas, the anniversary of the first wedding.

Something out of the ordinary in the way of a Christmastide jollification was the "Mother Goose" party given Wednesday evening by Miss Hortense Hogue at her home on High street, with the following in attendance: Miss Pearl Dow, Miss Jennie Johnston, Miss Anna Mae Johnston, Mrs. C. C. Hogue, Miss Kathryn McAndrews, Miss Marie Griffith, Miss Ruth Ball, Miss Mary DeLap, Miss Ruth Ball, Miss Mary Ball, Miss Laura Nelson, Miss Faye Hogue, Austin Case, Joe Avery, Theodore Case, Anton Polivka, Lawrence Moteschenbacher, Carl Newberry, John Houston, Graham Kiehl, Rollin, Stitzer, Will McMillan, Wallace McClellan, Charles Deor and Verne McClellan.
