

ELKS' LODGE IS INSPECTED

DISTRICT DEPUTY LOGUS PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT, AND LAUDS LOCAL MEMBERS ON THEIR EN-TERPRISE AND "PEP"

The first meeting of Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, B. P. O. Elks, to be held in the new $40,000 lodge home,

Another Cohen Record at Shepherds. 30 was held last evening. It proved one of the biggest meetings held this winter.

Will R. Logus of Oregon City, district deputy, paid an official visit to the lodge, and after several candidates were given the initiatory degree, Logus made his inspection of the lodge. At the conclusion, he made a brilliant talk on Elkdom and its future, and paid some glowing compliments to the spirit of the local "Bills," who have been anything but inactive since the institution of the lodge.

Several local members also made well received talks.

dent insurance. See Chilcote. 11-1f

What the War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. MASON

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—A warning to America to prepare for a probable conflict with Japan is given by Lord Northcliffe in his copyright article written for the United Press, when he points out that America's wealth and defenselessness will inevitably persuade someone to come and take what they want.

Outwardly he veils his warning by suggesting that "Laplenders" will be the invaders, but he reveals his inner meaning by suggesting that "you can change the words as you choose," and by describing an invasion of the Pacific Coast.

The seriousness of his warning is emphasized by the possibility of a Teuton-Japanese understanding after the war. Such a situation may be forecasted by the fact that German prisoners are being favored in Japan, while it is reported from Tokyo that the Nipponese will not block the Kaiser's efforts after the war to regain Germany's lost prestige in China.

Moreover, there is a growing dissatisfaction in Great Britain over the British alliance with Japan. Canada, Australia and New Zealand are hostile to Oriental intimacies of John Bull, and these portions of the British empire are destined to have a wider influence in international politics than they have had heretofore.

They oppose future pledges of Britain to support Japan in case she is involved in war.

This colonial disapproval is probably the reason why Great Britain does not sanction having the Japanese fight with the other allies in Europe.

The colonies doubtless will favor an understanding with America over Japan, and Lord Northcliffe has probably sensed the feeling of Great Britain on this point.

His warning may well be cryptic prophecy that Japan and Germany will be found together in a new alliance in the future, with the United States as their common enemy. Then America might have to rely on Great Britain for support. Indeed, it would be inevitably necessary if such a combination made a simultaneous attack against the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and caught America unprepared.
