OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"Future Tenses of Life"

Chas. T. Hurd, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

"Forgetting those things which are behind and stretching forward unto those things which are before I press on."

There is perhaps no more serious thought which ever enters into the thinking of men than the realization of the temporariness of things; that we are constantly living under a law of evanescence; that life is a great gallery of moving pictures rolling off at the rate of sixty to the minute at which we sit and gaze and are moved to laughter or tears, to wonder and amazement or to dismay and sadness.

It is easy to take a backward look over the road and it is profitable, too, to see where we were and what we experienced. It is good to look back, but it is never intended that we should live there.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY MARGARET MADON (Written for the United Press)

Here is a riddle I ask you to read; What is no cheaper, but dearer indeed When it's marked down—if you give up, perforce, This is the answer—a pillow, of course.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Call it pillow or cushion, as you will; by any name it costs as much. Such work of art, however, has it become that it almost seems worth it. A cushion is indeed comely to have around one and a round one is the pink of perfection, especially when it is made of rose pink taffeta on cords and caught together in the center with a cluster of French ribbon roses.
