SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1916

"FOREIGNERS FIRST"

PREACHING "America First" and practicing "Foreigners First" is a policy that will embarrass the democrats when they come to defend their record next Fall. In the ten months of democratic tariff rates preceding the outbreak of the war, our imports of meat and dairy products increased to $40,545,000, as compared with $12,460,000 in the corresponding ten months under the republican tariff. Imports under democratic policies were more than three times as great as under republican policies. We gave the foreigner greater access to our markets, and yet the cost of living did not decrease. The American farmer is forgetful of some things, but he will remember these figures when he makes up his mind how to vote next November. The figures are from official reports.

Scattered Shots

STORMS TO THE north of us, zero weather to the east of us, gales to the west of us, and floods to the south of us—even then, some people will kick a little about Klamath weather.

HAVE YOU registered? Can't vote at the primary unless you do, you know.

IF IT ISN'T the Mexican situation or the British blockade that the administration is worrying over, you can usually bet that the Lusitania affair is either "serious," "grave," "critical" or "almost settled." One way of making a stab at being industrious.

SEEMS THAT Greece has been chosen as the latest battle ground.

IT HAS BEEN reported that Montenegro surrendered. It has also been reported that Kaiser Wilhelm died, but the former nation and the latter emperor seem to keep right on kicking.

THE THREE unmarried members of the Herald staff stoutly aver that there is absolutely nothing to this Leap Year stuff, or they'd have been captured a couple of weeks ago.

ONE WAY to boost Klamath Falls is to number your houses. This will some day result in our getting free mail delivery.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"Cave Dwellers"
Chas. T. Hurd, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

"What doest thou here?"

Elijah was a man of strange and striking personal qualities and of strange and startling methods as well. He was a man of courage and daring who at one time taunted his adversaries until they gnashed their teeth and cut themselves with knives with the terrible alternative of a terrible end for himself in case of failure. Yet this man in his trial hour gave way and found himself in despondency sitting under a juniper tree in the desert and finally hiding in a cave. This all followed close upon the remarkable contest on Mt. Carmel, and when he thought at last his life work had been accomplished and the worship of Jehovah was at last to be established.

The cause of his disappointment and despondency was found in the palace and in the mind of the queen who was wicked and murderous, and whom Ahab had married contrary to his national ideals and religious principles. He was a weak king, and was controlled by that which was most masterful in his environment. When he was near Elijah he was controlled by that prophet, but when he was in the palace it was by Jezebel. So when he returned to tell her all of the events on the mountain, and how her priests had been slain and her god was powerless to help, one can imagine her rage and what condemnation she heaped upon her covering husband for standing by and permitting such a thing. If she had been there it would have been otherwise. So she ignored her husband, and sent a message to Elijah that she intended to take his life. She gave him only one more day to live. "And when he saw that he arose and went for his life," and whether justifiable or not, he soon found himself in the wilderness.

I.—In a Cave. In Our Caves.

1—Indolence and Unwillingness to Serve.—"What doest thou. Is there no more work to be done? Have you done it all? Are you hiding yourself from God, who would send you forth to do his work in the world? Don't be a figurehead Christian, but "take hold and lift," and you will greatly increase your chances of a successful life and reward at its end.

2—Preoccupation.—"Mamma," said little 3-year-old Freddie, "are we going to heaven some day?"
"Yes, dear, I hope so," was the reply.

"I wish papa could go to," continued the little fellow.
"Well, and don't you think he will?" asked his mother.

"Oh, no," replied Freddie. "He couldn't leave his business."

How many people are so absorbed in those things of material concern that they cannot give themselves to a serious consideration of their religious needs and their supply. They are living in a cave of pre-occupation.

3—Indifference.—There are many men and women who don't seem to care about these things. They seem indifferent and to them God is saying as he said to Elijah, "What doest thou here?"

4—Inconsistency.—Many so-called Christian men and women are living inconsistent lives—lives that are not in harmony with the things they profess. Said some one: "What you are speaks so loud that I cannot hear what you say," and if you are living an inconsistent life remember God is talking to you, too.

III.—Get on Your Job.

"What doest thou here" in a world where there are no idolators to win back and nothing for you to do. He says this to the men and women of today especially to those who call themselves Christian. We must get out of those caves in which we have been hiding and make the name of "Christian" to be honored because of the activity and consistency of the lives of those who profess it. Life is the time for doing. This is no place for drones. There is plenty to do. There is evil to be put down, and good to build up. Doubters are to be directed, prodigals are to be won back and men are to be told about God. Why stay in your caves? God will give you specific directions for work if you are willing to be up and at it in God's world for those in earnest; there is no such thing as failure. No work done for him is ever in vain. He will help you to win.

MT. LAKE ITEMS

Rev. Morgan is spending a week with his family at Medford. He will be back for next Sunday.

The neighborhood gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Barker at their home on the Best ranch Friday evening. A most delightful evening was spent in games of various kinds.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Porter last week.

Mr. West was a town visitor Monday.

The wind storm of Friday night and Saturday drifted the snow in many places, and almost completely buried the ground in others. The sleighing in this vicinity is nearly over.

The Mt. Lake Improvement Association did not hold its regular meeting Friday evening. A basket social at the Henley school was held the same evening. The Henley social was an interesting affair.

Bill Cheyne of Spring Lake gave a dance at his home Friday evening. The music was furnished by an orchestra from town. A good time is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Watters entertained a bobbed load of young people from Klamath Falls Friday evening.

Little Marjory Cheryne is quite ill with cold.

Several horses belonging to Mr. Combs and Mr. Elliott have died of spinal meningitis. Several more are in a serious condition. No other cases have been reported.
