CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—A deliberate attempt to poison Governor Dunne, Archbishop Mundelein and other notables at a University Club banquet Thursday night was made by the club chef. Manager Doherty told the police today that arsenic was placed in the soup, and was discovered just before the soup was served. The suspected man is missing. Police have started a nation wide search. The chef's room contained enough poison to kill 1,000 people, and enough nitro-glycerine to demolish a skyscraper. Many anarchistic pamphlets were also found. The missing man is classed by the police as a "plotter against society." Experts are making tests of the poisons found in the chef's room. Arsenic has been found in abundance

Abraham Lincoln, Five Days Before His Death, Compared With His Son Now 73 Years Old

ROBERT T. LINCOLN

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

For the first time in many years it has become possible to make a comparison of the features of Abraham Lincoln and his son, Robert Todd Lincoln. These photographs show them, the one five days before he was shot to death, and the other when he testified as head of the Pullman company, before the Industrial Relations commission in Washington. Robert T. Lincoln has not often permitted photographers to take him. Few of them have had such an opportunity as was presented when he appeared before the commission, and they got a clear full view, showing every line in his face.

The photograph of Abraham Lincoln, which is reproduced from the original negative, was taken April 9, 1865, by Alexander Gardner. The negative is the only one in existence. The print was obtained from Frederick Hill Meserve, who has the best collection of Lincoln photographs. Mr. Meserve is the highest authority in the world on that subject.

The picture shows Lincoln saddened and aged by the Civil War. The contrast with photos taken two years earlier is startling. In fact, most of the popular pictures of the great liberator show him as he was at least two years before death. But as a matter of record on the photographs there had come over him a most remarkable change.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON THE EASTERN AND WESTERN FRONTS

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The French have captured 300 yards of German trenches in the Champagne region. As the result of a violent and sudden hand grenade attacks to the north of Meuse, German positions toward LaHure Heights have been taken. ROME, Feb. 12.—Italy today issued a decree forbidding the exportation by Italians of anything to the Austro-German people. This closes the last gap in the allies lines.

"We have completed a steel wall around Germany now," said French Premier Briand today.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A Buenos Ayres cable declares that two interned German merchantmen escaped, after asking permission to exercise their engines. It is believed they will join armed merchantmen in the Atlantic.

THREE MORE ARE OUT FOR OFFICE

ASPIRANTS FOR CORONER, ASSESSOR AND SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT MAKE THEIR ANNOUNCEMENTS TODAY

The balmy spring weather is certainly beneficial to the hatching of political bees, for three more candidates were definitely launched today. These are all republicans, seeking the office of coroner, assessor and school superintendent. Dr. A. A. Soule is the man seeking the office of coroner. He has resided in Klamath county several years, and in his practice here and at the Fort he has acquired a host of friends, who will make a fight for him. Fred Peterson, who has refused a second chance at the school superintendency, has his eye on another office. Toward that end, he announces himself a candidate for the republican nomination for assessor. Already J. M. Tipton, who is homesteading in the Malin country, and who is well known here, is out for this nomination at the hands of the republican voters, and Captain J. P. Lee is out again on the democrat ticket.

Miss Edna Wells, who has long been connected with Klamath county schools, has finally decided to run for school superintendent, and she will oppose Miss Bessie Applegate for the republican nomination. Both of these young ladies are known to be efficient, both have resided in the county a long time, and an interesting campaign between the fair candidates is predicted.

Regarding the donations made for this extremely worthy cause, Mr. Sugarman made the following statement today:

"On behalf of the stricken Jews in the war-ridden countries of Europe, I wish to thank the merchants and people of Klamath Falls for their liberal donations to alleviate suffering among the people of my nation. The response has been generous, and I am sure that the prayers of the women and children who will be thus given food will arise to God to bless those who have helped them.

"It is not often that the Jews of any land have called for aid from the world. We are accustomed to taking care of our own poor and unfortunate.

"However, at this time, out of 10,000,000 Jews in all the world, practically 7,000,000 are destitute because they live in the warring countries. The aid so generously given by the enlightened, liberty-loving people of America will not be forgotten by the Jews of the world."

More Clubs to Organize for Eradicating Pests

Following the successful work of the Langell Valley Stockmen's Protective Association since its organization last week, the idea of ranchers' organization for mutual benefit has spread over the county. Bonanza is the next place to take up such work. A meeting will be held at the Bonanza church Wednesday night, when an organization will be formed. This will take up the extermination of rabbits and coyotes, as does the Langell Valley Association. County Agriculturist H. Roland Glasayer will attend the Bonanza meeting, and will give what suggestions he can toward making the work effective. Glasayer is working in conjunction with the Lorelia club, and is anxious to assist all such proposed clubs in organizing and planning campaigns. D. A. Ward of the federal biological survey, who has been engaged in rabbit and coyote extermination in Crook county, is here conferring with Glasayer regarding the campaign to be carried on in Klamath county.
