HENLEY SCHOOL NOTES

An industrial club was organized at the school February 8th, with the following membership:

Perrin Dixon, Ruth E. Dixon, Mabel Latta, Cecil Caldwell, Ruth Newport, Alton Short, Blanche Short, Duth M. Dixon, Clarence Adams, Marshall McClay, Joseph Rose, Minnie Shivkoff, Hazel Brown, Roy Dixon, Gladys McClay, Helen M. Addison, Dorothea Hawkins, Nellie Gray, Aubra Bradbury and Fred Evanikoff.

The following officers were elected: Perrin Dixon, president; Ruth E. Dixon, vice president; Mabel Latta, secretary; Cecil Caldwell, treasurer; F. W. Sexton and Mrs. Olive Johnson, advisers.

The object of this club is to encourage the boys and girls to spend their spare moments in doing useful and constructive things related to agriculture and home economics. The project will have to do with industrial education co-ordinated with farm and home enterprises. Regular meetings will be held every two weeks on Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

Several of our pupils attended the basket social and spelling contest held at the Olene school last Friday evening. Mabel Latta of Henley is in the spelling contest.

Joseph Rose was absent one day last week on account of a bad cold.

Nellie Gray, one of our ninth grade girls, has been absent several days on account of illness.

The lecture given Monday evening at Henley school by Mr. Ward of the biological survey of the Department of Agriculture, on the destruction of ground squirrels, gophers and jack-rabbits, was quite well attended.

Mrs. Olive Johnson, principal of the high school department, will give lessons on Indian club swinging to the pupils of the grammar and high school departments.

The boys have organized a baseball team, and will soon be ready to meet other school teams.

The high school cotton exhibit has been added to our collection of industrial exhibits.

Miss Nellie Shivkoff visited our school Tuesday and contemplates enrolling as a member of our eighth grade.

Willard's Cold Is Cause of Postponement of Fight

JESS WILLARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—March 24th, is the new date set for the Jess Willard-Frank Moran heavyweight battle.

Willard formally requested Promoter Tex Rickard for a postponement.

Rickard said the fight would be held at Madison Square Garden, just as originally planned. The postponement will not alter the details of the arrangements.

Rickard will not claim Willard's forfeit because the champion could not appear on the date first set.

Announcement of the champion's desire to postpone the fight came when he said he feared he would not be able to get into condition by March 8th, the date set by Rickard. He said his cold was pretty severe, and his general health none too good at present.

Press dispatches from Chicago suggested that Willard might even insist on the abandonment of the battle until such time as he can get into better condition. Should he take this action, it would mean that Rickard would collect the $5,000 forfeit Willard posted to bind the match.

Frank Moran, who is in training at Saratoga, is in prime condition, and says he is eager to have the bout go on.

PALMS TAKE TWO FROM KAYDEEVILLE

THE HOT SPRINGS TEAM LOSES THREE GAMES—REMNANTS DROP TWO OUT OF THREE TO THE STONE ROLLERS

The Palms fattened their percentage materially, and took an awful slice out of the Hot Springs standing at their last session on the Palm alleys by taking all three games. The K. K. K. Store also picked off a couple of games, losing only one to the Remnants.

The scores were nearly all far from steady. Louie Hoagland, though, pulled off the prize exhibition of versatility, for his scores ranged from 106 in the first game to 212 in the last. This Remnant, therefore, had the distinction of making both high and low scores for the evening. Lawrence was second high, with a 210 score.

The scores:

Allies Will Fight Till Germany Gives Up, Says U. P. Staff Head

European Manager of the Greatest Newspaper Agency Says English, Despite Official Blunders, Are Very Confident of Success

By ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—"How long do you think the war will last?"

After the usual polite and more or less perfunctory inquiries as to the state of his health and what sort of a trip he had, judging from the writer's personal experience and observations in the last few hours, this is the first serious question fired at every American returning from Europe by everyone he meets. Anticipating some such inquisition, and in order to guide him in forming an opinion, the writer had asked the same question of a lot of folk in England just before sailing on the Baltic for New York. It received almost as great a variety of replies as the number of Britishers interrogated—that is, as to time. They ranged all the way from six weeks to six years.

But in their real essence, all were alike. "Until Germany gives up!" was the unanimous verdict.

They're telling a good story now in London about the way Premier Asquith is said to have answered this question at a recent social gathering. British cabinet members have become so used to parrying uncomfortable or puzzling queries on the floor of the house of commons since the war began that they often, unconsciously, carry their parliamentary armament into the drawing room.

"How long do you think the war will last, Mr. Asquith?" inquired a fellow guest.

"I would have much preferred that the honorable gentleman had given me previous notice of this question," replied the prime minister in his most unctuous on-the-carpet tone, "but since he insists upon an immediate and explicit reply, I will say that the answer is in the negative."

Although the head of the British administration can't be persuaded to hazard a time guess on the duration of the war, both his public and his private utterances on the subject in recent weeks leaves no doubt that he stands with every other Britisher whose opinion is at all worth considering, in the manifestly sincere and honest belief that the war will go on until Germany agrees to peace on the terms of the allies.

Make no mistake about it, the allies are out to win. They were never so determined or so united as they are today. That the recent "made in Germany" stories of likelihood of an early separate peace with Russia, or France, or England, are absolutely without foundation, I am firmly convinced. Even in the event of the remote possibility that one or more of the allies might be persuaded to enter into separate peace negotiations with the central powers, England would go right on fighting.

It would be most difficult for anyone who has lived in the British atmosphere since before the war started and has watched the gradual alteration of the English national spirit from airy cocksureness through successive stages of bewilderment, humiliation and lesson-learning, into one of relentless bulldog tenacity of purpose, to arrive at any other conclusion.

Despite all the muddling of the past eighteen months—the military miscalculations, the diplomatic blunders, the political upheavals, the industrial turmoils—the average Britisher has not only never despaired, he has never had any real doubt as to the outcome of the struggle. The more recent misfortunes—the loss of Bulgaria, the obliteration of Serbia and Montenegro, the failure in Gallipoli and the troubles in Mesopotamia, he has regarded as mere episodes, unpleasant, it is true, but without any effect except possibly to retard the final triumph of the allies.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

DON'T EAT BITE OF BREAKFAST UNTIL YOU DRINK A GLASS OF HOT WATER

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anemic looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv.
