TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

United Press Service
LONDON, March 8.—You may be as American as you please, but as a correspondent in Germany for the press of your own country, you will figure inevitably as a "her" in the English newspapers. The mere fact that Carl W. Ackerman of the United Press, for instance, came from Indiana doesn't make him any exception. He is considerably quoted in London dailies, and it is always as "Herr Ackerman," or as "Herr Karl W. Ackerman."

MT. LAKE ITEMS

County Agriculturist H. Roland Glaisyer was out Wednesday to help mix poison at the Case ranch. This is being successfully distributed, and an extermination of ground squirrels is expected.

Miss Applegate brought a load of high school students here Wednesday night, and they all enjoyed supper as the guests of Mrs. Case.

Spring Lake and Mt. Lake school baseball teams meet this afternoon.

Mr. Elliott of Fairview is on the sick list.

The entertainment at the Mt. Lake church Wednesday night was thoroughly enjoyed. The supper was excellent and in addition to the speeches songs by Messrs. McHaffey and Hayden, and a reading by Miss Edna Wells were well received.

San Diego Expo Starts Year With New Name

United Press Service
SAN DIEGO, March 18.—The San Diego exposition, now in its second year, was rechristened at noon today, "The Panama-California International Exposition—an Exposition of Peace." While San Diego made holidays and thousands thronged the grounds of the palm-girded show city, President Davidson's toast to the exposition and to peace was repeated in the principal cities of the

HOW WOULD U. S. FORCE BE ABROAD

WAR CRITIC SAYS THE PRESENT FORCE ENTERING MEXICO COULD HOLD ABOUT A MILE AND A HALF OF TRENCHES

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, March 18.—Eight thousand Americans whom it took five days to concentrate on the Mexican border, could hold about a mile and a half of trenches in Europe for one battle.

If they bore the brunt of any hard fighting, about one-fifth would be killed, wounded or captured. If there was any delay in reinforcing them, there would be nothing left but nasty defeat and possible extermination of the remainder.

Three thousand could check 8,000 men on the offensive, according to European lessons. The soldiers on the offensive must be three times as strong as the defensive to succeed. This applies to straight fighting on comparatively level ground.

Mountainous Mexico, however, suggests problems similar to those in the Vosges and in the Alps, which are yet unsolved. In that kind of country 8,000 men would be strong on the defensive, but on the offensive probably 2,000 foemen could halt them.

SAXON SIX

A big touring car for five people

Note these upper-class attractions

Six-cylinder motor. Today—in the minds of the motor-wise—there is no doubt as to the supremacy of the "Six" over a motor of less cylinders. The "Six" has proved its place and prestige too emphatically. Light weight. And lightness means economy—on tires, in fuel, in all around upkeep. Saxon "Six" is light yet strong and rugged. Able engineering and quality materials account for this.

"SIXES"
Touring Car $885

"FOURS"
Roadster $450

Beauty. All men want beauty. For beauty means skilled design. Saxon "Six" has a handsome yacht-line body with a lustrous finish of lasting newness. Comfort. All men want comfort. There's room a-plenty in Saxon "Six." Five passengers find ample space. For it's a big car. The wheelbase is 112 inches.

But look below these refinements. In the hidden parts you will find further worth. After months of use and miles of travel it is the sub-surface quality that will win your deepest admiration. Come in and see this Saxon "Six." (341)
