KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1916
ORGANIZING FOR EFFICIENCY

CREASY, in describing the battle of Marathon, says: "According to old national custom, the warriors of each tribe (of Greeks) were arrayed together; neighbor thus fighting by the side of neighbor, friend by friend, and the spirit of emulation and the consciousness of responsibility excited to the very utmost." Thus the little Greek army with hardly more than 10,000 was enabled to defeat the Persian army of 120,000. The great weakness of the Persian army lay in the lack of the very qualities that constituted the strength of the Greeks.

Community development is a peaceable doctrine, its purpose being to enlist neighbor with neighbor and friend with friend in the building up of the community. It would to a degree excite the spirit of emulation in the doing of public service and it would arouse first of all the consciousness of responsibility for the welfare of the community as a whole. Given to each individual citizen a consciousness of responsibility for conditions that exist in his community and then the spirit of friendly rivalry among all citizens enlisted in the public service, and community development is organized for efficiency.

Improved machinery is a potent factor in prompting efficiency, and organization is the machinery of community development. Machinery develops no new forces; it merely adapts to the purpose in hand forces already in existence. The community development club is the medium or channel through which community forces are directed and allowed to operate. For a medley of conflicting forces and the resulting waste of energy the community organization substitutes a united power and a conservation of energy. For waste it substitutes economy; for failure it substitutes success; for discouragement it substitutes hopefulness and for destruction it substitutes construction.

To organize a community for development is to keep step with the army of progress; to neglect to organize is to leave the community to face defeat in competition with other communities that are organized.

MORE BUSINESS—LESS SENTIMENT

THE PRESS of the state is giving more space to industries and less space to long distance schemes of improvement.
Inducing some one to start a creamery or put in a tile factory or start a sawmill is a moral uplift work in itself.
Payrolls and enterprises, whether it is a peanut stand or a public utility, is putting money in circulation.
It is only when some one gets employment or carries out some beneficial improvement that people get a chance to earn something.
If all the money in the world were in this state, but no one did any business or employed anyone, no prosperity would result.
Newspapers are the great stimulants of business, and their influence is always to start something to help better conditions.
Development leagues, commercial organizations, industrial development, are the big three that move the world forward.

SHASTA VIEW NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kirkpatrick, who have spent the last two weeks at the Falls are now at home.
B. C. Lewis, who represents the Grand Union Tea company, passed through here last week.
Cy Brown of Langell Valley visited at the home of H. E. Watson last week.
Rev. Cowley delivered an excellent discourse at Shasta View last Sunday, following Sunday school.
A number of Shasta View people attended a church social at Merrill last Friday evening. A good program was given.
Professor H. C. Seymour of the O. A. C. will be at the school house on April 4th, in the interest of Industrial Club work.
Mrs. Wm. Sims underwent an operation at Merrill recently for the removal of a clot of blood on the brain.
Miss Charlotte Evans of Malia visited with Miss Shaffer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hale last Sunday.
Mrs. Fred McManus, who has been on the homestead for some time, has moved to Klamath Falls.

On Saturday evening, March 25th, the Shasta View Literary Society met

Dearest Public:
I wish to say to those that I was joking when I said I was running for county commissioner that I am serious.

We have so much in common that it seems a shame that we can't all get together and stand and boost for Klamath county. If we all do that we are promoting our own prosperity.
If you can't stand for the place in which you live you would not make a citizen for hell.
I am going to stand for old Klamath whether I am elected or not. Anyone with three ideas past a two weeks old woodtick knows we have to have roads; they are our best asset and are of mutual advantage to all. Somebody's henchman said I was dangerous. You can bet your neck I am. The guy that springs a proposition that is not meritorious for Klamath county and I find it out is going to get the finest "baling" that he ever had and if the newspapers are running everyone is going to know all about it.

Klamath is a fine old whale and should be spouting forth prosperity to everyone. If she's not to you, Mr. taxpayer, look around and maybe you will find something.

I am as serious as if I had broke my leg.
I want your support if you think I ain't lyin'.
THADDEUS MCHATTAN,
Republican Candidate for County Commissioner.
