

Bill Provides for Aero Patrol of U. S. Coasts

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.—It was learned today that a fleet of six aeroplanes to patrol the Pacific and Atlantic coast as auxiliaries to the United States Coast Guard cutters, is the proposition set forth in a bill to be introduced during the present session of congress. The bill will ask for an appropriation of $500,000 for the purchase and maintenance of the fleet. There are 5,000 miles of coast in the United States, and it is proposed to have an aeroplane stationed every 100 miles.

Lookouts in aeroplanes would be able to sight ships in distress much more readily than the lookouts on board coast guard cutters; and since the air machine can attain a greater speed than the cutters, aid could be dispatched to distressed vessels more quickly. It is maintained that these coast guard aeroplanes would be a valuable addition to the military forces in time of war.

The possibilities of this fleet are great. Equipped with searchlights at night they might prove far more adequate than light ships, and it is held that an aeroplane would be of great service to coast guards in carrying breeches buoy lines to ships ashore, when the surf is running too high for the launching of a lifeboat.

Mayo Dudley, a Washington newspaper man, conceived the idea, and has been instrumental in the drawing up of the bill. Coast guard officials, the Aero Club of America, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Newton have endorsed the proposed bill.

LONDON, April 7.—An officer serving in Mesopotamia writes home as follows:
"The Garden of Eden is not many hundred yards from my camp. On the river front grows a tree which has long yellow beans and feathery leaves. It is the only one of its kind here, and 'T. Atkins' has named it 'the Forbidden Tree.' In its vicinity small Arab boys hawk cheap cigarettes, biscuits and tinned milk and the locality is known as 'Temptation Square'."

CHICAGO SOCIETY WOMEN FORM CAVALRY TROOP

United Press Service
CHICAGO, April 7.—If the United States goes to war it will be the thunder of hoofs for Chicago women, not the nurse's cap and apron. Maids and matrons from the exclusive Lake Shore drive district have formed a cavalry troop, and are drilling weekly in the First cavalry riding academy, North Clark street.

They are practicing formations and the charge, and a band adds to the eclat of the drills, inspiring horses and riders. The troop includes Mrs. Howard Linn, Miss Janet Miller, Miss Elizabeth Clare, Miss A. Brophy, Mrs. S. Travis, Mrs. Edith Rucker and more than a dozen other society women recruits.

As a rival for the taxicab, a Boston man has invented coin in the slot mechanism for public automobiles, which permits them to run only the distance for which a passenger has paid.

ELKS' HOME IS BEING FURNISHED

CONTRACT LET FOR CARPETS AND DRAPERY, AND SEVERAL OF THE ROOMS ARE BEING RE-TINTED, ETC., TO HARMONIZE

The furniture committee of the Elks' lodge has let the contract for all the rugs, draperies and hangings to be used in the new home. The contract was let to Willis-Johnstone company, of this city. The rugs and hangings will all be made to order and the specifications have been sent to the factory, and it is expected that the goods will be finished and installed about the middle of May.

In the ladies' parlor the walls have been tinted cream with white ceiling. Old rose rugs are to be used and cretonne hangings, with pink rosebuds on a white background. None of the furniture has yet been purchased, but it is planned to furnish the ladies' room with reed furniture, finished in old ivory, and upholstered with the same pattern creton as the hangings.

The walls of the main lounge room are tan with cream ceiling. Brown Wilton rugs are to be used with dutchess velvet hangings in old gold shade. The furniture planned for this room is to be full upholstered in plain leather.

The walls and woodwork in the reading and writing rooms are brown with cream ceiling, and brown Wilton rugs and brown sunfast hangings are to be used.

The lodge room is tinted light tan on the side walls, with a cream ceiling. The hangings will be red dutchess velvet, while brown sunfast hangings have been selected for the dining hall, buffet, billiard room and card room. The stairway to the lodge room is to be carpeted in the same pattern—brown Wilton carpet, as the rugs used in the main lounge room.

TURN HAIR DARK! WITH SAGE TEA

IF MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT DARKENS SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musing mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv

After Five Years

Medford Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Medford story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

M. S. Biden, shoemaker, 614 W. Clark street, Medford, Ore., says: "I suffered from rheumatic pains, caused by too much uric acid in my system. The pain was especially severe in my back. My kidneys were disordered, too, and my health was all run down. I couldn't stoop without getting dizzy. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills removed every sign of kidney trouble."

Over five years later Mr. Biden said: "Kidney trouble and rheumatic pains which Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of, have never returned."

Thousands of Homes Are Broken Up in England

By CHAS. F. STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 7.—More moving is being done in England today than ever before in the country's history. The movers are the families of married men who expect to leave shortly for one of the war fronts. This is the end of the "quarter," and as few middle class Englishmen can keep up their homes in their absence, they are breaking them up.

Furniture movers are hopelessly swamped. Not only has the unprecedented amount business overwhelmed them, but like everybody else, they have already given most of their able-bodied men to the colors. The elderly, extremely youthful or weakly laborers they are compelled to rely on are unable to handle the work expeditiously.

Prices have jumped correspondingly. The removal of a vanload of furniture, for which the charge in normal times was two guineas (about $10) now costs $15. Great numbers of people have found it impossible to get vans on any terms, and are requisitioning delivery wagons and even pushcarts and wheelbarrows.

Huge quantities of household goods are being stored. Warehouse room, too, is at a premium. It used to be calculated at the rate of 13 shillings ($2.88) per month per vanload. The charge is now $3.60.

Some families are selling their furniture outright. They do so at a sacrifice, but the market is not quite so depressed a state as might be expected. Recent restrictions on the importation of material for furniture making has led to the expectation that a demand for this class of merchandise will soon exceed the supply and second-hand dealers are consequently paying fairly liberal prices.

Owners of antiques really are doing exceptionally well, owing to orders from neutral countries, which are rolling in war profits, in expectation of just such a situation as the present one.

In London the big boarding house centers, like Bloomsbury and South Kensington, are gathering in enormous numbers of the refugees. The landlords unquestionably will do well, but their profits will be due rather to the heavy volume of their business than to large individual profits. The families left behind when the married men go to the front will have enough to live on meagerly, but not more. Lawyers never were so busy as now, drawing wills for the departing soldiers.

What Makes Clothes Last?

Some say material, some say cut, others say workmanship.

But we claim it isn't any one of these, but a combination of the three.

And we call that combination "the science of clothes making." That's why we have so much confidence in Clothcraft Clothes. Their makers aren't beginners---they've been at it for 70 years. Their policy has been constant from the start---to put the utmost value into men's clothes at $10 to $25.

The men who have worn Clothcraft know what the success of these makers has been. The others have something to learn.

No matter what class you are in---our new styles are worth a trip to our store.
