COMMUNITY SANITATION

WHERE can be found the citizen or the community that would not gladly be rid of house flies and mosquitoes during the coming summer? Will they think it a "fairy tale" if they are told that in them lies the power to rid themselves of both, and as less expense generally than is involved in "protecting" themselves from these insects by means of screens?

Thousands of noxious insects have been extirpated in communities all over the United States, chiefly by making it impossible for them to multiply. Flies and mosquitoes may be eradicated in the same way. All that is necessary is to deprive them of breeding places—a comparatively simple operation.

If the constructing of screens were the only expense involved and if the screens actually did protect, perhaps the destruction of flies and mosquitoes would not be so important an undertaking for a community. But the fact is that both insects spread disease and that impose penalties in money, in sickness and in sorrow incomparably greater than would be involved in destroying their breeding places and thus ridding the community of the menace to its health.

There is nothing Utopian about anti-fly and anti-mosquito campaigns when they are conducted properly. Swatting the fly is occupation for the child, perhaps; but so far as destroying the pests is concerned it is comparable to an attempt to dip the ocean dry with a pint cup. A few puddles of water on a single heap of manure in a park yard will produce more flies and mosquitoes than the people of the neighborhood could kill if they spent their whole time in that occupation. Yet a few minutes' or hours' work would drain the water and remove the manure so that no flies and no mosquitoes could be hatched.

Fifty years ago the house fly was tolerated as an unavoidable evil. Today every self-respecting family looks upon the presence of this insect in the kitchen or on the dining room as a disgrace. The time will come when this sentiment will make itself so strongly felt that every community will consider the removal of manure heaps and other filth, as well as the drainage of puddles and pools, a duty imposed upon every citizen and its performance to be insisted upon by public authorities.

Scattered Shots

THE BRIGHT LIGHTS and leading lights will all be out in the Shippington road parade tonight. Better turn out also, Reader.

ISN'T IT ODD that British battleships are never torpedoed or sunk in battle but are invariably lost by "striking a mine"?

THIS IS THE rush season for "receptions to candidates." But, believe me, Chester, some of these candidates are doomed to get another kind of reception at the polls.

IT IS NOT TOO LATE to enter the City Beautiful contest. It will be, though, after tomorrow, so it's up to you to get busy.

DON'T FORGET, either, that if Klamath Falls is to have another record breaking baseball team this season, it's up to us all to get out and help start it off right.

THE LATEST DANCE we hear of is the "Wilson Rag," described as follows: One step forward, one step backward; hesitate—then sidestep.

Here for Summer.
Mrs. Margaret E. Horner, mother of Andrew J. Horner, is up from San Francisco to spend the summer with her son, daughter-in-law and grandson.

Many Going to Fort.
Klamath Falls will be well represented at tonight's candidates' ball at Fort Klamath. There are several auto parties going to the Wood River Valley metropolis.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Herald and the People of Klamath Falls:
The Herald of April 27th contained the statement that the three little boys who were released from the city jail on the night of April 26th through the efforts of a committee of citizens, were "detained in the corridor of the city jail." The impression given by the article in question was that the boys were not in reality in the jail itself.

The undersigned citizens of Klamath Falls wish to make the following statement of fact as to what they witnessed with their own eyes. On the night of April 26th, it was brought to our attention that three little boys were in the city jail. We went to the jail in a body. The jail was locked. We aroused James McCarter, who was in the fire chief's room, and he unlocked the iron door of the jail and admitted us. There we saw the three little boys in question. They were not "detained in the corridor of the jail," but were locked in the city prison. They were occupying separate cells, asleep on the iron bunks that hang immediately above the toilets in each cell. The boys were asleep in their clothing, and the air was fetid with the odor of the toilets in the place.

We were given to understand that the boys were in jail for several days prior to our visit, and that they were paraded through the streets to and from the restaurant in the custody of the police.

We immediately secured the services of Attorney W. H. A. Renner and had the boys released from jail.

We make this statement so that your readers may know the facts in the case. Signed:

Our method will save you 75 per cent of your tire cost. We will give you a double strength casing, practically puncture proof, blow-out and weather proof. Send us two of your old junk tires and we will combine them into one thoroughly serviceable casing.

The cost is insignificant from point of mileage, especially in view of the fact that new tire prices are soaring. It figures a small fraction of a cent a mile, whereby you save the price of a new tire. If you have several we will be able to re-tire the four wheels of your car. If you have only one we will furnish the other. They have proven their value to our many customers. One trial will number you among them.
