A movement to organize a Klamath Falls Ladies Athletic Club on a scale sufficient to include physical culture for girls of 13 years and upwards, is now under consideration by the members of the gymnasium class which meets every Wednesday night at the Pavilion. The matter will be discussed at the next meeting. This class was organized in February, and under the direction of Mr. Mueller, formerly of the Portland Turnverein, is making great progress.

A social evening was had at the Emmanuel Baptist church Thursday, when about fifty gathered for a good time. An impromptu program, consisting of songs, duets, readings, recitations, etc., was rendered, after which games of various kinds were indulged in by the younger folks, while the more mature members of the crowd conversed and visited with each other. At 11 o'clock cake and punch were served, and all expressed themselves as having had a good time.

ath Commercial Club Tuesday evening, May 23d.

To accommodate a greater number the meeting will be held in the city hall, which is conveniently arranged for use of the stereopticon.

Mr. Bowman has been heard before by members of the club, and the prospect of hearing him talk upon a subject of this kind is sure to arouse interest. The plans of our county officials for improvements and money expenditures is a matter in which every citizen is vitally interested, and it is expected that there will be a large turnout to show appreciation of this public discussion by Judge Hanks.

Two Strong Weber Features

AT the rear end of the Weber wagon box you will find two improvements that will mean much to you in the coming years while you use the wagon.

There is the International folding end-gate (patent applied for). Split end-gates are now done away with. You will see that it is easy to remove or replace that it will stay in position that it is very strong, made firm by four cross ribs to prevent splitting, and by a spring steel bar.

Then there is the center link box rod. This rod couples in the center and has a threaded handle nut on each side of the box. When uncoupled the rod always remains fast to the box. The new link rod means no more lost or bent rods, and no more stripped threads. You can tighten the rod from either side. Come in and see the beautiful end-arrangement you ever saw.

Moving Pictures

For the first time in pictures, the life of naval cadets at Annapolis is shown by special authority of the government in the latest Vitaphone Blue Ribbon feature, "The Hero of Submarine D-2." James Morrison, who portrays one of the leading roles, is dressed as a seaman apprentice, and mingles with the others, doing his part in the daily routime. Morrison distinguishes himself in target practice, succeeding in hitting the target three miles distant. He underwent the experience of donning a diving suit and taking a trip to the bottom of the ocean. Paul Scardon directed the film, and was aided by special permission from the government to use all the units of the United States navy in its production. The film is a five-part play, embodying two interesting love affairs, besides showing the inner workings of the navy. Charles Richman, Charles Wellesley, Anders Randolph and Thomas Mills, with James Morrison, portray the principal male characters, while Eleanor Woodruff and Zena Keefe are seen in the feminine leads. At the Star, tonight only.

Marguerite Clark, the dainty little actress who has won the hearts of the motion picture public by her marvelous artistry and her irrepressible vivacity in recent productions of the Famous Players Film company, is being starred by that feature concern in "Still Waters," a story of the circus and of canal boat life, written especially for Miss Clark by Edith Bernard Delano. This rare combination of comedy and drama is the Paramount attraction at the Star theater tomorrow.
