ADMISSION 10c

Dearest Public:
No, the fruit isn't killed, but some of the "peaches" got pretty well cooled off.

Father, what are you going to get that son of yours for a graduation gift? We have some fine watches which are a lasting remembrance of the event that was the turning point in most peoples' lives.

If he is going to go out to "hit the grit" he has to have the time, whether you give it to him or not. A man without a watch is generally without a job. A job is something one takes when one is seeking a position.

And, girls, the swellest line of the latest in La Vallieres and rings, and if you are going to be a June slave you'd better speed up some, as we haven't sold the diamond ring yet and if you don't get the diamond before you are annexed you are wallering in very bum luck.

We have the prettiest little brooches you ever did see for laughing gas prices.

We have ice tea glasses in sets of six, and six guaranteed spoons for them at four dollars a set. Can you beat it?

Don't fail to see our window, as we have a line of new things for the season.

See the Japanese cultured pearls.

We have every kind of an Ingersoll that the machinery can turn out.

We repair most anything in the jewelry line.

No, we don't put sets in chairs.

If you don't hurry to my aid, I am going to be broke, and that soon.

I'll alum the road for you if you will start.
MEHATTAN.

Moving Pictures

There is joy again in the hearts of the "Ham-fans," for "Ham," that six-foot package of pure side-splitting comedy, has resumed his funny capers in front of the movie camera, after a layoff of several months necessitated by his falling from a ladder and fracturing a leg in taking one of the long chances necessary to bring out a little more humor in a film. Hamilton and his old partner, the diminutive Bud Duncan, will be seen at the Temple theater tonight in one of their funny "Ham and Bud" comedies, "Winning the Widow."

As part of the preparedness campaign now being conducted throughout the country, moving pictures of the immense "preparedness" parade in New York Saturday, May 13, taken by the Selig Tribune News Service and released through General Film Service, will be shown in all cities and towns where there are motion picture theaters. A notable achievement in connection with this move was the displaying on the screen in New York theaters Saturday night pictures of the early part of the parade, photographed Saturday morning by the Selig Tribune cameramen.

BEAVER BOARD

WALLS & CEILINGS

For new buildings or remodeling. Try it in one room or all the rooms.

Makes the house warmer in winter, cooler in summer. Used in all climates.

BEAVER BOARD is always decorated by painting. Its fine surface is easy to decorate, easy to keep clean—and holds the color, bright and attractive. The illustration shows what a simple process stenciling is and how effective.

BEAVER BOARD is permanent and beautiful and never cracks or needs repair like plastered walls. Widely used in preference to metal ceilings in commercial buildings. Put it up any time of the year—no muss or litter to it.

BEAVER BOARD is now treated on both sides to prevent absorption of moisture and resist all effects of climate and temperature.
