A Rare Opportunity

Our floor space is too valuable to be chocked full with smart, high class, over-stuffed furniture, that sells only occasionally, even in the great mart like Boston, New York and Dorris. Mrs. Homemaker, we are going to make room for goods that sell every day in the year, and we are going to give you the chance to help make this room for us. You can't buy all of it at this great sacrifice, but just enough, regardless of cost, to make room to turn around in. For one week you can buy:

Off to Get Votes for Women

Miss Nell Richardson

Mrs. Alice Snitzer Burke

Mrs. Alice Snitzer Burke and Miss Nell Richardson, two well known suffragettes, are booked for a journey of 10,000 miles in a little yellow car to stir up "Votes for Women." Leaving New York, they will head for New Orleans, and go on through the Southwest to Los Angeles and up the Pacific coast to San Francisco and Seattle.

They start back by way of Minneapolis, Chicago and Detroit. They will try to arouse the suffragettes over the country to the importance of the "Walkless Parade," which is to take place in St. Louis when the democratic national convention meets. The automobile itself is calculated to create a favorable impression wherever it goes. It is a gorgeous yellow, with white slip covers, doors of "campaign blue," boasts pocket vases of flowers, yellow flag sticks and "Votes for Women" banners and a cheery American eagle on the radiator. The trunks contain an assortment of tools, suffrage literature, reception gowns and food tablets.
