NO ACCOMPLICE

THE Chicago Herald comments on the proposed retention of sugar and upon the tentative plan for a consumption tax of one cent a pound upon the same article, as indicating "the difficulties of democratic leaders in trying to replace $10,000,000 a month which the Underwood tariff and the European war have subtracted from customs receipts."

This joint indictment is not justified by the facts. The European war has a bad name, and deservedly so in most respects, but it is not fairly to be joined with the Underwood tariff law in any attempt to place the responsibility for the precarious state of the national treasury. The sole criminal in this matter is the Underwood tariff. It has no accomplice.

The Underwood tariff is giving the United States a larger volume of imports and a smaller amount of customs receipts than any revenue measure which the country has ever witnessed. Recent months have been record breakers at the custom houses for goods received, and heart breakers for money taken in. The vast amount of business transacted has necessitated larger expenditures for salaries and wages and the treasury is no better off. In spite of the war in Europe, foreign producers have sought out and made use of the open spaces in the Underwood schedules of customs rates and our markets have been flooded with those goods which pay little or no tariff. The result is that we have an import trade of unparalled magnitude and customs receipts of unexampled paucity.

The democratic party undoubtedly would be glad to prove an alibi for the Underwood tariff law—even as the Chicago Herald suggests—but the fact is that the sole offender is the Underwood law. It has no accomplice.

REFORM AT THE BEGINNING

CANDIDATES of the legislature who proclaim their purpose to reduce public expenditures (and they all do) when the legislature meets this winter, will have a chance at the beginning of the session to show whether or not they will remember their promises. It has been the custom at the outset of a session to put upon the payroll so large an army of employes that it has been a strain on the walls of the capitol to contain them.

These appointments have been made without regard to the needs, but as a sort of acknowledgement for services supposed to have been rendered in the election campaign. If this sort of thing marks the opening days of the session this winter, then a farewell may at once be given to all hopes of reform-pledge performance on the part of the law makers.

THERE MUST BE big things doing across the water if War expects to be in it at all with American politics here this year.

NOW THAT Brandeis is on the bench, the work of the supreme court should be stimulated. Hold on! Fingers crossed.

THE QUESTION IS, will the world end the war—or will the war end the world?

A CENSUS OF ALL the kiddies in town shows that small sons who suffered intensely with intermittent cramps and stomach ache at 9:15 during the nine months beginning in September, are strangely free from these ailments now. Guess there's a little work to be done.

Women Barbers Popular in France

Because the men barbers of France are in the trenches, women nurses in the hospitals have found it necessary to learn how to shave their patients. This photograph shows two at work on a wounded soldier as he is propped up in bed.

CITY DRY, WATER WAGON MAY GO

DORRIS OFFICIALS FIND WE HAVE NO USE FOR THE TANK, AND MAKE A BID FOR ITS PURCHASE FOR THAT CITY

Klamath Falls, we well know, is "dry." Dorris, we are also well aware, is decidedly "wet."

Dorris wants a "water wagon," and seeks to buy the Klamath Falls wagon, which is now in the discard.

Since prohibition became effective, the Klamath Falls municipal water wagon has passed into disuse. The city recently acquired a flusher, with which the streets are sprinkled and cleaned at one operation.

Dorris, through her city recorder, seeks a price on the old sprinkler. The matter of a sale has been referred to the council's water committee.

BEGINS REPLY TO MEXICO IN ORDER TO COMPLETE IT BEFORE CONVENTION CRITICIZES—PERSHING AGAIN IN U. S.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—President Wilson has started writing a reply to Carranza's latest request for a withdrawal of United States forces. He intends to complete this before Thursday, if possible, to forestall any possible criticism of his Mexican policy by the republican convention.

The reply will state that American forces cannot be withdrawn until the United States is assured that bandit and border outrages are ended.

United Press Service

EL PASO, June 6.—General Pershing and staff have arrived at Columbus. This is the first time they have recrossed the border since entering Mexico, March 15th.

Important developments are expected. The party inspected all camps and supply routes on the way here.

United Press Service

"Savior of Paris" Dead at Versailles

GEN. GALLIENI

General Joseph Simeon Gallieni, the "savior of Paris," formerly military governor of the French capital, then minister of war, and later head of the French aerial corps, died at Versailles, aged 67. On August 27, 1914, when the German advance threatened Paris, general Gallieni was made military governor of the entrenched camp.

When General Maunoury assembled his new army to strike von Kluck's flank unawares Gallieni commandeered every motor taxicab in Paris, put into them 80,000 of his troops, and threw them into Maunoury's corps, the existence of which was unknown to the Germans. The Sunday battle of the Marne followed; von Kluck was crushed, and the retreat to the Aisne followed. For that Gallieni was made minister of war. In February, 1916, he took over the direction of the department of aviation, but kidney trouble compelled him to retire on March 6th.

Information about the Klamath country cheerfully furnished. Ask Chilcote. 26
