THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

THE selection of Justice Charles E. Hughes by the republican convention as the party nominee for President is a recognition of the demands of the mass of the people from nearly every state in the Union.

Many of the old party leaders did not want Mr. Hughes, and all of their energies and influence were concentrated in an effort to prevent a stampede to Hughes on an early ballot, in the hope that strength would develop for some other candidate. But public sentiment was too strong and wherever the people had been given an opportunity to express themselves, the sentiment was over whelmingly for Hughes. He can be rightly said to be the people's choice rather than the selection of any political machine.

For this reason Roosevelt will not gain much sympathy or support if he accepts the progressive nomination and attempts to split the vote of the republican party. There may have been some justice in Roosevelt's claim of four years' ago that steam roller politics were used at the nomination convention. At least, he gained many votes from people who believed his charges to be true. This year, however, he has not the slightest ground for making such a charge.

Charles E. Hughes is the one man to lead the republicans to victory at the November election, and the convention made a wise selection when they recognized this fact by their votes.

Neither Roosevelt, if he runs, nor Wilson will get the vote that they did four years ago. At that time republicans recognized the fact that there was no hope of electing Taft, so many of them went over to what they believed to be the strongest candidate, representing republican principles. A large number of republicans, who were personally opposed to Roosevelt, voted for the democratic candidate to prevent the election of Teddy.

This year no such condition exists. The fight will be between Hughes and Wilson. Even Roosevelt's warmest supporters realize there is no hope of his election, and for this reason the vast majority of republicans will vote the straight ticket. A change of administration is desired by business interests and the laboring class everywhere, and Hughes is the one man that can give it to them.

If you expect to buy a home in the city or country, Chilcote can save you money.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"The Witness of the Stones"

Chas. T. Hard, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

"And her answered and said, I tell you that if these shall hold their peace, the stones will cry out."—Jesus.

These words are either the thoughtless utterance of over wrought and over strained emotions or they are the utterance of absolute assurance and confidence. If the lips of any other than Jesus it would be over confident self-exaltation, but in his lips the utterance is bold but of great importance. "If these voices should for some reason be hushed so sure is my word and my mission that the very stones would open their mouths in testimony of me," was what he said, and little did the people of this day, realize how literally this was going to be fulfilled, but the stones have spoken and their message is beyond refutation.

1—A Confirmation of the Prophecy of Daniel.

In the seventh chapter of Daniel a figure is used of a "lion having eagle's wings," and many men have labored to prove the author of Daniel mistaken for no such thing exists in nature as is there recorded, but one day a large stone slab was unearthed out of the ruins of Ninevah on which was a sculptured "lion having eagle's wings" on it. It proves to be a symbol of an ancient kingdom and when Daniel recorded his visions he recorded that kingdom under its appropriate symbol. The lion was buried up and the book sealed up for nearly 2,300 years and now when skeptics deny the antiquity of the book of Daniel, the winged lion is dug up from its resting place for ages and placed in the British museum, to confirm the faithfulness of the sacred word. Modern research has found stones sleeping for ages in Bible lands and has awakened them from their long silence, and put tongues in them, that they may mutiny and protest against the imputation of mistakes in the sacred record; as their testimony cannot be doubted. They have been waiting in silence for the time when their testimony would be needed and their value be understood.

2—Identification of Belshazzar.

In Daniel 5:1, Belshazzar is called the "son of Nebuchadnezzar," and is also called "king" of Babylon. He was slain on the night the city was taken. According to other historians he was the son of Nabonidus who was king and who was out of the city when it was captured and lived sometime afterward. The answer comes from a Chaldean tablet, discovered in the city of Ur, from which Abraham came. The tablets contain records of kings from B. C. 2230, to Nabonidus B. C. 548. Sir Henry Rawlinson, a noted Orientalist translated these tablets and brought to light the fact that Nabonidus had at his eldest son Belshazzar; that this son reigned with his father; that there were two last kings of Chaldees, Nabonidus and Belshazzar. Daniel is right and so is the historian Berossus.

3—The Black Obelisk.

It is a famous monument of black marble now in the British museum. It was cut in the reign of Salmanneser

II, king of Assyria, B. C. 800-825. A series of sculptured pictures shows men of different nations bringing tribute to Salmanneser and among them is a file of Jews. The inscription says these came from Jehu, whose career as king of Israel is fully set forth in the Bible. It furnishes a perfect explanation of the history as recorded in the books of Kings and Chronicles in the Bible.

4—The Moabite Stone.

It is a large slab of black basalt now in the Louvre and was found in Moab, east of the Dead Sea, and was cut in the reign of Mesha, king of Moab about 850 B. C. It is a tribute to Chemosh, the Moabite deity. It names Omri, king of Israel and his son Ahab. It refers to Jehovah and completely illustrates a number of Bible details. It tells the story there found in Kings 3:4-27.

5—Egypt and the Bible.

The mummy of Ramesses II, the pharaoh of the bondage has been found. The city of Pithom has been discovered and the actual store houses built by the Hebrew slaves, the lower portion of the bricks containing straw, but most of them made without any. The mummy of Menepthah II the pharaoh of the Exodus has also been found with a Lyman of victory addressed to him, and mentioning Israel.

6—The Tel-el-Amarna Tablets.

There are more than 300 of these baked of clay. They were found in 1887 by a peasant woman at the village of Tel-el-Amarna on the Nile about 170 miles south of Cairo. They are cuneiform inscriptions in the Babylonian language and are a series of letters written to two Egyptian kings about 1400 B. C., by the governors of Syria, Palestine, Phoenicia and Philistia and the kings of Assyria and Babylonia. They show that Palestine was then tributary to Egypt, but that it had been for a long time previous tributary to Babylonia. They show Palestine to have been in a terribly disturbed state and in such a condition it would be the more easily taken by the Hebrews under Joshua. Among other interesting results of this find is the proof that written documents existed even before Moses. This over throws the theory that the older portions of the Bible were merely traditions.

7—Other Records.

The Code of Hammurabi, the Deluge tablet from Nineveh, the Taylor Cylinder, and many ancient manuscripts tell confirmatory stories of the Bible accounts and records.

Rationalism has long argued the fallibility of the Bible record and its legendary character but the spade has forever hushed these voices. It is always and ever on the side of the Bible as the word of God, for the Bible at its face value, and who can venture to say what will come to light as the spade continues its work of exploration and corroboration. Jesus said: "I tell you if these shall hold their peace—the stones will cry out."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By MARGARET MASON (Written for the United Press) If you don your bathing suit, You've chosen it with care, As on the beach to bathe you are en route, You'll find you have a following Replete with son and heir. It follows every man will follow suit.

NEW YORK, June 9.—If you want to take a dip, then, you'd better take a tip and select a suit impervious to water, for they're making more and more suits for bathing on the shore and to wear them in the wet you hadn't oughter.

In fact, most everyone is for bathing in the sun, and if you have desire for surf and brine, a one-piece suit is best: It will stand the aqua test and it fits a perfect figure simply fine. But if you think it fun just to linger near the sun—and, of course, a moneyed son you must prefer—there are ruffled suits galore that the brightest sons are for. They excite to envy human maids or mer. Of taffeta they're made, in all or any shade, but there's one of green that simply is divine. The skirt ruffles four and there simply can't be more, because above the knees it draws the line. The neck is rather low with a ruffle 'round it so, and the sleeves, of course, are nothing much to mention. Its cap is ruffled, too, with its knickers out of view, and to make appearance they have no intention.

Another suit of blue flaunts something very new; around the hips, believe me 'tis a hoop. There are scalloped by and fore down the front and then some, more around the skirt, but it's the hoop that is the coop. And so if you are brave in the trough of ocean wave you can go and roll your hoop with perfect ease. So, hoop-a-la, dear, hoops at first you may think queer, but for bathing suits they're chic soon each agree.

With sandals on her feet, clasping close her ankle neat, here's a maiden looks just like the Russian ballet, for her bathing suit bizarre has indeed a rainbow air as some ribbons blue, pink, purple round it rally. There is yellow ribbon, too, and the suit is green in hue, and its two-tiered skirt hangs down in jagged points that the divers ribbons edge, and the knickers closely hedge her shapely nether limbs below the knee joints.

Near the hips are ribbons placed that half gather in her waist, but the ribbons don't extend across the front. From square neck it falls quite plain and thus length of line doth gain and it makes it a good model for a runt. The sleeves are pointed tabs with more bright ribbon dabs. Oh, this bathing suit sure keeps the ribbons busy, for they also trim the neck and the helmet cap, by heck, and the whole thing's sure to make the fishes dizzy.

There are bathing mantles, too, that have stripes of hectic hue that bisect their ample folds of Tuscore silk and I think you will agree if rare sights you wish to see at the sea shore you will see more of this ilk.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh. Sparkling and vivacious — merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of stekily, anaemic looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists, we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere. An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drugstore, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv.
