Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition?

To the People:

The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition in armor-making ineffective.

The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. That would have made competition effective.

The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need.

The Government in fact has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them.

Armor makers serve but one customer—the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer—a community.

The solution of the public utility problem is regulation of rates.

The solution of the armor problem is for the Government to fix the price.

We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government?

Lumbermen Battle on Pelican City Diamond

By SAWDUST PETE

Pelican Bay Outlaws 12, Pelican Bay Regulars 6.

So read the score after Sunday morning's game at Pelican Bay ball park.

New it so happens that the Pelican Bay Lumber company is represented by a baseball team, the personnel of which included such famous lights as James Corkery, who says he knows the game; Charles (Brick) Lusk, whose right arm peg has made him the idol of the Pelican Bay small boys; A. Mutt Horton, whose knowledge of athletics, both amateur and professional, is almost uncanny; Russel Yates, who has a real repertoire of fast and fooling deliveries, not to mention other diamond stars, all of whom insisted that they could still go some.

Manager Corkery was heard by the boys of the office force to say that he had an invincible crew. The office men couldn't see it—they didn't have Jimmy's faith; and to prove things fairly, they challenged the Regulars to do battle on Sunday morning.

The office men called in Pike, the yard superintendent, and laid the case before him. Now Pike had a real career slipped in the bud when he entered a theological seminary some years ago. Also, Pike knew several more of the yard men could go in a pinch. So things were framed to give the Regulars a surprise.

Kelly, of "Slide, Kelly, Slide" fame, was placed on first; Taylor, who participated in the first game ever played south of the Mason and Dixon line, in 181, covered second bag; Mort Pike covered the difficult corner, and the grand old man himself, E. Hall Pike, stopped them at short. Ballard, fondly called "Feather," floated around left field. Big Bill Wink, who made baseball history before he knew lumber had any uses except for the manufacture of bats, played center, while Holland courted in the right meadow. Manager McAllister of the Outlaws held himself in reserve as a utility runner for the aged and decrepit on his team, and an amusing feature was added to the day's sport when Mac bribed Umpire Foster to call him out at first, after rounding the bases five consecutive times.

The only real error of the game came when Corkery's bat came in contact with the ball in the fifth frame, and Jimmie was so surprised that he forgot to run.

It was really too bad that Manager Ray Watt of the town team could not have been there, for he missed a chance to pick up some real players for his town aggregation.

DRINK HOT WATER AND RID JOINTS OF RHEUMATIC RUST

Why rheumatism and lumbago sufferers should drink phosphated hot water each morning before breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste material, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons, called uric acid, is formed and then sucked into the blood where it continues to circulate, collecting grain by grain in the joints of the body much like rust collects on the hinge shown above.

Men and women who suffer from lumbago, rheumatism or sore, stiff, aching joints should begin drinking phosphated hot water, not as a means to magic relief from pain, but to prevent more uric acid forming in the system. Before eating breakfast each morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will first neutralize and then wash out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons, thus, cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal each morning, before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make any rheumatic or lumbago sufferer an enthusiastic on the morning little bottle.

Millions of people keep their joints free from these rheumatic acids by practicing this daily internal sanitation. A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate, drunk before breakfast, is wonderfully invigorating; besides, it is an excellent health measure because it cleanses the alimentary organs of all the waste, gases and sour fermentations, making one look and feel clean, sweet and fresh all day.

Those who try this for one week may find themselves free from all headaches, constipation, bilious attacks, slowness, nasty breath and stomach acidity.—Adv.

"Divine Sarah's" Cousin Is Poverty Stricken, Old

United Press Service
CHICAGO, June 13.—Maurice Bernhardt, first cousin of the world's greatest actress, Sarah Bernhardt, lives today by himself in a dingy rooming house in North Chicago. He is eighty-two years old, nine years older than the "divine Sarah."

Bernhardt is a hero of the Civil War. His ancestors served under Napoleon. His father was, in his time, the most prominent oculist in Paris.

Maurice Bernhardt came to America as courier of the French ambassador Lascazes in 1854.

Some years later Bernhardt was appointed official interpreter by President Lincoln. Maurice speaks nine languages—English, French, German, Spanish, Italian, Flemish, Portuguese, Yiddish and Dutch.

At the outbreak of the Civil War Maurice joined the Union forces and was appointed first lieutenant of the cruiser Kearsarge.

He was assistant in command on the memorable cruise which resulted after two years in the sinking of the Confederate raider Alabama off the coast of Cherbourg.

After six years in the navy Bernhardt was given his honorable discharge.

He lost a small fortune in New York in the perfumery business, then came to Chicago. He eked out his existence here by the sale of perfumery.

His $30 pension, quarterly, goes to the maintenance of his son's three children in an orphan asylum.

Bernhardt has not heard from his cousin Sarah since the war started; before the war they were in constant communication.

CONVENTION MAKES PROVISION FOR VAST ARMY OF PRESS REPRESENTATIVES DURING REST OF WEEK

United Press Service
ST. LOUIS, June 13.—With the addition of several hundred seats in the press section of the Coliseum, the seating facilities for metropolitan newspaper correspondents at the democratic national convention which will open here tomorrow exceeds the press "coop" at the last convention in Baltimore. The seating capacity of the press sections in that city were nearly 500. St. Louis' arrangements will accommodate nearly twice that number.

A special balcony to be reserved for the editors and workers on democratic rallies in Illinois and Missouri has been built close to the speaker's stand.

Delegates and alternates will occupy the main floor of the Coliseum exclusively. Visitors will be seated in the galleries and boxes and the sergeant-at-arms has been instructed to see that no one but delegates, alternates and members of the press are permitted on the main floor.

About 8,500 seats are set aside for visitors in the two galleries and the boxes.

Successor to Empire Builder

Louis W. Hill, now 44 years of age, son of the great empire builder, James J. Hill, will succeed to the work of his father and the control of the great fortune and property the elder Hill built up. Mr. Hill has been trained through many years for this work, and those who know him believe he will be able to manage the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads as his father meant them to be managed.

WAR BREAD IS IN DUTCH WITH DUTCH

PEOPLE AND PHYSICIANS SAY THEY CAN NO LONGER HAVE WHEAT HUSKS TICKLING THEIR TUMMIES

United Press Service
THE HAGUE, June 13.—Holland's war bread, which has been in use for the last few weeks, will have to be changed. The Holland populace says so, the physicians of Holland says so and the government is expected to agree.

Unlike the war bread of all other European countries, Holland bread is made of flour which contains husks of the wheat. Even the sturdy Dutch stomach is unable to endure the scrapings and scratchings of the wheat husks and shortly the physicians of Dutch cities and towns had a rush of patients whose digestive organs had gone wrong. The doctors quickly traced the trouble to the war bread.

Logging Operations Are Ruining Scenic Highway

been invited to route themselves our way in order to enjoy our scenic wonders and visit our summer resorts. If necessary the matter will be taken into the courts to compel the logging and timber companies to comply with the law.

The law is being plainly violated, and the parties are not only liable to a civil suit for damages, should the same be brought by some taxpayer of Klamath county, but criminal proceedings can be instituted.

It is not the intention or desire on the part of motorists to complain of the legitimate use of the highways, but when the highway is totally destroyed in utter disregard of the provisions of the law, they think it time to take some steps to see that the laws are enforced.

The Herald believes that perhaps the parties conducting the operations are not fully aware of the provisions of the law on the subject, and for their benefit, and the benefit of others who may contemplate an unusual use of the highways of Klamath county, it adds the laws and statutes now upon the books relative to the use of highways.

Section 1977 of our statutes provides as follows:

If any person shall willfully break down, injure, remove or destroy any tree or toll bridge, railway, plank road, macadamized road, telegraph or telephone posts or wires, or any gate upon such road, or lock or embankment of any canal, or shall willfully arrange telephone or telegraph wires so as to interfere with their efficiency, or shall willfully obstruct in any manner the service of such telephone or telegraph wires, such person, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than six months nor more than two years, or by a fine not less than $50.00 nor more than $1,000.00.
