ONE-THIRD OFF ON BOX CANDIES

NEXT THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

YOU ASK US, "WHAT IS A ONE-CENT SALE?"
It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price—then another item of the same kind for 1c. As an illustration: The standard price of Rexall Tooth Paste is 25c. You buy a tube at this price and by paying 1c more or 25c you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise just the same as we sell you every day at regular prices, and have sold you for years.

The Conditions of This Sale Are Such That All Purchases Must Be Cash

YOU ASK US, "CAN YOU AFFORD TO SELL MERCHANDISE AT THESE PRICES?"
Our answer is, "We cannot." This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1c. It costs money to get new customers and the loss taken on this sale will be well spent if the goods please you.

We Are Ready to Drop German Food Supply Case as Related by Travelers

A Load of Wood in Your Shed Any Time
Seehorn GETZ Wood
622 Main Street Phone 72

NOTE—To ascertain at first hand what effect the food stringency in Germany was having on the lives of the civil population, Shepherd went to Rotterdam and secured a set of food stories from travelers leaving Germany, detailing their experience.—Editor.

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD (United Press Staff Correspondent) ROTTERDAM, Holland, May 25—(By Mail).—Babies seven months to a year old are eating carrots, apples and spinach in Germany.

Other folks beside babies are having food troubles. These food stories we'll tell about them all.

If you watch the consulates here and keep your eyes on the incoming trains you can meet, every day, a scant few persons who have just come from Germany and who will gladly tell you what experiences they have as go are the wartime show places of Berlin. When the American writers have said of the plentifulness and the excellence of the food, is not necessarily true.

Here in Rotterdam you get the truth, straight from the dining rooms and kitchens of civilians in every part of Germany. It indicates that life in Germany is uncomfortable, highly so, for a civilian who is keeping house.

Here's a Swedish mechanic from Germany, running around Rotterdam filling his arms with packages of bacon, bottles of olive oil and rice. Perhaps the Hollanders will refuse him permission to take these things across the border, but, "I'm going to make a try of it," says he.

Here's a pretty American girl dining alone in a Rotterdam restaurant. She's studying music in Berlin. "I've just run over to Holland to spend a week eating," she says.

Here's a Spanish woman with three little children. "I brought the baby down to get him some milk. He is tired of carrots, spinach and apples.

No wonder; he is only seven months old."

And here are Germans—rich, elderly, retired Germans—who haunt the doorways of the hotel restaurants, waiting for the American plan dinner bell to ring and who seem to be always eating, even at the hated English tea hour. They are here for a week. Then they go back to Germany.

Germany, civilian Germany, is hungry. Not hungry for victuals, because victuals are anything a human can eat and digest, but for decent food like meat and wheat and milk and animal and vegetable fats. (How and why tiny, toothless German babies eat apples, carrots, spinach and oatmeal, instead of gurgling milk, will be the subject of Shepherd's next German food story).
