

Allied Offensive Becomes Ferocious Today

MEXICANS CONTINUE HOSTILE MOVEMENTS

TREVINO'S FORCES SAID TO BE NEARING PERSHING'S BASE, WHILE NEARBY GARRISONS ARE BEING STRENGTHENED—MEXICAN OFFICER ARRESTED FOR RECRUITING TEXAS NEGROES FOR THE CARRANZA ARMY

United Press Service
EL PASO, July 1.—Carranza troops in Southern Chihuahua are approaching the American connecting lines. General Trevino is approaching Pershing's base at Colonia Dublan.

Mexican reinforcements are arriving at the Villa Ahumada garrison.

Officers believe these moves are a forerunner of an American attack, should war be declared.

United Press Service
BROWNSVILLE, July 1.—Fort Brown officials have learned that General Nafarrete and 500 Mexicans have reached Matamoros. They made the trip from Tampico in commandeered automobiles.

United Press Service
LAREDO, July 1.—Dr. Jose Moaley of the Mexican army medical corps was arrested here on charge of recruiting negroes for the Carranza army. He has a commission from General Nafarrete.

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—Carranza's American friends have received advice indicating that Carranza's reply to Wilson's note will not be definite. The note will probably declare the continued presence of the American expedition in Mexico an infringement upon Mexican sovereignty.

The statement published in Mexico City yesterday is believed to have been only for home consumption.

United Press Service
COLUMBUS, July 1.—Great quantities of supplies are being unloaded here, and American defense preparations are being rushed. Motor trucks and trains are redistributing the forces along the border.

A strict censorship prevails.

New Road to Eugene is Sought by Crescent Men

A road to shorten the distance from Eugene to Klamath county points, and to make a new route for tourists from that section bound for California is being seriously talked of by residents of Crescent. Local men have been appraised of the plan, and they will take the matter up with the county court, as the project is one of great possibilities.

H. Zimmerman of Crescent has taken the matter up with a number of local people, and the plan as explained by him appeals to all.

The present route from Eugene to Crescent is from Eugene to Bend via McKenzie Pass, a distance of 130 miles, and from Bend to Crescent, an additional fifty miles. The route followed by California bound tourists is from Bend to LaPine, Silver Lake, Paisley and Lakeview.

According to the proposed route, the road by a connection with the old military road would make the distance from Eugene to Crescent 100 miles, and would route the southern bound tourists through Crescent, Crater Lake and Klamath Falls, and into California along the Tule Lake road.

Commanding the British Attack

General Hague

General Sir Douglas Hague became commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces last winter. The offensive just launched by his men is the first big "drive" started since his promotion to this place, and the eyes of the world will watch closely his executive ability as displayed by the success or failure of this gigantic venture.

K. F. COMPANY OFFERS SERVICES TO COL. GANTENBEIN'S INFANTRY

At last night's meeting of those interested in the formation of a military company here, a motion was unanimously passed to offer the services of the company as a unit in the volunteer regiment being tentatively raised by Colonel C. U. Gantenbein. The idea is to offer a company from here, so the Klamath men, in case they are called out, will go to the front as a unit, with their own officers, surgeons, etc.

The following telegram was sent to Colonel Gantenbein last night:

"Klamath Falls begs permission to raise a company for your regiment. Sixty-five men, including many with military experience, enrolled already, and the rest will be enrolled in a few days, when organization work will start. Please advise, as we wish to join as a company."

It is the intention to organize the company as soon as possible. Therefore, a campaign is to be made to secure enough men to insure the mustering in of 150 physically fit members. A recruiting committee, composed of J. V. Corkery, Lester L. Terwilliger, C. T. Oliver and Louis Martin was appointed last night, and these men will make a canvass of the county, seeking prospective members.

The volunteers received their first taste of hostilities toward the end of the meeting, when a Mr. Morgan, who claimed to represent the Anti-War Society of New York, arose to dispute the organization of a company here, holding the men would go forth to give their lives for the protection of the interests of Hearst and other American millionaires. His talk was decidedly not a plea for patriotism, despite Morgan's claim that he had followed the flag in the Philippines, in Mexico and elsewhere, and the reception it received showed that the remarks were decidedly ill-timed.

W. H. A. Renner was the first to his feet, and he poured forth a bitter denunciation of such remarks, declaring them to be traitorous and anarchistic, and he stated that if it were any place but at this particular meeting, where the men present sought to keep their control, Morgan might be treated to mob violence. Renner cited his own evolution from a farmhand and day laborer to a place before the bar as one of the millions of cases that could only be brought about under the protection of the American flag, and he declared himself ready to resent any such remarks whenever and wherever he heard them. The exhortation of the visitor and the splendid tribute paid the flag and all it stands for made an address, which, although extemporaneous, stirred the patriotism of all present to the depths, and made each man proud to be an American, and a candidate for an organization being raised to fight for American principles.

C. T. Oliver also arose to denounce the speech, as did Dr. Johnson and several others. There were cries of "put him out," and hisses for Morgan, but when he arose to speak again, he was accorded the privilege of the floor. His remarks this time were in defense of his statement, with the allegation that it is the food prepared by the big packing houses that kill off the soldiers. Asked by C. F. Stone regarding his army experience, Morgan stated that his service was in the navy.

J. B. McAllister then arose to his feet and stated that although Morgan did not care to serve his country, there are plenty of red-blooded Americans who did, and he moved that Colonel Gantenbein be notified of the intention to organize here. This carried amid a thunder of cheers, and Morgan departed.

The meeting was a real rousing affair, and the general opinion prevailed that Klamath Falls should organize a company for service in Mexico if needed and as a national guard organization for preparedness if not needed in the south. The speakers all contended that the Klamath men must go as a company, not scattered to fill up other companies, and more than one man of prominence arose to say that he would rather go to the front as a private in a Klamath company, composed of willing men, than as an officer in some other organization.

Charles F. Stone talked of the advantages of the military training, and urged action as much as possible. Dr. Johnson spoke of the great fighting unit a Klamath county company, composed of Klamath men, full of resourcefulness, would be, and he held that there should also be raised in conjunction a Klamath hospital corps, to see that Klamath men are properly cared for by Klamath doctors and assistants. Dr. Cathey also spoke for a hospital corps.

Captain Lee, a Confederate veteran, spoke heartily in favor of a Klamath company, as did J. W. Redfield, who wore the blue in the '60's. Both men made sincere, patriotic appeals, as did Renner in his first talk, in which he urged the securing of enough men at once to insure a company, and then proceed at once with the organization, his motion for the appointment of a committee to make a thorough canvass being carried by a unanimous vote.

O. A. Stearns spoke of the benefits of the military training, also of the trait of leaving it all to the other fellow, instead of getting ready for eventualities in time of peace. C. T. Oliver also spoke of the need of preparedness, citing the example shown in Europe at the outbreak of the war, and stated that while he hopes to be able to be a member of the company, he will do his best in the meantime to secure as many recruits as possible.

Dr. Leonard spoke of the need of getting many more than the required number of men, owing to the strictness of the physical tests, and Captain O. C. Applegate and City School Superintendent Dunbar spoke of the advantages of military training, the gain from discipline, and the splendid patriotism it instills into the hearts of all who serve under arms, either in active or drill work, and of the need of military training in the schools.

Thus far there are seventy-one names on the organization list, with these as additions since yesterday's report: Judd Low, J. L. Martin, James B. Foster, Robert Winingham, Dr. J. L. Harris, Rev. S. W. Hall, H. R. Graves, M. L. Smith, E. R. Hara of Lorella, Roy Smith, Lester Nichols, Clarence Wallace, Bonanza.

FOUR DROWNED IN CLOUDBURST

MORO, Ore., July 1.—Rescue parties found bodies of four victims of the Hay Canyon cloudburst last night. The bodies of Mrs. A. Fortner and daughter, Mrs. L. H. Lawrence, were found four miles down the canyon, while about three miles down were found the bodies of John Hunsman and O. T. Burnett.

Crown Prince Commands the Austrian Soldiers

Arch Duke Karl Franz Josef, who was but 26 years of age, and a major in the army. Since then he has risen largely in the plunging of Europe into war) has become the crown prince of Austria, is becoming quite a military leader. At the outbreak of the war he was but 26 years of age, and a major in the army. Since then he has risen rapidly, and has sought to carry out all of the wishes of the aged emperor, Franz Josef.

SACRAMENTO ALL STARS COMING

GAME WILL BE PLAYED TOMORROW IF THE WEATHER IS AT ALL FAVORABLE — PETERSON WILL BE RESERVE MAN

The Sacramento All-Stars, a team composed of the best men of the Trolley League, banded together by Harry L. Duke and Al Hughson, will arrive tonight for a three-game series with the Klamath Falls team. Unless the weather gets too sassy, the first game will be played tomorrow.

Bogart, the hard-hitting new infielder, will play short, and Dutch Allen will play the right garden. Peterson, who has been playing that position, will be on the bench for use as a pitcher.

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET ON MONDAY

WILSON AND MARSHALL CLUB WILL HOLD AN IMPORTANT SESSION AT THE COURT HOUSE NEXT WEEK

A meeting of the Wilson and Marshall Club will be held Monday night at the circuit court room of the court house. All democrats are requested to attend.

Matters of importance are to receive consideration at this time, according to O. E. Wilkey, secretary of the organization.

SEALED ORDERS GIVEN CRUISER

FLAGSHIP OF PACIFIC SQUADRON STEAMS SOUTHWARD FROM SAN DIEGO, CAUSING MUCH EXCITEMENT THERE

United Press Service
SAN DIEGO, July 1.—The cruiser San Diego, flagship of the Pacific reserve squadron, sailed southward today under sealed orders. This unexpected departure caused much excitement.

It was previously announced that the warships would all remain here unless development necessitated the use of additional vessels in Mexican waters.

Applegate Visits.
Captain I. D. Applegate came in today from Dry Lake on a business trip.

Naval Brush is Reported; Oregon Troops Detrain

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—The house today passed the Hay resolution appropriating $2,000,000 for the relief of milltimen's families. The resolution gives the secretary of war power to pay the families $50 per month.

United Press Service
SAN DIEGO, July 1.—The Third Oregon infantry and Troop A, Oregon cavalry, detrained here today. The Oregonians were given a great ovation as they paraded through the streets on

BRITISH CLAIM BIG GAINS WHEN INFANTRY MOVES

BERLIN SAYS BRITONS ARE HELD BACK

Reports From London Indicate a General Advance by the French and the English all Along the Western Front, While Advices From the Western Theater Are to the Effect That the Russians Advance.

United Press Service
LONDON, July 1.—The British offensive began at 7:30 this morning. The terrific bombardment ceased, and the British suddenly charged, the first rush carrying sixteen miles of German trenches.

The Britons dug new trenches behind the heaps of German dead, and prepared to go ahead again.

The British casualties were light in the morning onslaught. German prisoners said that owing to the intensity of the British shelling, they had no food for three days.

It is semi-officially announced that the British captured Serre, fourteen miles southwest of Arras, and Montaubon, six miles east of Albert. La Boisselle was also captured by the British.

British troops have taken north of Fricourt. They are strongly attacking at Beaumont Hamel.

French forces have advanced a mile or more from Curlu and Savier woods. An Anglo-French force is attacking Mametz.

The eastern part of Pont a Maisson has been seized by the French. An allied drive is directed against Cambrai. London is wildly excited.

United Press Service
BERLIN, July 1.—It is announced that the repeated attacks by French and British forces have everywhere been repulsed.

United Press Service
PARIS, July 1.—The Germans launched a powerful attack along both banks of the Meuse, the most violent fighting in many weeks.

The enemy temporarily occupied the fortified works of the east of Hill No. 304, and penetrated Thiaumont.

The French hold the outskirts of that village.

Three German mass attacks have been repulsed.

German long range guns are shelling Nancy.

PETROGRAD, July 1.—The Russians continue their advance westward in Galicia and Bukovina. A total of 217,000 prisoners have been taken.

the way to their camp sites near the exposition grounds.
GALVESTON, July 1.—Refugees arriving report Mexican soldiers attacked bluejackets from the gunboat Salem at Tampico Tuesday. The sailors returned the fire, and it is reported that two Americans were wounded.

Expected This Evening.
Mr. and Mrs. Brewbaker expect as guests on the train this evening Mr. and Mrs. G. Todhunter and two sons from Fresno, Calif.