

WITHYCOMBE WILL HELP IN OPENING

The latest ally for Klamath county in the campaign to open the Klamath Indian reservation is Governor James Withycombe. He writes as follows to Captain J. W. Siemens, president of the Klamath Commercial Club:

"This is in acknowledgement of your letter of June 28th, signed by yourself and Mr. Fred E. Fleet, manager, on behalf of the Klamath Commercial Club, asking my assistance in securing the passage of a bill in congress to open the Klamath Indian reservation."

"I assure you it will give me great pleasure to be of what assistance I can in this matter, and I am today writing Senator Harry Lane urging the importance of the proposed measure.

"Copies of the tentative drafts you mention have not come to my attention, but I appreciate the great value of such a move to your county. I shall be glad, indeed, to do whatever I can to aid in the development of your county."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

DARKENS BEAUTIFULLY AND RESTORES ITS NATURAL COLOR AND LUSTRE AT ONCE

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the sage tea and sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application of two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

UNIFYING SOCIAL FORCES

ALTOGETHER too many communities are like the fellow who "just sits around waiting for something to turn up"; their citizens do nothing whatever as groups to "hew out their communities' destiny" as they would hew out their own futures. Yet much of their success in a material way and practically all of their achievements and growth in a social way are determined by the direction of their communities' social forces.

Wide-awake citizens should not leave the destinies of their communities to chance any more than they would leave their personal affairs to follow their course without rule or plan. The community's function is largely social, and it should partake to the largest possible degree of the character of what is best among its members; it should be the channel or the medium for expressing their social aspirations and for the satisfying their normal social instincts.

When one learns of the unsatisfied yearning that the average rural resident has for companionship and for social intercourse with his fellows one is astonished that there should remain a community in which a club or some other community organization does not contribute to the satisfying of that yearning. Most clubs and secret orders do not meet requirements because they are exclusive in character. What is needed in a community club is that it shall be open to all, and that shall offer something that appeals to everybody.

In every community are multitudes of forces at work; some operating in the homes, some in the schools, others in the churches, and still others in the various clubs and orders. There are, however, others still that affect all members of the community regardless of church, club, lodge or other affiliations, and these are the forces that should be unified and made effective through the community club. When so unified and voiced as public sentiment they become potent for progress and uplift. When its social forces are not so unified and voiced, a community is weak and well-nigh valueless to its members.

Not only does the community organization align the forces of decency and progress, but it brings them to bear upon the inertia, the indifference and the opposition to progress that block the paths to higher levels. Every good citizen has seen worthy projects defeated when he knew that the majority of his fellows were in favor of them. We have all seen the small organized force again and again defeat the large unorganized force. Only by organization can the enterprising and progressive citizens of a community give to their own character and make it the channel for expressing their highest ideals and aspirations. Pride in one's community ought to inspire every good citizen with a desire to give to it a good character and a good name exactly as he would bequeath a good character and a good name to his own offspring.

American Heroes Helping France in the Great War

AMERICAN AMBULANCE CORP OF THE FRENCH ARMY.

Americans in Vienna Not Accorded Much Respect

By WILBUR S. FORREST

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 5.—Americans are decidedly persona non grata in Vienna. English are detested as much by the Viennese as they are by the Germans, according to an American just returned from the Austrian capital. Americans are hated because they speak English.

"It is unsafe for Americans to speak English in the streets and cafes," said the American.

"We hate everything English," said two Austrian officers to me," added the American. "I happened to be in a cafe near Graben with some attaches from the American embassy, and, as was quite natural, I was speaking English with them. The officers repeated their remark, whereupon I wrote on my card that I was an American, and offered it to them. They declined to take my card, and asserted more loudly than before that they did not care whether we were English or Americans.

"Everybody in the cafe got excited, stood up and yelled at us, 'Out with you! Get out! Throw them out!' We defied the two officers to give us their cards, which they refused. We threw down our cards on their table and left.

"Another day, having said a few words in English over the telephone in a cafe, I was insulted as I left the telephone cabin by a man who said: 'We want no English here,' to which I replied: 'And we wouldn't want you in the states.'

According to this American, all Viennese shops prominently display postcards, boxes of matches and badges of all varieties, with the motto inscribed, "God Punish England."

The Viennese are of the opinion that the war is all over but the shouting, with the central empires on top.

They crowd about the cafes daily, listen to the gypsy bands and drink to the health of the army. Though only women, children and old men remain as civilians, they look upon the daily rations of bread, meat, sugar and other necessities of life as a military necessity, which will soon fade away when the central empires deem it prudent to make peace.

Scattered throughout Vienna are numerous government depots for the reception of brass, copper and other metals. The windows are placarded with posters three feet high, with a picture of a big howitzer firing an enormous shell, and under it the inscription: "Your government needs copper for these shells." The people have given practically all the copper they possess, but have received a good price from the government for it.

VOCATIONAL NEED OF NEGROES TOLD

EDUCATORS ARE INFORMED THAT COLORED PEOPLE MUST BE GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN THE TRADES

United Press Service

NEW YORK, July 5.—Preparedness for war and peace, the education of negroes and alien population are the key notes of today's session of the National Education Association here. G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., addressed the association on "The Present War and Education." He declared that the training which best fits for efficiency in times of peace should be emphasized in our programs of education. Fanny Fern Andrews, secretary of the American school peace league, Boston, advocated peace with honor at any price.

She declared "nothing is more conspicuous in the present war than the sensitiveness of the belligerents to the charges of violations of treaties and the established law of nations.

"The combined action of modern powers represented generally by the head conferences has developed this sense of responsibility—a great step in world progress. On those who administer education in this critical time rests the responsibility of preserving and advancing those ideals for which all civilized nations are striving, and especially have the teachers of this nation an important part to play."

"Hollie B. Frissell, principal of the Hampton Normal and Industrial Institute, Hampton, Va., spoke on "The Education of the Negro" in which he especially emphasized the need of specific vocational training as the secret of educating the negro race.

"The Education of the Alien" was discussed by John H. Finley of New York, state commissioner of education. Dr. Finley advocates the teaching of languages, efficiency in trades and occupations, better home conditions, and the emphasis of the highest American ideals; Homer H. Seerley, president of the Iowa State Teachers College of Cedar Falls, advocated national aid for all forms of vocational education.

Other associations meeting today with the National Education Association are: American national school hygiene association, federation of state teachers association, the league of teachers associations, the American home economics association, the national council of teachers of English and American posture league.

Eight hundred leading educators of the association were guests at the luncheon given at the Waldorf Astoria in honor of David B. Johnson, president of the association, by the department of school administration.

Summons
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Klamath County
George W. Stephens, Plaintiff, vs.
Winnie May Stephens, Defendant.

To Winnie May Stephens, Defendant:
Above Named:
In the name of the state of Oregon, You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before Wednesday, the 18th day of August, 1916, that being the last day of the time prescribed in the order of publication of this summons, and if you fail so to appear and answer, for want thereof plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in his complaint, to-wit: for a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and defendant, for the care and custody of Blanche Annetta Stephens, and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem equitable. This summons is served upon said defendant by publication thereof in the Evening Herald, a newspaper of general circulation printed and published at Klamath Falls, Klamath county, Oregon, once a week for six weeks, by order of Honorable D. V. Kuykendall, judge of the above entitled court, made, dated and filed in this cause on July 5, 1916, the date of the first publication thereof being Wednesday, the 5th day of July, 1916.

R. C. GROESBECK,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

A Talk With a Klamath Falls Man

D. C. Smith, Carpenter, of 22 Ninth Street, Tells of an Interesting Experience

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Klamath Falls man:
Mr. Smith says:
"I used to be subject to lumbago, which, at times, was very severe. Often my back got so lame and stiff that it bothered me a great deal when I came to straighten up. Whenever I feel this trouble coming on, I start taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and they always relieve the misery in my back and make it possible for me to get about as well as ever."

Price, 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because

- its flavor is so different and so delightfully good;
- it can't bite your tongue;
- it can't parch your throat;
- you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any come-back but real tobacco happiness!

On the reverse side of every Prince Albert package you will read:
"PROCESSED BY JULY 20TH, 1907"

That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on top no matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into. For, Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The happy red hat sells for a nickel and the tidy red tin for a dime; then there's the handsome pound and half-pound tin humidor and the panned crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such bang-up trim all the time!

In goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so food and drink taken each day leaves in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women, with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking, and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowels pores do.—Adv.
