AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR TURNS GRAY, FADED HAIR DARK AND GLOSSY

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of dandruff.—A.S.V.

KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1916

LIMBURGER AND TAXATION

FOLLOWING their announcement that a tax will be levied on munitions of war to bolster up the Underwood tariff-for-less-than-revenue law the democrats have gotten into an awful stew as to just what articles will come under the munition of war category. The Standard Dictionary definition of "munition" is "Ammunition and all necessary war material, including stores of every kind; all requisites for warfare, exclusive of money and men." This is pretty comprehensive when the methods of conducting modern warfare are considered. According to Secretary Redfield's idea of what properly constitutes munition of war, only 5 per cent of our export trade comes under that category.

Then there is the ever-growing list coming under the British orders in respect to contraband of war. Mr. Redfield, for instance, would eliminate dairy products from the classification of war munitions.

Now, suppose a limburger cheese were born in Wisconsin and expatriated to Germany. Mr. Redfield would not call this a war munition, even though it might constitute considerable more than 5 per cent of our exports. Suppose that cheese were surrounded by the entire British fleet, and in the slaughter which ensued it were captured and towed into quarantine. The British high court of admiralty, resolving itself into a coroner's board, after most hasty deliberation, declares the cheese to be contraband, and adjourns instanter. Following this "international crisis," as President Wilson would call it, a democratic congress proceeds to the consideration of taxation of munition of war. Would they accept the Redfield classification of limburger cheese, or would it be declared a proper subject of taxation on the strength of the decision of the admiralty court and the cheese's own personality?

Would they permit the cheese to plead its own case before a democratic "smelling" committee, or would they fear such a procedure would subject them to the charge of encouraging an "insidious lobby"? It is a matter fraught with grave consequences. The public should know.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

THE epidemic of infantile paralysis in New York has become alarming. The number of cases is large and the spread of the disease is rapid. Science discovered not long ago that infantile paralysis is caused by germs from a fly which infects horse barns. No doubt the infection is drawn from horses. The germ has been isolated, but apparently no effective serum has yet been manufactured. In view of these facts, we can hardly regret the replacement of the horse by the motor vehicle in our cities. The gas engine is a great deal more cleanly than the horse, and, as modern science discloses, it is far less dangerous to the public health. As long as cities shelter horses, with the flies that pestier them, we may expect to see epidemics of this terrible disease reappearing. Of course, a wholly effective serum may some time be made, but how much better it would be to dispense with the remedy by removing the cause of the disease as soon as circumstances permit.—Oregon Journal.

Scattered Shots

OUR APPETITES are better than Ashlanders'. "The numerous lunch stands and few restaurants served lunches. Maybe that suited Ashland residents, but we visitors wanted a real meal," says J. Frank Adams, the Klamath county stockman, and a judge at the Rogue River Round-Up. YOU'LL GET to see in action the only team that has defeated Klamath Falls this year, if you are at Modoc Park tomorrow afternoon. KLAMATH COUNTY may not have shown to its best in the various contests at the Round-Up, but we certainly gave them a demonstration of our belief in the "Better Babes" theory. THE FOURTH IS OVER, but this year in Klamath county begins to look like one continuous celebration.

Rockefeller is 77 Today

World's Richest Man Tells Why He Hopes to Live to be a Hundred

RULES BY WHICH JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER HOPES TO LIVE TO BE 100

To attain age without being old, just don't worry about anything. Watch your waistline, and take precautions to avoid getting overweight. Drink lots of water all the time. Drink at least three quarts a day. Keep your body active. See that every muscle works. Exercise lots. Never go to sleep unless you can lie down somewhere in the fresh air.

NEW YORK, July 6.—John D. Rockefeller, the richest man in the world, and one of the youngest old ones, is 77 years of age today. Mr. Rockefeller has his health and $500,000,000. That's not far short of a billion bucks. Dr. H. F. Biggar, Rockefeller's personal physician for twenty-five years, declares Rockefeller will live to be more than 100 years old, because he follows the rules outlined above. When Dr. Biggar took John D. to make him over the oil king was going down grade fast. He had worn himself to shreds building up his enormous fortune. The doctor told him he must rest or he would die. Rockefeller has been resting ever since. He works, but just to suit himself.

In addition to having about $500,000,000 in his own right now, Rockefeller probably has given to his children and charities and his colleges between two and three hundred million dollars. The realizable market value of his Standard Oil holdings alone recently was estimated at half a billion dollars. It is estimated that Rockefeller's income is $60,000,000 a year, which is equivalent to $5,000,000 a month, $1,153,846.15 a week, $4,353.97 an hour, $140.40 a minute, $2.34 a second. Rockefeller has accumulated every cent of this wealth since 1865, when he made his first $5,000. In 1875 he had $25,000,000. In 1885 he had $100,000,000. In 1900 he had $400,000,000. In 1905 he had $550,000,000.

California Citizens Learn the Art of Being Soldiers

United Press Service MONTEREY, July 6.—Twenty-five hundred men from all parts of the Pacific slope are expected to answer "here" when their names are called Monday at the opening of the citizens' military training camp here. There were 2,000 enrolled this week, and officers felt confident that 500 more recruits would be obtained. The "rookies" will muster three regiments, each larger than a regular army regiment in peace times. Most of the men came from Los Angeles, with San Francisco a close second. Arrangements for the plan and for sanitation at the encampment have been completed. It will be a regular warlike camp, and the students will be kept at the war game for a full month. Some of the best athletes in Southern California have enlisted. They are all in first class training, so it is expected that there will be keen competition in the athletic events which are to be a feature of the camp life. Northern California has also contributed a good showing of athletes, and northern and southern teams may be organized to fight it out for the prizes.

New Carburetor Planned for Coal-Oil Jitney Fuel

United Press Service CLEVELAND, July 6.—About a month from today George A. Eynon, a local machinist, will begin to market a carburetor that will, it is claimed, lighten the motorist's heart by running his car with coal oil instead of priceless gasoline. Eynon accidentally discovered the principle by which he devised his carburetor. One day he spilled some oil on a rag and carelessly brought a hot iron near. Vapor was given off. The problem was solved. Eynon wrapped four inches of thin wire around a few shreds of asbestos and sent an electrical current through the wire. The asbestos acted as a wick and the heated oil vaporized enough oil to start the engine. As soon as the engine is started the electricity is turned off and vaporization is maintained by the burning of a little oil in a combustion chamber. A test proved that a car could be driven sixty-three miles on four and a half gallons of coaloil. Heavy cars fitted with the carburetor have made 11 to 12 miles on a gallon of kerosene. SKATTERS WILL SKAT FOR THE SKAT CHAMPIONSHIP United Press Service MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 7.—Three thousand skatters will silently sit down in a large hall here tomorrow for the first of three games of skat that will decide about $5,000 in prizes and the national skat championship. Silently the skatters will sit in this Saxon card game that resembles whist, for three hours. The first of the eighty deals will be made at 3 p. m. For three days this program will be repeated. Then the prizes, of which the first is $1,000, will be awarded.

There will be a musical concert at St. Cloud tomorrow afternoon. Some rare numbers will be rendered by the St. Cloud mechanical choir.

We are told that the damages to the Klamath Manufacturing company's mill by the recent fire were not so great as was at first thought, and that the mill will soon be running full time.

The splendid field of sugar beets on the Buena Vista hills near St. Cloud are worth a visit. Seldom has a better field been seen.
