JURY IS OUT FOUR HOURS AND FIFTY MINUTES

College Boy of Wisconsin Will Not Pay Penalty for Death of His Sweetheart in Woods Last February—The Case Was Mysterious, and Attracted Attention in All Parts of the United States.

NEW TRAIN WILL BEGIN TOMORROW

WAIKIKGAN, July 17.—William H. Orpet, accused of the murder on February 10th of his girlfriend, Marion Lambert, was acquitted by the jury Saturday night. The jury was out only four hours and fifty minutes.

It was the contention of the defense that the girl had committed suicide. After arranging an alibi to conceal the fact that he had left Madison, Orpet went to Lake Forest on the night of February 8th. The next morning Orpet met Marion by appointment in the woods, told her he was "through," and was going to marry Miss Youker.

Marion, Orpet declared, sobbed, called him back, and evidently swallowed poison when he refused to return. At any rate, he declares, she fell to the snow-clad ground and when he reached her side she was dying. Marion died in his arms, Orpet said. The boy admitted that he fled back to Madison and made every effort to conceal his departure. Marion, Orpet stated, had told him she was fearful of her condition. An autopsy showed there was no basis for her fear. Friends of Marion stated she had admitted to them that she knew she was not in the condition she told Orpet. Orpet admitted he had sent Marion abortive medicine some months prior to the tragedy. Marion's body was found by her father, Frank H. Lambert, superintendent on the Jones Kuppenheimer estate at Lake Forest. There were no marks of violence on the girl, and the cause of her death remained a profound mystery until an autopsy disclosed cyanide of potassium in the stomach, and also beneath the finger nails. The fact that poison was found beneath her nails was counted on by the defense as a strong point to establish the girl's suicide.

S. P. OFFICIALS ARE STUDYING LOCAL FIELD

INTERESTED IN GOVERNMENT WORK AND CRATER LAKE

Vice President and General Passenger Agent Gathering Data of Resources of Country and Scenic and Other Attractions—Railroad is Preparing for Increasing Travel From Eastern Points.

For the purpose of studying the opportunities offered to farmers and settlers under the Klamath government project and becoming better acquainted with the scenic and other attractions of Klamath county, Vice President E. O. McCormick of San Francisco, and John H. Scott, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, at Portland, are spending a week or more in this county.

According to Mr. McCormick, he and Mr. Scott are making a tour of the territory in Oregon and part of California in order to get personally acquainted with the country and the resources and scenic and other attractions.

Since the European war the people of the United States have been forced to find other places of interest to visit, and the Pacific Coast is more and more attracting these wealthy tourists. The San Francisco Fair and the hundreds of national conventions brought hundreds of thousands of people west last year, and this travel is sure to continue. The railroads are making strenuous efforts to accommodate and provide better accommodations for this wealth of travel.

They expect to remain here for several days longer, and will make a trip over the Klamath project, and also will probably go to Crater Lake. Saturday evening the party with W. Paul Johnson and O. W. Robertson, went to Pelican Lodge, where the following day was spent fishing. About two dozen beauties were caught in Odessa Creek, ranging from two to nine pounds in weight. There were photographed today by C. E. Miller, and will probably be used in the new advertising of the Southern Pacific.

Mr. McCormick is enthusiastic over the fishing trip, and the scenery and attractions of Klamath county. This is not his first visit here, for he has made several trips, and last year visited Crater Lake with Assistant Secretary of the Interior Mather. Mr. Scott is also greatly impressed with his trip, and enthused over his success as a fisherman until Mr. McCormick insisted on having one of the large trout which he landed occupy first place in the picture taken. Considerable rivalry has sprung up between the two big railroad officials as to which caught the largest string and the biggest fish, and when Mr. McCormick insisted on having his big rainbow photographed at the head of the string, Scott vowed that next time he would come again so that he would have a fish bigger than all his own.

The additional train will be a passenger service, which will be operated by Klamath Falls branch. The service is managed by the Southern Pacific, according to the company's statement. The company has had to make considerable changes in its service to Crater Lake since the war, which has caused a great deal of inconvenience to the country.
