AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR TURNS GRAY, FADED HAIR DARK AND GLOSSY Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease. -Ad-

IT IS quite evident that the officials of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company are laboring under the impression that they own the city of Klamath Falls, and that the streets are built and improved for their sole use and benefit. The rights of the taxpayers and property owners are not even recognized by this corporation, and they imagine that their network of wires and poles can be placed anywhere, irrespective of the annoyance or inconvenience they may cause the general public. The latest instance of arrogance of this public service corporation in Klamath Falls is their action on Conger avenue. Here is a popular driveway along the river, through a purely residence section. This strip of property was never platted into town lots, but some years ago the owners generously donated to the city a roadway thirty feet wide. With a four foot sidewalk along one side of the street, just sufficient room remains for two automobiles or teams to safely pass. As the east side of the roadway skirts the foot of a hill, it has been used in the past for the erection of electric light and telephone poles. Finally this corporation discovered that there was a piece of street down there along the river whose natural beauty was not marred by unsightly poles and wires, so they immediately proceeded to force a line through on the opposite side of this very narrow drive way. Such a thing as consulting the property owners or first getting the permission of the city authorities, was never even considered by the representatives of this company. Educated in the belief that they owned the streets, they placed a force of men at work digging holes and piling rocks and poles along the street, until a member of the city council ordered them to stop, on complaint of a property owner. Objections were made to the council and a hearing was had, at which the company was refused permission to erect poles on the west side of the street unless they first secured the permission from the interested property owners. Knowing that this was impossible, the property owners considered that the matter was settled. Imagine their surprise, however, when three weeks later representatives of the company appear before the council, without the knowledge of the property owners, and during the absence of the councilman from their ward, and by presenting a petition signed by five names, four of whom are owners of property not affected, and by other misrepresentations, obtained the consent of the council to erect a line of poles, where they will ruin the convenience of traffic, and prevent the property owners from carrying out their plan of paving the street. It is no wonder that public sentiment is very often very bitter, even though sometimes unreasonably so, against many public service corporations. They never stop to consider the rights of others, or even the convenience of the citizens through whose sufferance they are permitted to do business, until they are forced to do so, either through the courts or through the bitterness of public opinion which they have aroused.

MEANS MUCH FOR KLAMATH CAPTAIN Siemens is to be congratulated by the people of Klamath county on his efforts to get Charles E. Hughes to spend his vacation at Felton Bay. Even should he not be successful it will show that the people of this section are alive and will result in a good deal of favorable publicity. Should Mr. Hughes and party decide to accept the invitation and visit Crater Lake and Harriman Lodge, which is quite probable, Klamath county and Oregon will receive more advertising and publicity than from any other event that has ever occurred in this section. On his trip to the Coast Mr. Hughes will bring two private cars attached to the regular train. One will be occupied by himself and party and the other will be occupied by writers and newspapermen. Mr. Hughes' visit of two weeks in Klamath county, accompanied by a large body of the best newspaper writers in the country, would give more advertising to Crater Lake and the scenic and sporting attractions of the Upper Lake country, than could be secured in any other way in a period of ten years.

American Dies to Help the Allies

LIEUT. A. GOODWILL SPALDING A. Goodwill Spalding, adopted son of the late A. G. Spalding, was killed in action with the Inniskillen Fusiliers this month. He was on business in England when the war broke out, and he promptly enlisted as a private in the Coldstream Guards. In December, 1915, he was made a lieutenant for meritorious conduct under fire, and then went to the fusiliers. Strangled for $80 United Press Service MARYSVILLE, Calif., July 18.—The body of E. W. Ryan of Wheatland was found near here this morning in a badly mutilated condition. Eleven knife wounds were found on the body. Indications are that Ryan was strangled. He had $80 on his person last night, none of which was there when the body was found. Construction of the John Day highway, which will connect the Columbia River highway with Lincoln Highway will be started soon at Baker.

CHINA WELCOMES AMERICAN MONEY

FORMER CONSUL GENERAL SAYS EVERY CENT INVESTED IN CHINA IS GUARANTEED AGAINST JAP AGGRESSION "China sees in every cent invested in that country a hold on the United States which will guarantee her against Japanese aggression," says Charles Denby, former consul general of the United States in China, on his return from that country. "American capital is more than welcomed in China. Splendid changes have come over China since I built the water works system in Tsien-Tsin and acted as adviser to Yuan Shih-Kai, then viceroy of the metropolitan province of Chihli. I was in China from 1897 to 1905. Since then the foreign colony in Tsien-Tsin alone has increased from 300 to 2,500. Americans are in the ascendancy, but we must have the ships to keep us uppermost. "The Japanese are increasing at the rate of 600,000 annually. They want a warm climate, approach to the sea, and high wages for their workmen. Formosa, which they annexed, and Manchuria, which they conquered, do not appeal to them. They prefer China, with its boundless resources, or California, which meet their requirements. California is too remote, and they realize they could not hold it. "Yuan Shih-Kai was a warm personal friend. Perhaps the last letter he ever wrote was dictated to me in acknowledgment of a small gift I sent him on my arrival in Peking in May. Backed by the north, he was opposed by the south. His death has ended the imperial controversy, but the problem for China is now similar to that of many Central and South American republics, the difficulty of finding the right man to rule the country with a strong hand. Japan, without many of the raw materials for manufacture, such as cotton and coal, will try to dominate at least the foreign policy of China, which looks to the United States for protection."

YOUNG FOLKS TO ENJOY UPPER LAKE WEDNESDAY

Write Your Congressman to Vote on Sinnett's Bill

The Portland Chamber of Commerce is asking the people of Oregon to unite in one gigantic campaign to secure to Oregon her just share of the money derived from the sale of the Oregon-California land grant. Congressman N. J. Sinnett has introduced a bill which provides that the 40 per cent of the revenue assigned to the reclamation service shall be expended by that service for the reclamation of Oregon lands. This is known as H. R. No. 16597. Monday, July 31st, has been fixed as the day for mailing letters. The letters should be directed to any member of congress with whom any Oregonian is acquainted. If Oregonians do not know congressmen, it is probable that the residents of this state can reach the members of the senate and house through getting in communication with influential people in the states where they originally resided. To all Oregonians who have given the matter any thought, it is apparent that the members of congress from the Eastern and Southern states cast their votes on the Chamberlain-Ferris bill without giving the state of Oregon that consideration which is rightfully to be expected from legislators of the United States. The Chamberlain-Ferris bill provides the means for the disposal of the Oregon-California railroad grant lands and the division of the funds to be secured therefrom. No objection is made to the manner of appraisal and settlement of the lands, and we are accepting the division of the money as provided in the bill, which was 25 per cent to the school fund of Oregon, 25 per cent to counties in which the lands are situated, 40 per cent to the general reclamation fund and 10 per cent to the federal treasury. A general objection does come, however, from all sections of the state as to the plan allowing the reclamation bureau to expend the moneys represented by the 40 per cent division wherever its officers may decide. The contention is made that the 40 per cent referred to, whatever the general sum may be, should be spent for the reclamation of Oregon desert lands which can never be brought under settlement. The St. Johns woolen mills will increase the capacity of its output 25 per cent.
