

ALLIED OFFENSIVE IN BALKANS READY

FRENCH OCCUPY DOIRAN, NORTH OF SALONIKA

Paris Says 600,000 Allied Soldiers Are Now in Greece—Germans Are Withdrawing Troops From Balkans and Regrouping Them to Meet Changes on East Front Made by Russian Drive to the West.

STANISLAU FALLEN

United Press Service
PETROGRAD, Aug. 11.—It is announced tonight that the Russians captured Stanislaw, an important stronghold.

United Press Service

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The French have occupied Doiran, which the allies evacuated in the Balkan retreat. It is believed that this means the beginning of a great allied Balkan offensive.

A dispatch from Athens says a great battle is raging on the Balkan front. This is the first important fighting in that sector since the allies retreated to Salonika last December.

It is believed that the Germans have withdrawn their troops to other fronts. Doiran is thirty-eight miles north of Salonika.

There is in Greece today 600,000 allied soldiers.

The French have cleared the German trench east of Hill No. 304.

North of the Somme the French have effectively bombarded the German positions.

OFFENSIVE ON ISONZO IS TOLD

CAVERNS IN CARSO PLATEAU WHERE AUSTRIANS LIVED CHOKED WITH TONS OF DEBRIS AND BODIES

United Press Service

ROME, Aug. 11.—The censor is now permitting publication of some dispatches relating to the beginning of the Isonzo offensive. The drive began shortly after daybreak Sunday, with a steady hail of Italian shells for a period of nine hours along a twenty-mile front, extending down the Isonzo to the Adriatic. Italian warships in the upper Adriatic squadron supported the land artillery with a bombardment of the Austrian left wing.

"No such awe-inspiring cascade of fire ever before has been witnessed on the Italian front," wired one Italian correspondent. "So violent were the incessant earthquake-like phenomena produced by the big shells that houses in the Goritz plain were shattered or collapsed solely through force of the seismic waves. The mouths of vast caverns on the Carso plateau in which thousands of Austrian troops had sought shelter, were choked by tons of debris and converted into living tombs.

"At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the order was given for the infantry to leave the trenches. The spectacle of these hardy warriors as they bounded forth to the fray recalled the heroes of legendary lore. Thousands of their front ranks wore round their helmets a floral garland, specially woven by the women of Trieste, Schio, Voralstica and Vicenza. With the stirring war cry of "Great Italy Forever!" they bounded across the dunes at the bridgehead and further down sealed the lines of the Carso plateau, engaging in hand-to-hand struggles. At the head of the main forces ran men bearing aloft big white discs mounted on slender gray green poles so as to guide the gunners in lifting their range as the infantry advanced."

What the Canadians Found After British Drive

Here is one of the tragic results of the British drive. Canadian troops found this gruesome scene when they charged German trenches during the drive. Dugout No. 33 was occupied by German soldiers. Some of them got away, but one was killed and there he lay in front of his door, with ruin about him. The British shells had done their work. This is one of the first photographs to arrive, showing scenes in connection with the mighty British effort against the Germans.

Vavricka Tells of Malin Railroad Boost Meeting

By KAREL VAVRICKA

President Malin Railroad Club. Last Saturday a committee of five, consisting of A. Kallin, Frank Zumpfe, Karel Vavricka, Anton Petrasek and M. M. Stastny, from Malin, made a special trip to Klamath Falls to interview Mr. Strahorn, the railroad builder. Upon the strength of that conference, a meeting was called at Malin Monday afternoon.

After the Water Users Association's meeting was over, the railroad meeting took place. Karel Vavricka was elected president of the Malin Railroad Club and M. M. Stastny was elected secretary. The committee explained to all present the main points of the conference with Mr. Strahorn. These points were as follows:

That the railroad, if built, will follow the west side of Lost River until Merrill is reached, and thence over the government land near Tule Lake to Malin; that the road will be built only through the co-operation of the people affected by it; that the people of Merrill, Malin and south of Klamath Falls are to construct the roadbed for stock in the company; that the road will be completed and service effected within six months from the date when the plan is adopted.

Several other points were brought out at the meeting, such as the cost of the undertaking and the real need of a railroad to this community. No one present was scared by the cost, and all present felt a keen need of such a development as a railroad.

At a meeting a vote was taken to see how many were willing to construct a part of the road bed, and four-fifths were willing to do their share. Some were willing to take even a mile of such construction.

The Malin Railroad Club is certain that the Malin community will be able to construct the road bed to Adams' Point, and if Merrill people can take care of the rest of the construction to within six miles of Klamath Falls, where the proposed line is to join on the Olene-Klamath Falls line, the railroad is a certainty.

This road will not conflict with the Southern Pacific only that it will run through the same valley. The reason for this new railroad is self-evident: the people want a market for their products and a quicker means of outlet to the outside world. The country, too, justifies the development of a railroad.

Before the meeting adjourned the secretary was instructed to notify Merrill people of the action at Malin, and to get definite plans from Mr. Strahorn, after which a community or general meeting is to be called. Notices of such meeting are to be posted.

The meeting then adjourned, every member present feeling convinced that with concerted action the railroad is a certainty.

ENGLAND DELAYS RUSSIAN CABLES

CHARGED THAT ORDERS FROM RUSSIA TO AMERICAN FIRMS HAVE BEEN WITHHELD BY ENGLAND FOR ENGLISH FIRMS

United Press Service

PETROGRAD, Aug. 11.—Ambassador Francis today suggested to the Russian government that a direct cable be laid to America.

Russian officials generally favor the idea.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—Following the United Press story of the proposed Russian cable, it is learned that the state department is investigating charges that England is withholding Russian cable orders sent to this country.

Several American firms have protested that England has been delaying orders for them. They charge that on many occasions the English government has given the orders to English firms.

If these charges are proved, they constitute a flagrant violation of American rights.

BOOSTERS LEAVE WYOMING SEPTEMBER 1ST

To Visit All National Parks of the West to Promote National Highway Connecting Them—Co-Operation of Klamath Is Asked in the Movement. Expected That Meeting Will Be Held When Promoters Arrive.

To interest Klamath Falls in the proposed national park to park highway, Gus Holm, president of the Yellowstone Highway Association; L. L. Newton, secretary, a representative of the American Automobile Association and a representative of some motor magazine will be in Klamath Falls some time next month. They are to leave Yellowstone Park September 1st, and will make a tour of all national parks in the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific Coast.

The park to park highway is expected to be built by the national government, and is the same road of which R. B. Marshall, superintendent of national parks, spoke when in Klamath Falls last Monday.

In a letter received yesterday by Mayor Crisler, Mr. Holm says:

"Secretary Newton and I were instructed by the meeting held here recently to promote a national highway, connecting up all national parks of the West to take such steps on our tour next month as we should find necessary to raise funds. We have listed all of the towns on the highway, and have noted them according to their population. After making a careful inventory of the expenses involved in a trip of this kind, we find that it will be necessary to ask your town for $50. Considering the size of your place and the importance of this matter to it, you should not find that this amount will work a hardship upon you, and we will endeavor to give your people facts and figures during our visit there which will show them that their money has been well invested.

"We are writing this to you with the request that you turn it over to the parties who will appreciate the importance of it, and who will give it the proper attention. We will leave the selection entirely to your discretion, but would suggest that you would let us know at once their names and addresses. If you think it advisable wire us at our expense.

"I can't impress you too strongly with the importance of immediate action in this matter, as we must leave here before the first of next month if we are to complete the trip this year. To postpone the tour would mean to retard the progress of the highway to that extent which would be costly. It is our aim to interest all of the states sufficiently before election time in order that they may make provisions to take advantage of the federal offer to aid in road building."
