Brooklyn	4	10	0

BROOKLYN, Oct. 10.—In an error-ridden game, the Dodgers this afternoon won their first game in the series from the Boston Red Sox. The game was not distinguished by any brilliant playing, although only one error was made during the entire game. Mays, for Boston, and Coombs for Brooklyn were replaced in the box after each had allowed seven hits.

Although the weather was perfect, the attendance was lighter than either of the first two games in Boston. It was estimated that about 30,000 people witnessed the game.

The batteries were, Boston, Mays and Thomas; Brooklyn, Coombs and Miller.

The umpires were the same as in the first two games.

No scores were made by either side in the first or second inning, although in Boston's first Shorten and Hoblit singled, but neither scored.

Boston failed to score in the third and Brooklyn secured one run. Dubert and Stengel singled, Wheat flied out, Cutchaw singled, scoring Dubert.

Boston failed to score again in the fourth and Brooklyn secured their second run. Olson bunted safely, Miller sacrificed, Coombs singled, scoring Olson.

In the fifth inning it was the same story over again, except that the Mays, a former Northwest League twirler, was removed in the sixth, after he had allowed seven hits. He was replaced by Foster.

Dodgers secured two runs instead of one. Wheat and Mowry walked, Olson tripled, scoring both Wheat and Mowry.

Boston secured their first runs in the sixth, when they made two tallies. Hendrickson, batting for Mays, walked, Hooper tripled, scoring Hendrickson, Shorten singled, scoring Hooper.

Brooklyn failed to score, although Dubert knocked out a three bagger, but was out at plate trying to make a homer. Foster replaced Mays for Boston, who had allowed seven hits.

In the seventh Boston made their third and last run, and Brooklyn failed to score. In this inning Coombs, who had allowed seven hits, was replaced by Pfeffer. Neither scored in the eighth, and Boston failed again in the first half of the ninth.

Candidates To Talk in 13 Rural School Houses

The first of a series of political candidates' meetings in the rural districts of Klamath county is scheduled for next Friday evening at the Upper Fox Valley school house. Already thirteen different meetings have been arranged for.

The meetings were arranged by County School Superintendent Fred Peterson. He wrote to the various districts and asked them to give their first, second and third choices for delegates from the answers has made up the following schedule:

- October 13—Upper Fox Valley.
- October 14—Shasta View.
- October 17—Lorella.
- October 20—Playas.
- October 21—Upper Langol Valley.
- October 24—Daisy.

October 25—Spring Lake.
October 27—Pine Grove.
October 28—Fort Klamath.
October 31—Bonanza.
November 3—Olene.
November 4—Keno.
November 6—Henley.

Superintendent Peterson suggested to each school that a light lunch be served at a nominal cost, and that no effort be made to get money out of the candidates. He also suggested that each candidate for a county office be given three minutes in which to address the voters, each candidate for other offices five minutes, and 35 minutes to discussion of the initiative and referendum measures. It is expected that these suggestions will be carried out in each district.

DOTY DECLARES LOTS CAN NOT BE EXEMPTED

DECLARES CITY HAS NO POWER IN THE MATTER

Council From Fifth Ward Says Assessments and Bond Issues Are Against Property Sought to Be Exempted From Taxes and That Interest on These Bonds Must Be Collected From Said Land.

A storm broke last night in the council chambers of the city hall when Police Judge Leavitt had finished reading a petition from the Klamath Commercial Club, asking that the council exempt from city taxes a tract of land near Shippington and another south of Sixth street.

Councilman B. R. Doty of the Fifth ward caused most of the storm, but he made up for the silence of the others. To quiet things, Councilman O. D. Matthews moved that the matter be referred to City Attorney R. C. Groesbeck for an opinion. The council voted yea on this motion.

But the matter could not be said aside until Councilman Doty had let it be known distinctively just how he stood on the proposition.

"Assessments and bond issues for sewers and the city hall are against that property and you can't remove it from the tax rolls. The holders of the bonds would have you into court in no time," said Doty.

"I don't understand that it is the purpose of this petition to have the tracts of land cleared from any assessments against it. The petitioners see only to have it exempted from annual taxes," said City Attorney Groesbeck. When he asked if that were correct, simultaneously from Fred Fleet and J. W. Siemens, secretary and president of the commercial club, came the response:

"Yes, that is all."

Judging from City Attorney Groesbeck's statement last night, he probably will report that there are no legal objections to exempting the property from annual taxes. Mr. Doty has made himself unmistakably plain. A real scrap is anticipated next Monday evening.

The Klamath Commercial Club is asking that taxes not be collected from the two tracts mentioned as an inducement to manufacturers to locate in Klamath Falls.

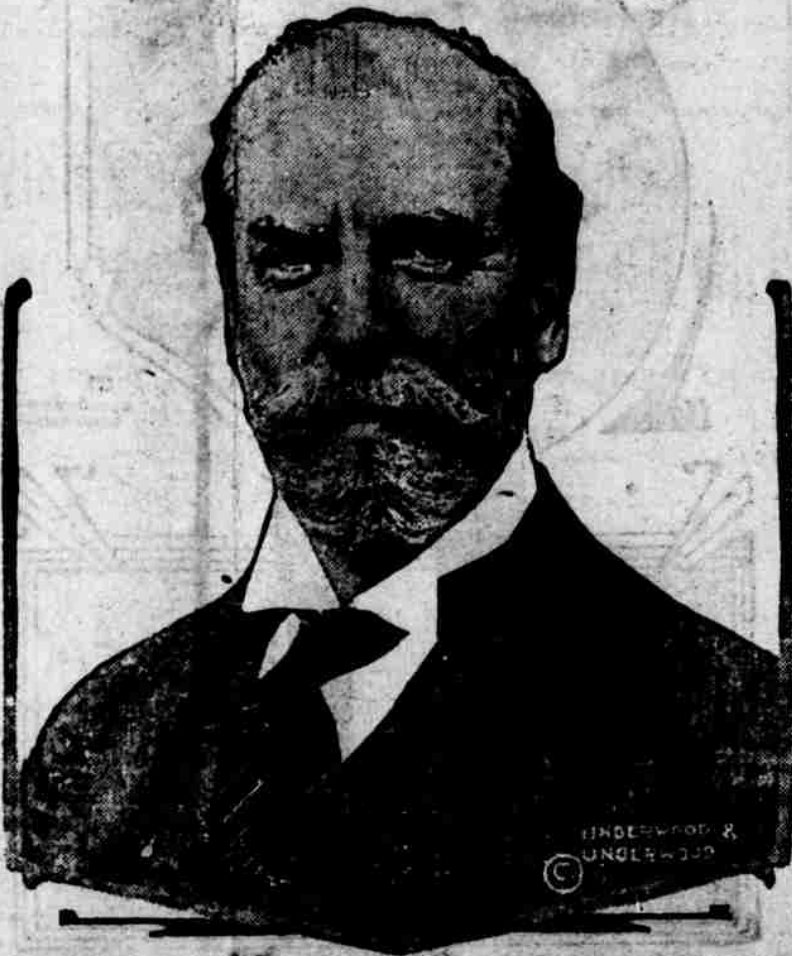

RECEPTION FOR PASTOR WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

A program of addresses, vocal and instrumental music and a reading has been arranged for the reception this evening for Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Rambo at the Christian church.

The address of welcome will be given by R. H. Dunbar and the response by Rev. Rambo. Mrs. E. B. Henry will render a vocal number and Misses Josie Low and Marie Rambo and the high school orchestra will render two numbers.

All members and friends of the church are invited to the reception.

Stands by the President In the Submarine Crisis

CHARLES E. HUGHES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—Charles E. Hughes, republican nominee for president of the United States, today declared that he feels it his patriotic duty to refrain from commenting on the Newport submarining, so as not to embarrass President Wilson in this crisis.

"This is a time when we must stand

Furber Sustains Injury. J. J. Furber, local agent for Wood-Curtis company, this morning suffered a deep laceration of the scalp when he tripped and struck his head on an iron ice carrier. He was on the tank at the ice factory when he tripped and fell forward, his head striking the carrier. A gash three inches long and deep enough to reach the skull was cut.

Does This Prove the Bremen Lost?

Here is a photograph of the life preserver found at Cape Elizabeth, Me., which may or may not prove the German merchant submarine was lost at sea. The name "Bremen" is stencilled in black letters on both sides of the buoy. On one side of the canvas covering was printed a small crown. Over this mark was the word "Shutmarks," meaning patented or trademark. Beneath were the words "V. Epping-Hoven, Wilhelmshaven." This indicated, apparently, the name of the maker. The preserver appeared to be new and, apparently had not been in the water a great length of time. It was stained with oil.

SEVEN DESTROYERS SEARCH AREA OF DESTRUCTION

Search Will Be Abandoned if Nothing Is Found in Twenty-Four Hours, as Gale and Cold Weather Is Believed to Have Made Finding Impossible. Belief That Only Five Vessels Were Torpedoed Grows Stronger.

NEWPORT, Oct. 10.—Eleven torpedo boat destroyers in a five mile line today are sweeping the area of the German submarine activities in an effort to find the crew of the steamer Kingston. Officers of the navy feel the destroyers will meet with little success after last night's gale and cold weather.

Unless the crew is found in the next twenty-four hours the search will be abandoned. Rear Admiral Gleaves believes that the wireless received yesterday telling that survivors of the Kingston were found was erroneously transmitted. The weather is very unsettled, and many persons believe the wireless operator misread the name. The Christian Knudson, supposed aid after being torpedoed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—There is a growing belief that only five ships were submarined Sunday by German submarines owing to contradictory reports regarding the Kingston and the inability to find any traces of her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—The local Toyo Kisen Kaisha is advised that the liner Seattle Maru is reaching Yokohama afloat, but will not be seriously damaged.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Oct. 10.—Justice Mallagh today dismissed the murder charge against Vic Hanson, accused of killing Mrs. Sadie Sweetney. The grand jury advised dismissal of the charge.

Bond Issue Election To Be Held on November 14

On November 14th, one week after the general election, the tax payers of Klamath Falls will decide whether or not this city shall invest $200,000 in the proposed Strahora railroad from Klamath Falls to Sprague River. The city council met this date last night. The vote on the bond issue could be held at the same time of the general election, but as the city wards do not correspond with the voting precincts for the general election, confusion would result from a double election, and but little expense would be saved.

LINER CHANGES COURSE AFTER DIVER WARNING

Cameronia, Liner From Liverpool, With 700 Passengers, Changes Her Course When She Learns of Presence of Submarine—Greek Steamer Arriving Today Seen One Underwater Boat, But Is Unharmed.

United Press Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Anchor line steamer Cameronia arrived this morning from Liverpool, with 700 passengers.

Her captain says the Cameronia changed her course when he heard of the German submarines off Nantucket. The Greek steamer Tarna also arrived today, and reports that she sighted a submarine off Nantucket.

This would indicate that the divers which destroyed six freight steamers off the Atlantic coast Sunday are still in these waters, ready to prey upon any ships carrying supplies to the United States.

JACOBS BUYS 37 FEET OF GROUND

PROPERTY IS ON MAIN, NEXT TO PALM CIGAR STORE, AND IS AMONG MOST VALUABLE IN KLAMATH FALLS

Showing his confidence in the future of Klamath county, L. Jacobs, local real estate operator and capitalist, yesterday purchased from Andrew Kerchner 37 feet of property on Main street, between Sixth and seventh streets. This property extends back to the alley, and runs along the east side of the Palm Cigar store to the east side of the Jackson Wood company's office.

The consideration was $15,000. Acquisition of this property gives Mr. Jacobs a Main street frontage from the corner of Sixth and Main streets east for more than half the block.

Mr. Jacobs says he will erect a modern building on his new property, but as yet is undecided as to its character.
