

RUSSIANS CAPTURE TRENCHES IN EAST

HELL LINE FOR TWO DAYS BEFORE CAPTURE

In Parts of Transylvania Rumanians Are Offering Resistance and Get Relief From Allies, But for Most Part Are Retreating, or at Least on Defensive—Venizelos Government Recognized.

United Press Service

LONDON, Oct. 16.—After two days of furious shelling, sweeping every foot of the enemy's position, the Russians yesterday took several lines of trenches along Stockhod on a five mile line north of Korynica.

The British patrol has penetrated Burek, in Macedonia, and British aviators dropped bombs on Bukbridge.

Severe fighting is raging around Palanka, Rumania, with the Germans attempting to advance south and join the Tergu Ocna railway, which supplies the Northern Rumanian armies.

In the extreme north the Rumanians are retreating to their own frontier, and in Eastern Transylvania are abandoning many positions.

In Southern Transylvania the Rumanians are offering sharp counter attacks and southeast of Kronstadt have halted the Germans and begun an offensive. It is believed that recent Rumanian counters are sufficient to enable the allies to send reinforcements that will prevent an invasion.

The heaviest fighting in the Balkan sector is at Vulcan Pass, where the Austrians have been forced to yield ground.

The battle on the Czerna River between the Bulgarians and Serbians is unsettled.

Berlin claims that the Teutons have penetrated beyond Gympas pass and have invaded Western Rumania. The Germans used liquid fire in an unsuccessful attack on the Schwaben redoubt.

United Press Service

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The French have penetrated the defenses northeast of Comble, and are occupying houses on the Rapauze Perronne road.

German counters still are raging.

United Press Service

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The French consul at Crete today recognized and formally called on the Venizelos nationalist government there.

United Press Service

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—The British have penetrated the first trenches northeast of Gudecourt, but later were repulsed.

A French attack on Salty has been turned back.

During September the Germans downed and captured seventy-four allied aeroplanes, according to an official statement.

United Press Service

PETROGRAD, Oct. 16.—Teuton counters in the great battle north of Korynica have been heavily repulsed.

Near the Rumanian frontier the Germans have launched a big offensive.

Heavy fighting of the last several days on wide front near Volhynia, in Galicia, and north of Stanislaw, has result adversely to the Germans.

United Press Service

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—It is semi-officially stated that only "pitiful fragments" of the Rumanian forces that invaded Transylvania have escaped to the mountains.

The first and a big part of the second army were practically annihilated around Hermannstadt and Kronstadt. The second army lost heavily during its retreat by being caught in enveloping movements.

KLAMATH PLAYS MEDFORD TO A 13 TO 13 TIE

GAME FURNISHES MANY SENSATIONS FOR ONLOOKERS

First Game Between These Schools for Medford to Not Win—Medford Takes Jump in First Quarter, But Later Loses Grip and Fight of Klamath Carries Ball for Two Touchdowns.

Make excuses of offer alibis, as you will, Klamath county high school's football team outfought Medford at Modoc Park Saturday afternoon and tied the score when nearly everyone had hoped Medford to win by at least two touchdowns. The score was 13 to 13.

It was the first time since these schools have met in football that Medford has not won. The game is taken by local enthusiasts as a cause for rejoicing and a reason for continuing the fight for athletics in the local school.

The game was good from the spectators' point of view. Sensations in kicking, running and tackling were furnished, besides a display of fight that astonished everyone.

Medford got the jump, and early in the first half made two touchdowns and kicked one goal after touchdown. Klamath was on the defensive, both because those were instructions and because she couldn't help herself. But after Graham Kiehl had made a long end run for a touchdown the local boys were encouraged, Klamath opened up her offensive, and tore down the field for good gains consistently.

Both teams will improve greatly with more experience and coaching. Fumbling was too frequent, and poor judgment in selection of plays was shown more than once. Klamath's tackles played too wide, and the defense against forward passes was weak.

The game showed good stuff in several of the local boys whom it was thought didn't have much. Ernel Stearns, small and inexperienced, played his guard position far above expectations and made a great many tackles for one playing a guard position. Herman Foster in the safety position made one open field tackle that saved the day. He dropped the Medford runner with a thud after the runner had penetrated the line and got by one halfback.

Bill Mohase showed his old form at tackle, stopping many a play, yet he would have done even more had he played a little closer in. Medford made her best gains on offside kicks.

In the backfield Kiehl and Adams came through as expected. Kiehl got several beautiful punts and was blocked only once because he was too close to the line of scrimmage. Adams smashed the Medford line for good gains. Montgomery dropped several forward passes because he could not see the ball—he has poor eyes. He was good, however, in carrying the ball. The tackling or the ends was not what it should be.

Seoley Hall of Medford refereed the game and gave splendid satisfaction. At all times he was fair to Klamath Falls.

The score really should have been one touchdown for each team. Medford made its first touchdown by blocking an attempted punt and falling on the pigskin behind the goal line, and Klamath made one by intercepting a forward pass behind the line of scrimmage and falling on the ball behind the goal line.

German Submarine That Sank Two British Ships off Nantucket

These two views of the German submarine U-53 were taken during the three hours the vessel spent in Newport harbor, when her appearance surprised naval officers and civilians alike. The names of Captain Hans Rose and his ship will go down in history. A little more than twelve hours after the vessel left Newport she had held up one American steamer, the Kansan, and sunk two British ships, the West Point, racing to New York, and the Strathdene, bound for Bordeaux.

HAYDEN SAYS HE ISN'T CANDIDATE FOR TIMBER MEN

DENIES CHARGE MADE BY J. P. LEE, INCUMBENT

Man Who Lost Democratic Nomination Charges That Republican Nominee Is in the Race to Represent Timber Interests of Klamath County, But This Is Emphatically Denied in Speech by Hayden.

More fire was put under Klamath's political pot Saturday night at the candidates' meeting at the Shasta View school. Practically every candidate was present and everyone made a speech, some consuming a minute and others having to be called down after consuming their allotted six minutes.

From the standpoint of attendance the meeting Saturday was probably one of the most important in this campaign. It seemed that everybody for miles around, and their children, were there. Keen interest in the remarks of the aspirants for office was shown and applause given to each speaker.

Captain J. P. Lee, independent candidate for assessor, was the first candidate called upon, but he refused to speak until he had the other talks. When he was offered the floor the second time he spoke much as he did at Poe Valley Friday evening, the substance of which was printed in Saturday's Herald. Austin Hayden, republican nominee for assessor, was given the floor after Lee had spoken, and said:

"Mr. Lee is somewhat in error as far as his statements are concerned. I am not a timberman's candidate, nor the candidate of any other corporation or individual, but simply out for the office of county assessor to appeal to the voters from a business standpoint.

"I have spent several years on the farm, and on top of that have had about ten years' office experience, of which four years, or thereabouts, has been in the different offices of Klamath county, and am thoroughly familiar with the records.

"I feel that from a business standpoint I can make you people a good assessor, and I will be able to give the office my personal attention, thereby not leaving the work entirely to deputies."

Joseph S. Kent, republican nominee for district attorney, was called upon and said:

"It is a fact that as a body the voters do not consider the district attorney's office as one that can aid to any extent in saving money for the county, and yet opportunities for doing so are numerous. Nearly one half of the work done by the circuit court is in trying criminal cases, and unless careful consideration is given by the district attorney to such cases before indictments are brought many cases involving useless expense are brought to court. It would be my aim to present all complaints to the grand jury in a thorough manner, so that the judgment of this jury would come pretty near being a safe indication of how the case would go later.

"There is no denying the fact that at present the different departments of the county government are not working in harmony. The district attorney, if he is agreeable, can be a great help to all of the other offices, and with his special knowledge of the difficulties to be encountered by the other officers can advise how to avoid them. Each of the different offices of the county should feel free at all times to consult with the district attorney, and it is his duty to tell them what they want to know. Except where the district attorney is disqualified, there should be no reason for the payment of county money to outside attorneys.

"I advocate the making of the district attorney's office an office of the people. Every man and woman should have the right to consult with the

Henry Hobbs Shoots Down Ed. Way at Algama Camp

While his victim stood eight feet away and facing him, Henry Hobbs Saturday afternoon shot Ed Way through the head with a shotgun, killing him instantly. The charge entered the mouth, but did not emerge from the back of the head. The shooting took place near the Algama Lumber company's logging camp about 2 o'clock, but word did not reach Klamath Falls until about 4:30 o'clock.

Immediately after the shooting Hobbs started to Klamath with his family in Way's automobile, but could not make the engine pull the car over the hills. Then he walked to a telephone in Antelope Valley and sent word for the sheriff to come.

Hobbs was waiting in the road when Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Low, Corporal Earl Whitlock and District Attorney Irwin came along. He surrendered himself and turned over his guns, a rifle, shotgun and revolver. The shotgun was rented from the Gun Store of Klamath Falls.

Until the case comes up before a court, the details that led up to the shooting and those surrounding it probably will not be fully known. Yet it is generally believed that Way's familiarity, or alleged familiarity, with Mrs. Hobbs is really responsible for the death of Way. At least Hobbs suspected that Way was thrusting himself into his home.

When the officers arrived at the Hobbs cabin Saturday evening they found Way prostrate on the ground with a glove clinched in his right hand. He was about eight feet from the front door of the Hobbs cabin. Hobbs told the officers that he stood in the door when he shot Way. A few minutes before the shooting, according to Hobbs, Way drove to within fifty feet of the house in his car, stopped, and was soon joined by Hobbs. After some conversation at the car Hobbs returned to his cabin, and Way also walked toward the kitchen door, and Way approached the front door. Beyond this point Hobbs refuses to talk, although he declares that Way was shot where his body was found by the officers.

It was learned by the officers that Way had liquor in his car. Whether or not he was drunk is not known. He told Hobbs he was on his way to his ranch south of Klamath Falls.

Way was foreman of the logging camp operated by the Algama Lumber company, and was well liked by the men who worked under him. Hobbs lived on his homestead nearby and was employed at the camp.

The witnesses to the shooting were Mrs. Hobbs, a half sister of Hobbs and two small children. Mrs. Hobbs stood nearby her husband when he fired at Way.

Hobbs is in the county jail. The coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Whitlock undertaking parlors. The preliminary hearing before Justice Gowan probably will be held Wednesday.

Carlyle Yaden and W. H. A. Renner have been retained to defend Hobbs. Attorney Renner said only: "No murder has been committed; the defendant is innocent."

Mrs. Hobbs is made a defendant with her husband in the information issued today by District Attorney Irwin.

After they had pleaded guilty this morning before Justice Judge A. L. Leavitt, three Indians and a Chinaman were fined $25 each for gambling. They are Hong Sing, Joe Ball, Abraham Charlie and George Crane.

The men were arrested in a raid last night by Chief of Police R. T. Baldwin and his patrolmen. The game was going on in the restaurant conducted by Sing at Main and Eighth streets. When the police broke into the building $8 was in the pot and $56 was found on Crane. The others had smaller amounts.

It is understood that charges of conducting a gambling house will be preferred against Sing. He was made to pay $25 this morning simply for gambling himself.

HOZEN RELEASED ON RECOGNIZANCE

John Sacrakoff, a Russian of Poe Valley, is suffering from a large bruise on the back of his head, sustained Saturday afternoon when he was struck with a rock thrown by Nick Hosen. The skull was not fractured.

Hosen was brought to Klamath Falls Saturday evening, but was released on his own recognizance. Information for his arrest for assault probably will be issued today.

Hosen threw the rock at Sacrakoff in a quarrel over the use of a watering trough. Hosen and Sacrakoff are renting the old Poland place, but the two families live on opposites of the road through the ranch. Saturday Sacrakoff told Hosen to keep off his side of the road. Then the trouble started, and before the end came three or four Russians were bruised up.
