HAS MESSAGE TO CONGRESS ALMOST READY

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21. A call to American business to meet the unprecedented trade conditions that will exist after the war is the keynote of President Woodrow Wilson's message to congress. The president is completing his message today.

In his message the nation's chief executive is expected to argue that maximum industrial work is possible only when there is the minimum of industrial unrest and is expected to ask better co-operation more confidence and less class feeling between employer and employee.

President Wilson also will urge legislation making strikes practically impossible, and other laws to aid railroads to expand and meet the additional stress after the war.

Immediate action on the Webb bill, permitting American exporters to organize without fear of anti-trust prosecution, will be urged.

The message is expected to conclude with a request for continuation of the preparedness work and completion of the rest of the program unfinished last session of congress.

INSPECTOR HERE TO SAVE BIRDS

BIOLOGICAL SURVEY MAN COMES TO GET INFORMATION ON RECLAMATION OF VAST SWAMP LANDS AROUND LOWER LAKE.

To get information on the movement for reclamation of the vast marsh land area around Lower Klamath lake, George B. Cantwell, reservation inspector for the biological survey of the department of agriculture, has been spending several days in this section.

The marsh land proposed to be reclaimed form breeding places for thousands of water fowl of many varieties, which has caused the biological survey to become interested and to get information on the drainage of the land. Reclamation of the swamp and tule covered area will lessen the nesting places for water fowl.

POWER PLANT MAKES TOWN

COPCO SPRINGS UP WITH POST-OFFICE ON SITE OF GIGANTIC DAM AND PLANT BUILT BY A LOCAL COMPANY.

About two miles and a half south of the Oregon line a town has sprung up on the Klamath river where the business developed for the postoffice department of the government in the way of mail and parcels post delivery has caused considerable attention from the federal postoffice inspectors as to the cause of the great increase in the volume of letters and packages destined for this place.

This little town which has lately grown up on the banks of the Klamath river is the result of the activities of the California-Oregon Power Company in rushing to completion its great power installation at that point.

The name "Copeco" given to this new town and recorded at Washington as a postoffice is rather unique in origin, being made up from the initial letters of the company's name.

The town is situated entirely on the power company's property, has a population of about five hundred and sixty persons, as the result of the employment of three hundred and sixty men by the company many of whom have located at Copeco with their families. The little school house nearby which was formerly occupied by two or three pupils from the ranches along the river, is now filled with the children of the new residents and the genial office-seeker always makes it a point to drop in at the little burg as he realizes that this little new town consists in the most part of a voting population.

New Prohibition Map of United States Following Election

Where this map is black you can't or soon will not be able to buy a legal drink. Prohibition won four more states in the late election—Michigan, Nebraska, Montana and South Dakota.

There are thus now twenty-two states where the sale of liquor is absolutely prohibited. There are many more where local option is making great strides. In fact, the map shows that the United States outside of the cities is pretty dry. There is lots of liquor to be bought in California and Nevada; Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico and Texas have their wet spots, and Minnesota, Missouri and Louisiana sell plenty; East of the Mississippi Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio have much dry territory. New York and Pennsylvania, with all the New England states, except Maine, are still pretty wet. Utah, which is nearly dry, and Florida which is wet only at the great winter resorts, elected legislatures pledged to prohibition.

DOTY OPPOSED TO ROAD ABOVE KLAMATH AVENUE

Miller Tells Doty and Sheets They Are Skiddish and Says He's Surprised at Them—Groesbeck Lights the Pipe of Peace and All is Well.

"I want to go one record right now as being against anything above Klamath avenue."—Councilman M. R. Doty.

"You fellows are just as skiddish as a yearling colt; I'm surprised."—Councilman A. D. Miller.

"The people haven't told you to do anything except issue bonds."—Councilman R. J. Sheets.

"And build a road."—Miller.

"I know, I know; we're not all so smart as you."—Sheets.

"That's all right; you're not wiser than the people."—Miller.

"Yes, yes; I know."—Sheets.

And so on ad infinitum. It all took place at last night's meeting of the council when the matter of building a railroad in accordance with the result of last Tuesday's election came up for consideration.

Councilman Miller offered a resolution directing City Engineer Zumwalt to make a report on the probable cost and on many other details of a railroad from the lower end of Upper Klamath lake to a point near Dairy.

This is where Councilman Doty took the floor and with vigor announced himself as quoted above. He gave no reason for not wanting the railroad to go north of Klamath avenue or to Upper Klamath lake.

Councilman Sheets also had objections to the resolution, and after he and Doty had spoken, Miller gave expression to the skiddish colt phrase.

Sheets takes the position that "we've got to hold Miller down," and Miller rather believes that Sheets needs bolstering up. Maybe they are both about half right at that.

City Attorney R. C. Groesbeck assumed a usual role of peace-maker for the council, and prepared the following resolution, which was carried unanimously: Resolved, That it is the intention of the City of Klamath Falls to proceed to the construction and equipment of a line of railroad within and without the city in a northeasterly direction.

That the city engineer be and he hereby is requested to prepare maps of route or routes conformable to such intention, and plans, specifications and estimates of cost of said railroad, such estimates, however, to be based upon such amount of construction and equipment as will not exceed the sum of $300,000.

That the city engineer be allowed no compensation for the duties herein imposed and requested.

GROESBECK MAY GET MORE PAY

COUNCIL SEEMS WILLING TO PAY HIM FOR EXTRA WORK BEING CAUSED BY RAILROAD NEGOTIATIONS, BUT WON'T INCREASE HIS SALARY.

Although a motion to increase the salary of City Attorney R. C. Groesbeck to $83.33 a month was lost for want of a second at last night's meeting of the council, it is expected that Mr. Groesbeck will be given more pay while the added duties of his office are necessitated by work of building the Strahorn railroad by the city.

The motion was made by Doty, but after being lost another motion to refer the matter to the finance committee carried. The councilman expressed themselves as favoring full reward for extra service by the city attorney, but preferred to pay him with separate warrants for these services, instead of outright increasing his monthly salary.

The monthly salary now is $50.

KLAMATH WILL HAVE SPACE IN BLUE BOOK

CITY REFUNDS EXTRA TAXES PAID IN 1912

The city council last night passed to second reading an ordinance refunding to Klamath county $844.51 as extra taxes paid by the Southern Pacific to Klamath county in 1912. A clerical error caused the railroad company to pay to the county ten times as much taxes as were due and the city's portion of the extra taxes amounted to $844.51.

COUNCIL MAKES MOVE TO CLOSE ANKENY CANAL

PASSES RESOLUTION SETTING FORTH FACTS IN CASE

Resolution Points Out That Water Users Have Consented to Relinquish Rights in Canal and That City Attorney Believes Former Charter Gives Power to Council to Assume Obligations.

To effect the closing of the Ankeny canal under the present charter authority, a resolution to the United States government was passed last evening by the council. The resolution was prepared by City Attorney R. C. Groesbeck, on his own initiative, following much correspondence with the attorney for the reclamation service and negotiations with Klamath Water Users' Association.

The resolution sets forth that a contract has been drafted satisfactory to the city and government, whereby the city will acquire the rights and obligations of the government to the canal, and that the government heretofore has declined to enter into a contract under a certain charter amendment until the water users' association had relinquished its claim in the canal. Then there is enumerated the following facts, which will be submitted to the government:

That the Klamath Water Users' Association on November 4, 1916, by its directors in due and regular session, passed a resolution commencing the abandonment of said Ankeny canal below the Leavitt tract.

That the City of Klamath Falls in the opinion of its attorney, is empowered under the present charter of the city to enter into contract with the United States respecting acquisition of control of said canal. The particular section of said charter relied upon being as follows:

"Section 31. To purchase, receive and hold in the name of the city any or all valid water rights to the waters in any ditches or canals within the corporate limits of the city, which the council may hereafter consider as a menace to the public health and to provide for the filling up of said ditches or canals."

That under the authority of said section, the city has acquired by deed (same being of record in the office of the county clerk of Klamath county, Oregon,) an outstanding water right in said Ankeny canal, except two. Of the two rights not acquired, one is listed as the property of A. D. Carrick and one is the property of J. C. Mongold, both parties being long deceased. That neither of the estates of said deceased persons makes inventory or mention of the said water right. That the city is advised by its attorney that neither of said rights can be claimed by any person; the said estates having been closed without accounting for said rights or distributing them to any heir or legatee, and said rights having been long unused.

That under the proposed contract,
