

HUGHES SENDS HIS CONGRATULATIONS

SAYS HE AWAITED CALIFORNIA COUNT

WILSON THANKS HIM AND EXPRESSES GOOD WISHES

Wilson, After Contratulating Wilson, Says Country Should Get Behind President and Give Undivided Support—Stakeholders in New York Are Paying Their Election Bets Following Concession.

United Press Service. LAKWOOD, New Jersey, Nov. 23. Charles Evans Hughes, republican candidate for president, this morning telegraphed his congratulations to Woodrow Wilson. He said:

'Because of the closeness of the vote, I have waited for the official count in California, and now that it is virtually completed, permit me to extend to you my congratulations upon your re-election. I desire also to express my best wishes for a successful administration.'

United Press Service. WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23. President Woodrow Wilson replied to Charles E. Hughes' congratulations

"I am sincerely obliged to you for your message of congratulations. Allow me to assure you my good wishes for years to come."

A perusal of President Wilson's telegram, replying to congratulations, from his cabinet officers, indicates that he does not intend to change the personnel of the cabinet.

United Press Service. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—After congratulating President Wilson today, Chairman Wilcox, of the national republican committee, declared it is now time to give Woodrow Wilson the undivided support of the entire nation.

"I would expect the democrats to take the same action we took had they been in our position, but now that the counting is over and we know of no irregularities in California."

Chairman Wilcox said he did not know whether Hughes had any definite plans for the future.

Charles E. Fairbanks today telegraphed congratulations to Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall.

United Press Service. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Stakeholders today are paying winners following Hughes' concession of defeat. Over $3,000,000 will be paid today.

States More Railroads Would Cut Living Cost

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23. An increase in the nation's transportation facilities would help lower the living cost of the American people, according to A. H. Thomas, railroad counsel, who testified before the congressional investigators today.

He said the railroads have been under a burden, preventing successful marketing of their securities and causing lack of development. The extension of railroads into new areas would stop the shortage of food supplies, he said.

The investigation is being conducted by the joint committee of the house and senate to investigate the subject of the government regulation and control of interstate and foreign transportation; efficiency of the present system; incorporation of common carriers; proposed changes in the interstate commerce commission, and the subject of public ownership of all public utilities, including telegraph, telephone, electric, gas, and water.

for "a joint sub-committee of the interstate commerce commission of the house and senate to investigate the subject of the government regulation and control of interstate and foreign transportation; efficiency of the present system; incorporation of common carriers; proposed changes in the interstate commerce commission, and the subject of public ownership of all public utilities, including telegraph, telephone, electric, gas, and water."
