OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

(Written for the United Press) MARGARET MASON

Alack, her lack of lacquer stamps a lady as passe. For everything is lacquered. That is up to date today

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Every Yiddish artist and decorator in New York is kept busy these days turning out "genuine real old antique Chinese lacquer" tables, chairs, mirror frames, desks, cabinets, bedsteads and what not (not whatnots, however).

To be sure there are a great many true Chinese pieces also, for the astute Chinamen, taking advantage of the forced stoppage of imports from belated countries, have simply swamped our market with the glories of their arts, consequently Chinese lacquers and embroideries are to be met with at every turn for the better or turn to the right.

But with such avidity have the American lovers of the beautiful gobbled up the wares from China that the Chinks can fill only a few chinks of the popular demand. Hence the abundance of homegrown or Hebraic lacquers that defy detection even when placed alongside an original. After all, they, too, are redolent of the East, even if it is only the East Side.

The most popular lacquer is in the gold or black or red, but gold on old blue or a soft gray green is also very effective. Whole rooms are lovely done in lacquer, and especially bedrooms and dining rooms with Chinese rugs and Chinese embroideries to carry out the Oriental atmosphere. Lacquer floor lamps are beautiful with papada shaped shades of silk and the lacquer mirrors beggar description. Certainly anyone holding the mirror up to nature ought to be sure it is a lacquer one.

Set a serene and wise-eyed Buddha on a lacquer stand and back him up with a Chinese mirror on the wall, and you have an artistic touch in your living room that is hard to beat this side of the Chinese wall.

There are lacquer candle sticks and lacquer trays, after seeing which you will exclaim, "the deuce take all other trays." There are lacquer screens to lacquer picture frames fittingly beautiful to encase him or her.

When it comes to boxes, this is where lacquer really shines, especially when it is built to enshrine different sorts of shoe polish or my lady's jewels. For holding things that go up in smoke, like coal, wood, cigarettes, cigars or love letters, lacquer boxes are alluring in all shapes and sizes. From the head to the foot of the box class, hat boxes and shoe boxes of lacquer sell with alacrity.

Work boxes, candy boxes and powder boxes are so lovely of lacquer that even Pandora herself would have been so entranced with their external beauties that she never would have yearned to see what was inside. Even Victrolas are all dressed up in black and gold or red and gold lacquer cases until they have become veritable Chinese music boxes with everything except, thank heavens, the music, Chinese.

And right here it is only moot to announce that the lid is surely off when it comes to candy boxes. It used to be that the humble box of pasteboard was an adequate receptacle for sweets to the sweets, but not in 1917. Next to the lacquer candy box in popularity is the ornate box of brocade, gold lace and French ribbon flowers or the Chinese silk covered box, gay with varicolored beads and Chinese tassels. Cretonne boxes are effective, and the hand-painted wood boxes of the Russian peasants show vivid bits of color that enhance the beauty of nestling chocolate bonbons to perfection.

Hand-painted tin boxes, round and long, short and tall, fat and thick, oblong and octagonal came in all color schemes and designs, and have the further advantage of keeping the enclosed sweetmeats fresh and moist. Such a box will keep them from the ravages of time, if not from the ravages of females unhampered by subservience to "Eat and grow thin."

Those tin boxes and also the more elaborate brocade covered ones are cake boxes as well. You may not be able to eat your cake and have it, but now you can eat your cake and have the box. This is decidedly worth while, for these boxes certainly are the dearest things. Oh, these are the days when a box for candy or cake costs quite as much as a box for opera or theater, my dears.

NO GOVERNOR FOR ARIZONA

LEGISLATURE SCHEDULED TO MET MONDAY, ALTHOUGH THE STATE HAS NO EXECUTIVE BECAUSE OF CONTEST BY HUNT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 6.—The condition of Arizona's politics is so chaotic today that nobody knows who will be governor when the legislature meets Monday.

No one knows whether the administration or anti-administration will dominate, as the administration is yet to be determined. No one knows anything about it, except that there is every indication of one of the liveliest sessions in the brief history of the baby state.

The governorship is at present tied up in the courts. Tom Campbell, republican, was elected by thirty votes over Governor George W. P. Hunt on the face of the returns. Hunt is contesting, and despite every effort to speed up the case, it is almost certain that the recount and the court proceedings will not be completed in time for the inauguration of the new governor.

Campbell will seek to take his seat by virtue of the certified returns. Hunt will seek to have him restrained until the contest is decided.

This unusual situation is occupying the attention of politicians to the exclusion of plans for a legislative program. Neither the present nor the de facto governor-elect have done anything toward preparing a message. The legislature is almost overwhelmingly democratic, but is almost equally divided between the Hunt and the anti-Hunt factions.

MAY KILL ALL GRASSHOPPERS

MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE OF ARGENTINE WANTS $200,000 PRIZE OFFERED TO EXTERMINATOR OF PESTS

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 10.—By mail the Minister of Agriculture Honorario Puerydon wants congress to appropriate 1,000,000 francs (about $200,000 United States money) to be given as a prize to anybody who supplies Argentina with an effective scheme for exterminating grasshoppers, or locusts, as they are locally known.

The pest here is nearly as bad as in Kansas and other Western parts of the United States for a few seasons twenty or thirty years ago. Crops this year have suffered enormously from the grasshopper's appetites.

Congress favors the appropriation, but many members think the minister has set his figure unnecessarily high. Puerydon insists on the sum he has mentioned and may get it. He refers to it in France rather than in pests, because, for some reason, he seems to think the prize's chief appeal will be to Europe.

As a matter of fact the Argentine government has had one unsatisfactory experience of the kind with an European. This was a celebrated French expert named d'Herelle, who made a contract in 1911 to wipe out the pest, and devoted three years to attempts to do it, without accomplishing much. D'Herelle's version, however, was that he would have succeeded but for the interference of the agricultural defense department of the ministry, which, he said, wanted as many grasshoppers as possible, in order to make jobs for the maximum number of departmental defenders against their activities.

Socialists Expel Him From Their Party

Bouck White, pastor of the church of the Social Revolution, one of the leading exponents of socialism in the United States, has been expelled by the party in New York city. He dared to vote in the last election for other men than socialists, and the party managers will not tolerate that. It has been said others as prominent in the movement as White will also be cast out.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

ARKENS BEAUTIFULLY AND RESTORES ITS NATURAL COLOR AND LUSTRE AT ONCE

Common garden sage brewed into a easy tea, with sulphur and alcohol tinct, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the sage tea and sulphur tincture at home, though, is troublesome. A easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 6 cents a bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so even you just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application of two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not needed for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
