Bone Dry Bill Completed

Possession Alcohol is Guarded

Act Would Carry Out Intent of Constitutional Amendment Without Introducing Objectional Features ---West Drafted Bill

Alcoholic traffic committees of the Oregon senate and house were presented yesterday with a draft of a "bone dry" bill by the union dry committee, which bore the brunt of the fight for absolute prohibition in the November campaign.

The bill was prepared by ex-Governor Oswald West, with the assistance of the committee's legislative committee, consisting of J. P. Newell, Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh and O. P. Bradley. The committee is in Salem today personally to give copies of the proposed bill to Chairman Anderson of the house committee and Chairman Eddy of the senate committee.

The "bone dry" bill, as prepared by Governor West and the Union dry committee is thoroughly comprehensive, yet simple in form and language. The most of the law is contained in the first section, which is all embracing in its prohibition on intoxicating liquor as affecting the manufacturer, individual or common carrier.

Possession Section Included
 This substitute section is identical with the section quoted above save that the clause, "and on and after January 1, 1918, it shall also be unlawful for any person to have in his possession within this state any such liquor," appears after the first sentence.

If the legislature should insert this provision in the act it would mean that those possessing stocks of liquor in their homes would have about eleven months to dispose of it.

The submitted draft provides that wholesale druggists, manufacturers, registered pharmacists and the Oregon state board of control are permitted to purchase ethyl alcohol wherever they please under certain conditions.

In turn, wholesale druggists are permitted to sell alcohol to any of these classes for medicinal, pharmaceutical, mechanical or scientific purposes.

An exception is made, however, in the case of public and charity hospitals and medical schools.

TRIBUTE TO A DOG

(NOTE)—The tribute printed here was written by P. W. Snyder, Swan Lake Valley stockman, who lost his highly valued shepherd dog when the dog was bitten by a rabid coyote a few weeks ago.—Editor.)

The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful.

Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him when perhaps he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads.

The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground when the wintry wind blows and the snow drives fierce, if only he may be near his master's side. He will lick the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in counter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains; when riches take wings, and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in his embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the grave side will be found the noble dog, his head between his outstretched paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death.

And still we have not given justice to our poor dead shepherd dog. May he rest in the happy hunting ground, where no bad wolves roam.

EDWARD SWANN

Edward Swann, district attorney of New York county, who has been accused by a judge of the court of general sessions in connection with the cases of labor men under indictment, will probably be investigated by an officer to be named by Governor Whitman. Mr. Swann was being groomed by Tammany Hall as its candidate for mayor of the city, but many politicians now believe it would be a mistake to nominate him.

The inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels of the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and refreshing effect upon the system.—Adv.

Bill is Like Tree

The bill drafted by Governor West is like a tree, its first section stating precisely the proposition of absolute prohibition and its following sections outlining the exception in order. Here is the trunk or base of the law:

"Except as hereinafter in this act provided it shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture, import, transport, receive, deliver, barter, sell or give away within this state any intoxicating liquor. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent anyone from manufacturing unfermented wine for his own use or wine for sacramental purposes or to prevent the manufacture, for sale or use, from fruit grown within this state, of non-intoxicating cider or vinegar."

The committee has not seen fit to insert a "possession" clause in this section, but a substitute draft of the section was given to the alcoholic traffic committees with such a provision so that the committees would have both of them.

Must Secure Permits

Users of alcohol in quantity are required to secure permits from the district attorney of the county in which their place of business is located, permits to be issued for one year and to be revocable without notice by the district attorney for violation of the liquor laws of the state.

These permits give the holders the right to purchase ethyl alcohol in such quantities as their needs require. Registered pharmacists are to be permitted to sell alcohol to individuals of age for medicinal purposes, it is suggested on the prescription of a licensed physician of character and standing, the prescription to show for whom and for what purpose the alcohol is prescribed.

For pharmaceutical, scientific or mechanical purposes, it is proposed that the registered pharmacist may sell to individuals on the presentation of an order issued and signed by the district attorney.

Two Quart Limit Retained

For any purpose whatsoever it shall be unlawful for a pharmacist to sell more than two quarts of ethyl alcohol to any one person during a period of four successive weeks, reads the draft.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

HOPES EVERY MAN AND WOMAN ADOPTS THIS SPLENDID MORNING HABIT

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness?

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, nervous-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we would see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the soles from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear
