

Irigoyen Would Make Army Pay for Itself

Radical President of Argentine Has Bill to Give Duties of Custom Officers to Soldiers in the Army

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 31.—One of the most revolutionary plans the new Irigoyen administration in Argentina is fostering today is a scheme which might or might not appeal to Uncle Sam, to make the national army pay for its keep.

The proposition is to use the troops as a sort of gendarmerie, especially with a view to guarding the frontiers against "contramandistas" and to the collection of government revenues, which will not only give a better service than the country has had before, but will save the salaries of the officials who have been doing such work in the past.

A bill authorizing the assignment of the military forces to this class of duties was introduced in congress before the end of the de la Plaza administration, but nobody took much interest in it, and it seemed likely to die in committee. Irigoyen's officialism counted on it immediately, however, and will urge its prompt passage.

The idea is not popular with the army or with the functionaries who are threatened with loss of their positions, but the Irigoyen economy regime has had an enthusiastic reception by the masses of taxpayers. Incidentally, it is understood to be the government's intention, as an economy measure, to make a drastic reduction in the number of conscripts called to the colors annually for military training. There is even some talk of abolishing conscription entirely. Nobody knows just how strong the movement is yet, and it is sure to be desperately fought by the element which wants a great deal more military preparation instead of less of it.

Resolutions of Respect

At the last regular meeting of Ewauna Encampment No. 46, I. O. O. F., the following resolution of respect were passed:

Whereas, The Grand Chief Patriarch has called from its wanderings through the wilderness the soul of our beloved fellow Patriarch, Andrew Kershner, the members of this Camp are deeply grieved to lose the companionship of Patriarch Kershner, yet feel that while they have accompanied him to the banks of the Jordan, and must wait for the Guide to assist them across the River, they will ever remember the sterling qualities of the departed Patriarch, and look forward to the time when they too, shall meet the Fourth Watch and join Patriarch Kershner in that bourse where at last is found ultimate rest. Therefore be it Resolved, That we, the members of Ewauna Encampment No. 46, I. O. O. F. do hereby express our heartfelt sorrow in the loss of our fellow Patriarch; that our charter be draped for thirty days in honor of his memory; that a copy of these resolutions be published in the local papers and a copy also be sent to the Pacific Odd Fellow for publication, and that they be spread upon the minutes of this Encampment.

Senate Will Not Discuss His Plan for World Peace League

President Woodrow Wilson's epoch making speech before the United States senate, in which he suggested a league of all nations to preserve peace by force, if need be, will not be considered by the senate. Senate Albert B. Cummins' resolution to set a day for general debate on the address was killed in the senate yesterday. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho has offered a resolution warning America against such entangling alliances with European powers as the president suggests.

NO CRIME PROVED BUT IS CONVICTED

TOLEDO, OHIO, HAS ORDINANCE MAKING FINE AND IMPRISONMENT PERMISSIBLE WHEN NOTHING IS PROVED

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 31.—Police and the courts of Toledo are enforcing a city ordinance that permits the fining or imprisonment a man though no specific offense is proved against him.

Clyde Arnold, 22, arrested on suspicion of taking part in a holdup, was found guilty of being a "known thief," and fined $25 and costs. Evidence on which Arnold was convicted was that he had previously been arrested five times for theft.

Police Judge Austin today defended the ordinance. Others declared it unconstitutional.

"It is not the purpose of this ordinance to persecute anyone," said the judge. "A man's mode of living must be considered. If he has no apparent means of support and lives in the underworld, and suspicion of theft points his way, even if detectives are unable to 'get the goods' on him, he should be convicted."

ROOSEVELT MUST LOOK TO LAURELS

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 31—"T. R." isn't going to have anything on North Dakota's farmer legislature. This was indicated by the recommendation of the state board of health today that the fifteenth legislative assembly pass a law giving bonuses to parents raising large families. A tremendous decrease in the size of families, as revealed by the state vital statistics, is blamed.

MACARONI

Macaroni is a thing we have always wondered about.

We know, in a general way, that it is sent out from factories in boxes, looking very naked and white; and that it comes to the table wearing cheese.

Aside from that, macaroni is as much of a mystery to us as what the man says who goes past the house yelling for old clothes.

We have always wondered about the holes in macaroni. Are they set up in rows and the macaroni wrapped around them? Or are they bored, while the young macaroni is still unable to defend itself?

Also, what is macaroni made of? There's rubber, of course. We know that. But what else? We have been letting macaroni slither down our throat off and on now for twenty-seven years; and yet if some stern-faced scientist should suddenly stop us in the middle of a four-inch piece and ask us if we know what we were swallowing, we could only answer "Macaroni."

This is wrong. How long must the world go on without knowing more about its macaroni?

Dry Lumber Quickly

A rapid method of kiln-drying eastern hemlock has been developed at the forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., whereby shiplap can be dried green from the saw to shipping weight in forty-eight hours. By this method two-inch plank can be dried to shipping weight in six to eight days.

Most Water From Forests

It is estimated that four-fifths of the water available for irrigation and domestic use in the state of Oregon comes from the timber clad slopes of the national forests. The average acre of national forest land in the state sends to the streams sixteen times as much water as does the average acre of land outside the forest boundaries.

Physical Preparedness—Eating

It is not so much what you eat, as how and when you eat. Food slowly and thoroughly chewed and taken at regular intervals, will agree with your stomach. Have your bolus of food in a fine pulp before you swallow, and eat regularly, if it be two, three or four times a day. In the words of the old adage, "Eat to live," not live to see how much and what you can eat.

The food we put into our bodies, three times a day, serves much the same function as the coal or oil does that is put into an engine. It furnishes the energy for all movements of the body and its parts, and furnishes the heat to keep the body warm, as well as supplies for growth and repair. The energy value of foods is measured in a unit, called a calorie. One calorie of heat energy would warm about two quarts of water one degree. The ordinary person needs about 2,500 calories a day.

We all eat too much, especially of meat. We only need about 800 calories of heat energy at a meal. This amount we can soon obtain, for each of the following have 100 calories of energy: One loaf or lump and a half of sugar, small lamb chop, one egg, slice of white bread, an ordinary piece of butter.

Variety of food, however, is as important as the amount. Meat and eggs and the proteids in peas, beans and cheese should constitute 15 per cent only, and the other 85 per cent should be in vegetables, fats, cream, butter, starch and sugar. Raw fruit and vegetables are important for their mineral salts and a curious substance called vitamins, which is destroyed by cooking.

A homely rule for a well balanced diet would be to spend as much for milk, vegetables and fruit as for meat, fish and eggs; and as much for milk and eggs as for meat and fish. American people are intemperate in the eating of meat.

Proper eating, then, is next to proper breathing, as measures for preparedness. If you want peace with your stomach, your liver, your kidneys, with rheumatism and other ailments, believe in physical preparedness. Avoid eating things that have previously disagreed with you. Avoid overeating and overweight. Sparingly of meats and eggs, especially if you are over 40 years of age. Eat some hard, some bulky, some raw food each day, and lastly, eat slowly, regularly and happily.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

WHEN MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT BRINGS BACK ITS BEAUTIFUL LUSTRE AT ONCE

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
