gerous conditions where fires are liable to start. Two city ordinances have been introduced in the council which give the chief and the council power to have removed such dangerous conditions.

Here are the "don'ts" and "do's":
Be careful, be clean and you will have no fires.

Never use oil to help start a fire. Many persons are burned to death just this way each year.

See that all stoves, ranges, stove pipes and flues are in good repair and tight, and that any woodwork near them is properly protected.

Never overheat a stove, range or

Germans Sink Their Greatest Prize of Sub Warfare

German submarines sank their greatest prize in the ruthless warfare on the sea, when, on Tuesday, February 13th, they sent to the bottom the 12,000 ton Afric of the White Star line, the greatest freight carrier afloat. Once in the passenger service between America and England, she had been recently in the service of the British government between Liverpool and South Africa. The Afric was built in Belfast, eighteen years ago. She was 350 feet long, with a beam of 63 feet.

AUDIENCES GROW FOR MEETINGS

"GOD'S CHALLENGE TO UNBELIEF" IN SUBJECT ANNOUNCED FOR LECTURE TONIGHT AT GOSPEL HALL

The growing attendance at the Purdow-Tupper evangelistic series testifies to the interest that prevails concerning the great world conflict, and its termination in the downfall of the Turk.

Last night it was shown from the Bible, quoting Rev. 16:12-16, that Armageddon follows the drying up of the waters of the great River Euphrates.

Rev. 17:15 shows waters symbolizing peoples, multitudes and nations and tongues, indicating the nation that now occupies the territory drained by the Euphrates.

"The kings of the East" are Japan, China and India, who, with the nations now involved, will bring the whole world to Armageddon," said Evangelist Purdow.

"God's Challenge to Unbelief" was announced as the subject for tonight, or "Will England, Germany or Russia be the Next World Power?"

PARTY SPEAKER LECTURES SUNDAY

VICTOR J. McCONE, PROMINENT SOCIALIST AND EDITOR, TO LECTURE IN I. O. O. F. HALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The socialists of Klamath Falls have arranged a lecture, to be held in I. O. O. F. Hall February 25, at 3 o'clock p. m.

They have obtained as speaker Mr. Victor J. McCone, state secretary-treasurer of the Oregon socialist party and editor of the Oregon Herald, the official socialist paper of Oregon.

Mr. McCone is a newcomer to the West from Boston, Mass., and has already made his mark in public life in Oregon. He led the recent agitation in Portland for a reduction in the high cost of living, opposing boycotting of the products of the farmers, and advocating instead the socialization of all food producing, distributing and storing agencies.

He led a delegation of housewives and working people before the mayor and city council of Portland, and urged upon the city government the need of action to reduce the high cost of food and other necessities. As a result of the agitation led by Mr. McCone a noticeable reduction in the prices of certain staple food stuffs was noted in the Portland markets.

Mr. McCone is known as a very able and convincing speaker. He is on tour of Oregon and California in the interest of the socialist party, which will raise $50,000 this year for the purpose of pushing its organization.

Moving Pictures

Another Douglas Fairbanks picture—the best yet. Its name is "The Halfbreed," and is adapted from Bret Hart's famous story, "In the Carquines Woods," dealing with 1790 and incidents of the early days of California. Lo Dorman, the central figure of the play, is the son of a white father and an Indian mother. The latter killed herself soon after her desertion by the white man, and Lo, the halfbreed, was raised by a kindly old man who lived alone in a little cabin on the edge of the great CaCrquines woods. One day death claims the halfbreed's protector, and just as he is emerging from boyhood into manhood, Lo is left to do battle alone with the world. At the Star tonight.
